THE WHOLE HEART:—Blessed are they that keep his testimonies, and that seek him with the whole heart.—Psalms 119:2.

ONLY A DELUSION

The Portland Journal had a fit Tuesday over the fact that Mr. Tooze has the inspiration to suggest the return of the convention form of political control in Oregon.

LOGANBERRY PIE

We found it fresh in Oregon. Not long since we came from Kansas. No fresh loganberry pie back there. No sir. Lots of other kinds of good pie there, but no loganberry.

But, they don't have fresh loganberries for pie. To our way of thinking, one of the finest advertisements which could be prepared would be to have it telling of loganberries, for pie, appealing to the pie-eaters, the devotees to pie, the faithful to pie for desert.

The loss of $1,300,000 to the United States government is the incentive driving Grover Bergdoll back to America, to serve a prison sentence for being a slacker, rather than any love for homeland.

The difference between exercise and work is that exercise costs something.—Illinois State Journal.

At any rate, the old-fashioned square dance didn't cause so much talk about the eternal triangle.—Baltimore Sun.

Once upon a time there was a pipe organ player in a motion picture theatre who finished a piece he started.—Worcester Telegram.

Another explanation is that the people's representatives have no definite instructions, while the lobbyists have.—Duluth Herald.

Perhaps the candidate who is willing to spend all the salary to be elected to office does want to serve the dear people.—Springfield News

Gasoline at 10 cents a gallon can hardly spell prosperity for the oil man, but it ought to make the tire industry boom.—Detroit Free Press

A physician says that overeating kills more people than liquor. But not eating is more often fatal than not boozing.—Arkansas Gazette.

It is only a question of time anyway, and a certain feeling of quiet and carefree contentment attaches to owning an automobile with all four fenders already thoroughly bunged up.—Ohio State Journal.

We are becoming saner every year, and greatness no longer consists in a signature nobody can read.—Hartford Times.

SOCIETY

MRS. GRACE E. ANDREWS, Editor.

Home items to her at 345-R, between 10 A. M., and 2 P. M., and evenings.

Calendar—

Friday, Oct. 19—D. A. R. Mrs. Van Sant's, Oak Street, 2:30 P. M. Friday, Oct. 19—Social, Methodist Church, Friday night. Friday, Oct. 19—P. T. A. Bellview, Friday evening at school house.

Supper Party for Mrs. Carter—

Neighbors and old friends planned a delightful surprise on Mrs. Mary Carter at her home on B street. The occasion was the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Carter and proved to be one of the happiest of her experience.

Those who came to wish her many happy returns and to spend the evening in neighborly visit and to review the happy days in which they have known each other were the little Miss Betty Kearney, the Mesdames D. Hicks, Pearl Kearney, M. Sackett, E. Hicks, M. Brannan, A. Smith, a sister of Mrs. Carter who is visiting here from Hornbrook, and Mrs. George Sheldon who baked the birthday cake.

Lovely refreshments were served by those who planned the happy affair and all present felt that the evening was one to linger long in their memories.

The pleasant home of Mrs. L. J. Heer, on High street was the scene of a charming three course dinner with the guest of honor Mrs. Levi Stephens who leaves the first of November for Klamath Falls.

The dinner was a complete surprise, the complimented guest being brought unsuspectingly to Mrs. Heer's home before discovering what had been planned.

The invited guests were Miss Elsie Crowson, Mrs. Marie Sugg, Mr. and Mrs. Diner for Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Shamp, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wright, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. Taylor, Miss Pearl Crowson, Miss Stella Hays, Mrs. McCurry and Miss Dorothy Lamson who shared with the honor guest and the hostess and Miss Thelma Heer and Mr. Leslie Heer the enjoyment of the occasion.

Mrs. Carter Entertains Ladies Aid—

Mrs. H. B. Carter was hostess for the Congregational Ladies Aid Society which met last week at her pleasant home on Mountain Avenue. With the work in hand which was sewing and quilting there was the social feature too. While busy fingers flew, the minutes sped in cheery visit and in planning for the work of the society.

This was an all day meeting, and a covered dish luncheon was a particularly pleasing feature of the occasion. A covered dish luncheon is a very happy way to take care of the refreshment question when time can not be spared to prepare the elaborate dinner, or luncheon and it likewise shares the hospitality with a number of others.

Mrs. W. J. Oldfield assisted the hostess Mrs. Carter in serving.

Civic Club Tuesday—

Another of the splendid programs that occur every two weeks at the Civic Club meetings was given on Tuesday of this week.

The business session was made as brief as possible that more time be allowed for the treat in store.

Other than the address in which the interest of the audience centered, the Club was delighted in listening to two beautiful piano solos exquisitely rendered by a friend of Mrs. L. M. Wright, Mrs. W. C. Holmes of Great Falls, Montana, who is a guest in her home.

George F. Barron, whose playing is rather remarkable favored those there with two saxophone solos with Mrs. Robertson at the piano.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. George W. McMath the only woman member of the Board of Vocational Education.

