MANS BIRTHRIGHT:—Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet.—Psalms 8:6

THE AIRPLANE IN PEACE

Air science received its greatest forward impulse because of a capacity for destruction. During four years of its infancy the world was engaged in hostilities in which its adaptability to purpose of war was immediately and strikingly apparent.

While these services still interest themselves in the perfection of aircraft, there are signs that the constructive capacities of planes are rapidly becoming apparent, and that the impetus for further development of the science will be furnished not alone by fighting forces but by civilians in pursuit of peace.

Postal service planes carrying mail from coast to coast on regular schedule in little more than a day. Passenger services in various parts of the country. Experimental trans-oceanic flights in contemplation. Timber patrol work in Oregon and California, expected to save thousands of acres of valuable woodland from destruction by fire.

Coast guard air patrols. Geodetic Survey experiments in remapping sections of the coastline by air photography. Scientific studies of fishery from the air by observers and cameramen of the Smithsonian Institute. Work of the Bureau of Entomology in collaboration with the army air service in scattering insecticide over valuable lands in Ohio and other localities, and the use of dirigibles in the same work in New England orchards.

Reared under the unhappy auspices of war it is encouraging to know that the plane's capacity for constructive labor is being exploited rapidly, and that its development tomorrow depends no more on its utility in war than on its value as a unique instrument toward the greater safety and prosperity of mankind in peace.

ONLY JUSTICE CAN BRING PEACE

The woodshed is not merely the chamber of punishment, it is the place where conviction of wrongdoing is born. The man who whips his child is aiming wholly at correction of which punishment is a means—or is considered so. It is a highly important thing that the child be convinced of the justice of the punishment, that he realizes he has been wrong and now has learned a lesson, else he becomes sullen, resentful and unmanageable.

Precisely the same thing is true of nations. The reflection is worth considering when so many peoples seem to be sore about something and so many punishments are being planned or executed to teach lessons to alleged offenders.

World peace depends finally, not on the power to punish offenders but on the capacity to convict misdoers of the dangers of their evil ways. It means that all peoples must be, if not content, at least pacified. It means that there must be no unbridled punishments in the woodshed which leave the victims resentful, sullen and potentially unmanageable.

There is no thing visionary about this, for it is common sense of the most elementary character. Is not the great problem today how to make nations forget their grouches and "keep still" long enough for the factory wheels to spin and the crops to be harvested? Are not all those grouches born in discontent over a licking or an attempted licking, the justice for which never has been impressively demonstrated?

That is the history of all periodic wars. It contains a very simple lesson, and the fact that many European states ignore it neither weakens nor eliminates it. It is one of these incorruptible facts which remain to mock men who believe that human nature is made of Indian rubber and that states can be bounded by walled forts.

The attorney for a condemned Western murderer secured an injunction preventing the hanging, alleging that irreparable injury would be done if the sentence was carried out. It surely would have played hab with his client.—Kansas City Journal

SOCIETY—1 Calendar for the Week— Thursday, Oct. 25—P. T. A., afternoon and evening at Club House.

Friday, Oct. 26—Social, Reese Creek, 7:30 P. M. Saturday, Oct. 27—G. A. R. at Armory.

Nov. 3—Civic Club Card Party.

Mrs. Edmund Dews Entertains— Saturday evening Mrs. Edmund Dews was charming hostess at a delightful card party given at the home of her mother Mrs. J. H. Turner, on the Boulevard.

The rooms were beautiful in tones of yellow, carried out in the most characteristic of Hallowe'en decorations and gay marigolds added their beauty to the scene.

Four tables of Five Hundred were played and the evening passed all too quickly in thorough enjoyment, till, at a late hour the hostess served the most delicious and satisfying refreshments to the guests as they were seated at the small tables.

The high score was awarded Mrs. Elwood Hedberg and the consolation to Mrs. O. A. Paulserud.

The guest list included the Mesdames O. A. Paulserud, Howard Barrett, Hal McNair, H. K. Tomlinson, Newton Harrison, V. V. Mills, F. G. Swedberg, Louis Dodge, J. F. Finneran, Elwood Hedberg, Shortridge, Wm. M. Briggs, Elbert Farlow, F. C. Dillard, R. L. Burdick, Erickson, John Enders, Domino Provost, Mrs. Pinte, a guest at the home of her mother, Mrs. Sorenson and Miss Helen Dickeson.

Entertainment at Reese Creek— All the young folks will be interested to know that there will be a Box Social at the Reese Creek schoolhouse this coming Friday night.

Mr. Frederick Johnson, the teacher at the school states that an excellent program is prepared by way of entertainment and every one is cordially invited to come, bring a box and enjoy the good time with the school and its patrons.

Missionary Society Meets— The Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church met last Wednesday in the Junior room at two-thirty P. M.

Mrs. C. B. Lamkin, as president, conducted the business session. One of the important matters planned was a "Thanksgiving Praise Service" in charge of the Christian Endeavor, the Westminster Guild and the Missionary Society.

Mrs. McCoy led the Quiet Hour and Miss Niver had the program in charge.

The study for the day was Alaska and all the numbers given were on line with that thought.

