Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture. BERNARR MACFADDEN

Volumes have been written upon the value of breathing exercises. Many exaggerated statements have been made as to what can be accomplished through deep breathing. Nevertheless, it must be definitely understood that full deep breaths, which expand the lungs to their fullest capacity, and are taken at frequent intervals, are of great value.

Almost any vigorous exercise will enforce deep breathing, and there is no question as to the benefit of the involuntary or spontaneous inhalation and exhalation thus induced. Running and wrestling are types of very vigorous athletic exercises that will compel one to breathe deeply and fully and will insure a full lung development without special breathing exercises.

It is not at all necessary to go through a complicated system in order to learn proper methods of breathing, since this is comparatively simple if you are willing to make persistent efforts day after day until you are fitfully rewarded. If you simply acquire the habit of drawing in a deep full breath, at frequent intervals during the day, expanding first in the abdominal region, you will soon be able to breathe properly.

Joseph C. Lincoln Collector of Antiques Is Also Curator of Laughs and Sighs

By ROY A. GILES

The ancient alchemist spent weary years trying to transmute the baser metals into gold. Although he was perhaps unpractical, one must admit that he owned a true sense of values.

Someone has called Joseph C. Lincoln the "Alchemist of Humor" not wit or slap stick comedy—but that rarer, higher thing—Humor and we like to think that his is a true sense of values.

Lincoln would be the despair of the psychoanalysts. Not a sex to fish and tell fish stories. What grisly complex does this indicate? He has been known to preside at a clam bake. Perhaps at some time he has been insulted by a clam and is actuated by revenge. For luck he collects and lightly swears by little Chinese josses in bronze.

It is bromidic and not quite true to say that laughter is akin to tears. They are the opposite ends of the emotional scale. The chuckle is in between and sees both ends. Lincoln makes us chuckle. He himself chuckles. His humor sees the weak spots in humankind and greets them with sympathy as well as amusement.

CONTRACT IS LET FOR HIGHWAY JOB

Hornbrook Unit to Have Surface of Crushed Rock in 150 Days.

YREKA, Dec. 1.—A contract has just been awarded to Dunn & Baker of Klamath Falls for the construction of 10 miles of road between a point two miles south of Hornbrook to the Oregon state line. This is according to an announcement made by the state highway commission. The work to be done under the contract is said to be part of the highway commission's program to improve all of the unimproved sections of the highway between Redding and Oregon, as announced by Chairman Harvey M. Toy several weeks ago.

The contract price is for $205,000, and provides grading and surfacing with crushed rock. The engineer's estimate of the cost of the work totaled $226,113. Completion of the job is called for in 150 days. It is understood that the successful bidders will place machinery and a force of men on the job next week.

PRISON PROBE ASSURED BY GOVERNOR PIERCE

SALEM, Dec. 1.—Following the pardoning of Marvin Bailey inmate of the Oregon state penitentiary, here last night, Governor Pierce announced that he had sought the assistance of Dr. G. C. Bellinger, superintendent of the state tuberculosis hospital, and would make a thorough inspection of the prison with a view to determining the origin of a number of tubercular cases which have developed there during the past two of three years.

Bailey was said to be suffering from tuberculosis and for several months had been in the prison hospital. Until recently he was associate editor of "Lend a Hand," the penitentiary publication. It was because of his physical condition that Governor Pierce issued the pardon. Bailey was under ten years' sentence for robbery and was received at the prison October 25, 1922. He was formerly a resident of Multnomah county.

SUCCESS TEST LIES IN ONE'S ABILITY TO SAVE

By S. W. STRAUS President American Society for Thrift.

IT WOULD be possible to interrogate each man of outstanding business success in this country today as to the chief reason for his success, his answer would undoubtedly be some such statement as the following: "I owe my success fundamentally to my ability to save money."

It requires more ability to save money than it does to earn it.

The entire educational or mental equipment of most men has been built up with the objective of acquiring wealth. Learn to earn. This is the admonition that has been drilled into them from the earliest period of understanding. But in the matter of saving, the average person today has the educational background. Furthermore, the temptations to indulge in extravagant ways are both subtle and deceptive. It is always easy to run into debt, to contract obligations that seem well advised but which can be avoided in the interests of economy, to fritter away money for absolutely useless purposes, to trust to luck, to hazard funds without full knowledge of the circumstances involved.

That is why it is so much harder to save than to earn, and why in the race for success the winners in the long run always prove to be men who can enforce economy on themselves and on those under their guidance.

This is perhaps the most useful and practical lesson one can learn today. But it is not an easy one by any means. In personal affairs it often means the gravest self-denial; in business administration it means discipline, resourcefulness, courage, and a genius for firm decisions.

Follow the rule that success depends on your ability to save. You will soon taste of the fruits of its wisdom.

OKLAHOMA HOLDS WALTON WAS WRONG

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 3.—Edson R. Waite, secretary of the Shawnee, Oklahoma, Board of Commerce, who is in Sacramento to-day, declares that the Ku Klux Klan issue was raised by Governor J. C. Walton, who was removed from office, to cloud more important issues over which Oklahomans had become incensed at the chief executive.

Waite was sent out by his organization to tell of the conditions in the state and to give assurances that the situation is rapidly being cleared up.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 3.—President Obregon, who is ill at Celaya, has suffered a relapse and his condition is said to be grave. He has been in ill health for months, but was recently reported recovering.

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture. BERNARR MACFADDEN

A practical working knowledge of how to keep well is the best form of life insurance one can possess. It is more than that; it is the best form of health insurance that one can purchase. To understand the laws of health is to have taken a long step toward knowing how to keep healthy.

Hygiene, that single word that covers a multitude of health laws, is a subject that will well repay the health seeker for the time he devotes to the study of it. Let us review some of the most important of those rules of hygiene upon which health in a great measure depends.

Air—Few persons realize that pure air is a food just as much as bread, meat, fruit and vegetables, yet such is the fact. Indeed, it is the most essential and important of food elements, for, while the human body can healthily subsist for several weeks without food, it cannot live if deprived of air for even a few minutes.

There are those who claim that oxygen is more than a food. One writer affirms that the chemical action of the oxygen as it is absorbed by the blood furnishes the actual power that circulates the blood, and that the universally accepted theory to the effect that the heart furnishes the power to circulate the blood is erroneous.
