EX-SERVICE MAN MADE HAPPY ON

PENDLETON, Or., Nov. 13 .-Yesterday was a good Armistice day for Harry Hendrickson, ex-service man, because he was able to free himself of the suspicion of having committed a crime which circumstantial evidence had led the officers of Klamath and Umatilla counties to believe he might have committed.

On September 29 a man was killed during a holdup and robbery in Klamath county. The only clew the officers could get as to the identity of the holdup man was an army slicker. Through the war department at Washington it was established that the slicker bearing the number of the one found near the crime had been issued to Harry Hendrickson. He was traced to Umatilla county.

On Sunday night Sheriff Low of Klamath county and Sheriff Houser of Umatilla county found Hendrickson's brother John and then Harry Hendrickson. He immediately identified the slicker as having been his, but declared that he had pawned the garment in Portland. He had been working constantly on a Umatilla county ranch since September 19, and he was freed of all complicity in silver cup, ask Chamber of Comerce. the Klamath county crime.