The work of the church there, the music, and an account of President Harding's visit to the little Mission church were among the things that were given at this meeting.

President Harding met Dr. Condit and S. Hall Young and with them inspected the Sheldon Jackson school. On Sunday, the President and his party attended the little Mission church the services of which were conducted by the native pastor who by a strange coincidence read the same passage of scripture, Micah 6th chapter, that was read at President Harding's funeral.

The pastor conducted the usual services, making no changes, and President Harding and his party joined heartily in them.

The next meeting is the third Wednesday in November.

Family Reunion— The visit of Mr. and Mrs. Leland P. Reeder and Miss Highland Reeder was the occasion of a number of family gatherings, the last at Mrs. H. W. Andrews on Church street.

They were guests of the D. W. Wheeler family, Miss Marie Andrews, the Aaron Andrews family both at the ranch and at the town house in Ashland. During the short visit many familiar spots were visited and many calls made on old friends.

It had been planned to have a family reunion and picnic dinner in the park Sunday afternoon prior to the departure for Beverly Hills on Monday but the weather man ordered otherwise.

The out-door affair became an indoor one at the home of Mrs. H. W. Andrews, on Church street.

Here were gathered the members of the D. W. Wheeler family, the Aaron Andrews family, to which were added Mr. George Andrews and his son Leonard, and Mr. Alan K. Andrews of Ogden, Utah, recently arrived, the W. J. Dougherty family, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harrison. Mr. Gillber, a guest in the A. Andrews home was also present.

After the entirely satisfying repast, the afternoon was wholly given over to the reminiscent visit that is the joy of these gatherings of relatives and friends. Music, of unusual order by the gifted Misses Dougherty and Mrs. Harrison added much to the pleasure of the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Reeder, Miss Reeder and Miss Edna Dougherty returned to Medford with the Wheelers' for Sunday evening, the Reeders leaving early Monday morning, for their California home.

Social Circle Met Wednesday— The Social Circle of the Christian church held its business meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Crowson on Eighth street, Wednesday of this week.

While purely a business meeting those who attend have very pleasant times and the social element is not lacking even when there is no special preparation made for entertainment.

Art Club Meets— The Art Club held its regular meeting at the Civic Club house on Monday evening of this week, with Mrs. Ruger and Mrs. Kinz as hostesses.

The evening was spent most delightfully in cards for those that wished to play and many brought their fancy work.

The decorations were appropriate to the coming Hallowe'en time and beautiful flowers in the colors of the general scheme (yellow) were artistically arranged.

A number of new members were added, and if interest continues the membership will reach fifty before long.

There were twenty-three present to enjoy the evening at the close of which the most delicious refreshments were served by the gracious hostesses.

Who Dos Meet— The Who Do class of the M. E. Sunday School met as announced at the home of Mrs. Thompson on Terrace street, Tuesday afternoon of this week.

After the business meeting, the ladies present spent the time in tying quilts and while fingers were busily engaged, the class enjoyed a delightful visit and the social feature suffered in no way because hands were busy.

There were perhaps twenty there, for this interesting meeting, at the close of which delightful refreshments were served by the hostess.

Interest is indicated by the fact that a number of new members were added to the class roster.

Alpha Embroidery Club Meet— The Alpha Embroidery Club met at the Masonic Hall, Tuesday afternoon of this week.

Owing to a combination of circumstances there were but few of the members present, but for those that were in attendance, the afternoon was a very pleasant one, and spent in the usual way. The next meeting occurs in two weeks.

W. R. C. Meet— The W. R. C. held their regular meeting Saturday afternoon. The usual routine of business was taken up but there was nothing of special importance transacted. The next meeting will be in two weeks.

On Monday of last week they held their Club meeting at Mrs. Geo. Carey's at which there was a goodly number present and at which those who were there had a very delightful time.

Dinner Guests at the Fraley's— On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Fraley were host and hostess to a number of guests at a most delightful dinner.

Those who enjoyed this gracious hospitality were Mrs. Bellinger, Mr. and Mrs. Fisk and two children and Miss Bertha MacPherson, who returned to Los Angeles, Wednesday.

W. C. T. U. Meet— The W. C. T. U. met Tuesday afternoon at the Library and had a most interesting meeting. A great deal of business was disposed of and many plans made for future work. There was a good attendance considering all the other calls upon the time of the members.

Banquet a Success— The banquet given Saturday night at the High School was a very successful affair.

Prof. Forsythe acted as toastmaster and those who responded to toasts did so in very pertinent phrase.

The trend of most of the speeches emphasized the friendly spirit that existed and should exist between the schools and the proper school spirit. The speeches were enthusiastically applauded.

The three course luncheon proved a most satisfying repast prepared and served by skillful hands.

The decorations were particularly appropriate and added the cheerful note of color needed.

Hawthorne Circle Meets— The Hawthorne Circle had a most interesting meeting on Tuesday afternoon at three P. M. at the Hawthorne Library.

The address by Miss Hicks on "Better Films" was particularly well received and the class songs from Miss William's room were very well sung and especially well chosen. Mrs. Fred Neil delighted the listeners in the songs she so graciously sang.

There was a very large attendance and closest attention was given the well planned program.