Her subject was "Vocational Education and Guidance" and she most certainly knew her subject and made it very clear to those gathered to listen to this important theme.

Mrs. McMath inspected the Practice House here and could not speak too highly in its praise and the work being accomplished. One remark made in speaking of the fact that we have just an ordinary residence rather than an "up to the minute" building was, that in view that many go into just the ordinary homes rather than the most strictly modern ones, and planning in this house, fitted them to plan in others similar.

The address was remarkable in its clarity of thought and charming manner of delivery.

The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Louis Dodge, Mrs. Gordon McCracken and Mrs. A. D. Jillson.

Social Circle Meets—

The Social Circle met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. V. Wright on Mountain Avenue in business session. One of the matters taken up was the appointment of a nominating committee to name the new officers for the ensuing year.

While not strictly a social meeting, the social feature was not absent for the hostess served dainty refreshments. She was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Walter Engberg.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Frank Crowson on Eighth Street.

Supper Saturday Night—

The B. Y. P. U. and the Christian Endeavor Societies had a supper at the Presbyterian church Saturday evening at which there were a goodly number present to enjoy the social feature of the occasion and hear the speakers that were guests of honor for the evening.

After the delightful supper, to which all did full justice the young folks had a real "sing" and were in the spirit to enjoy and take home the message that was given by the speakers Dr. Van Nuy and Dr. Milliken. Both brought a challenge for Christian service and entire dedication of the young lives to Christian living.

Dr. Milliken met the young people at the Baptist church on Sunday evening and delivered a wonderful message. Dr. Van Nuy occupied the pulpit Sunday morning, and in the afternoon met Sunday school workers in conference at the Presbyterian church.

P. T. A. Meets—

The P. T. Circle of Junior High had a large attendance and a very interesting meeting at Junior High building on Tuesday afternoon.

The most important matter under discussion was the coming state convention to be held next week in Medford and Ashland. The afternoon of Thursday, and the evening session will be in Ashland. Ashland will also serve dinner for the two hundred and forty delegates expected.

Committees were appointed from this circle to assist in arrangements for the New England dinner to be served the delegates.

Delegates were named for the convention: Mrs. A. N. Humphrey, with Mrs. A. E. Woods as alternate, Mrs. K. P. Nims, with Mrs. Myers as alternate, Mrs. L. C. Bateman with Mrs. Wallin, alternate.

The program was of especial interest and much appreciated by those privileged to hear it.

Miss Berna Haight's piano solos were particularly fine and rendered in her pleasing manner.

Mrs. Henry of Junior High, sang most delightfully and kindly responded to encore.

The reading by Mrs. Max GeBauer of President Roosevelt's address to "The First International Congress of Mothers" was well received and of particular interest at this time.

During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. K. P. Nims, with Mrs. Myers and Miss Wetherford, Domestic Science teacher at Junior High.

Hawthorne Circle meets next Tuesday at that building and will also be a meeting of considerable importance.

P. T. A. at Bellview—

The P. T. A. of Bellview will meet on Friday evening of this week with an excellent program in preparation. The principal address of the evening will be given by Miss Blanche Hicks on Better Films, a subject that will interest every parent.

The social feature is not lacking and every one who attends these meetings always has a mighty good time as well as hearing a program that is always worth while.

Every member is urged to be present and all interested are very welcome.

SERIOUS BLADDER TROUBLE

"Could not stand nor sit and was forced to cry out from intense pain," writes Henry Williams, Tarkio, Montana. "The doctors said I had inflammation of the bladder and an operation was necessary. Tried Foley Kidney Pills and improved at once. Tell all my friends about Foley Kidney Pills as it will save many from suffering and perhaps as in my case, a dangerous operation." Bladder and kidney trouble demand prompt treatment. Sold Everywhere.

Farm Reminders

Tree Wounds Need Trimming Old wounds of European canker on pear and apple trees should be trimmed back beyond any sign of infection in the cambium in the case of thick bark varieties like Anjou, according to Dr. S. M. Zeller, associate plant pathologist of the Oregon experiment station. On the thinner bark varieties such as Surprise, Basc and Howell, where the cankers may run superficially, scarification of the bark down to the brown streak in the pulpy portion allows drying out so that the additional use of bordeaux paste in winter effect eradication of the fungus. Old wounds treated last year with bordeaux mixture that are found to be washed clean of the application should be treated with a permanent coat made by mixing bordeaux dust with raw linseed oil. This mixture does not injure the edges of the cambium after callousing has started.

Insect pests that harbor over winter along the fence rows and among the weeds on the ditch banks may be destroyed by burning all of this abnoxious growth, according to A. L. Lovett, entomologist of the Oregon experiment station. Many injurious insects survive the winter in fence corners, along weedy ditch banks, and in piles of debris ready to attack crops in the spring.

Where leaf anthracnose, bud blight, and cane die back have been troublesome in loganberry plantings, a thorough spray of bordeaux mixture may afford a certain degree of protection against winter infections according to H. P. Barss, plant pathologist of the Oregon experiment station. The canes should be sprayed from tip to base.
