High School Paper to Appear—

The second edition of the Rogue News will be on the press soon and ready for distribution. The paper is a newsy four page sheet and brimful of current happenings around the high school. Circulation figures mount over the three hundred mark and the paper is self-sustaining.

Beaver Reports Sales—

A. M. Beaver reports the sale of house and lot recently belonging to H. J. Sarter at 231 Van Ness avenue to Geo. G. Ogg, who plans to use a lot purchased as a wood yard. The Beaver Realty Co. was also a party in a deal made yesterday whereby a lot facing the high school on Emerick avenue was transferred from the company to Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Frisbee. The new owners plan to erect a modern home on the lot and will start building operations at once.

Easterners Interested in Shale—Mr. and Mrs. George Blumenauer

have returned from a business trip to Saline, Michigan, where they interested scores of people in the shale oil development. During their two weeks in the East in which they exhibited tests of the shale oil, people invested strongly in favor of the company here and declared that if people could live on the coast, they too would be able to make a livelihood here. Ashland was unheard of to many people in the middle west and east, but a far reaching influence will be felt as the result of their journey.

Astoria—Improvement work at Bradley Park being rushed.

Oregon City—Carver Canning Co. increases capital stock to $100,000 and changes name to Clackamas County Canning Co. Will enlarge plant.

Head River—Butler Banking Co. to erect new building.
