WAGES HERE AND ABROAD

THE American factory worker is receiving wages the purchasing power of which is above the wages paid in any other country of the world. The British Ministry of Labor has made a computation of the amount of food which the wages of workers in different cities of the world will purchase. In the following table the purchasing power of wages in London is taken as 100, and the purchasing power of wages in other cities is shown as percentages of this figure. The table indicates that the worker in New York can buy more than twice as much food with his wages than can the worker in London, while the worker in Berlin or Vienna can buy only a little more than half as much with his daily wage as the worker in London, or only one-fourth as much as the worker in New York:

Table with 2 columns: City, Percentage. Includes New York (217), Ottawa (180), Amsterdam (103), London (100), Christiania (87), Stockholm (85), Warsaw (85), Brussels (70), Paris (68), Prague (67), Madrid (61), Berlin (57), Vienna (55).

An important factor in the differences between the rewards of workers is that the productivity of the American worker has been greatly increased through the use of large investments of capital for machinery. —Journal of the American Bankers Association.

New Lamp Burns 94 Percent Air

BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, V. M. Johnson, 161 North Union Ave., Portland, Oregon, is offering to send a lamp on 10 day's FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Wednesday Club—The meeting of the Wednesday Club on December the 12th, in the parlors of the Presbyterian church promises to be a meeting of considerable interest.

Just now when the air is full of holiday happiness and every one is hospitably inclined, the plans for Wednesday are particularly pertinent. As has been announced before, Mrs. Ellis graciously consented to repeat "Denison Day" for the benefit of those who were not permitted to attend at the last meeting. Some, too, wish to enlarge the scope of their activities along the line of the manufacture of the daintily artistic favors, and place cards that proved so fascinating at the last meeting.

Everyone interested is cordially invited to attend. The social feature is not neglected at these special meetings any more than at the regular social functions.

Bazaar Very Successful—The Bazaar held by the P. E. O. Sisterhood Thursday was a very successful affair, netting a substantial sum for the local philanthropic work for which it was given.

In spite of the inclement weather, there was a good attendance and the beautiful display of lovely articles, suitable for Christmas gifts found eager buyers. The Chapter feel, that since this was so successful, that they will continue the food sales after Christmas, perhaps weekly.

As is well known the chief purpose of this organization is to assist young women in obtaining an education, who otherwise would be unable to do so, but local philanthropic work has a part in its plans, and the Bazaar just held is for this purpose.

Chapter AC of P. E. O. meets twice a month the first Tuesday evening and the fourth Saturday afternoon of each month. On Tuesday evening Dec. 11, is the next meeting.

Ashland Study Club Meet—The Ashland Study Club will meet at the home of Mrs. J. P. Dodge Monday December 10th, at the usual hour. "Current Events" has a place on each program. Birds, flowers and trees of Oregon are made a part of the systematic study of the Club this year. Wells' "Outlines of History" occupies the major part of the study period. This year's program is proving particularly interesting to the membership.

Those on the program Monday are Mrs. H. C. Galay, who discusses "Trees-The Oak" and Mrs. Louis Dodge, gives a resume of Chapter 30 of Wells' "Outlines."

Junior C. E. Party—Tuesday evening of this week at 4:30 P. M. there was a most delightful gathering in the Junior room of the Presbyterian church, when the Junior C. E.'s held their business meeting and social.

At the business meeting, the young people had a great deal to attend to, regarding their Christmas activities, particularly. It might be of interest to mention some of the things these small people have done. A quilt has been pieced and finished and sent to "Haines House" in Alaska for the wee babies there. A Christmas box has been sent to N. C. to the school to which supplies are sent from the church. Eleven pounds of pictures are on their way to Siam to make happy some little Siamese children. In addition they broke their "idol" and discovered $5.23 to add to the missionary fund.

They plan a "yard of pennies" for the next way of collecting their missionary offering. Christmas games and delicious refreshments rounded out the afternoon.

Guest for Thanksgiving—Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Allen and baby daughter of Dunsmuir were guests for the Thanksgiving holiday time and were complimented guests at a very delightful Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bloomfield. Mrs. Allen is a sister of Mrs. Bloomfield, Mr. and Mrs. Allen have returned to Dunsmuir.

Guests at Dinner—The following guests were entertained at a delightful dinner at the hospitable Spindler home on Blaine street recently. Those who shared this hospitality were Mrs. Jennie Hammond, Mrs. M. Spaulding, Mrs. Bertha Corthell, and the Misses Dorothy Abbott and Marjorie Corthell.

Entertained at Tea—Miss Gertrude Haan and Miss Edna Goheen were hostesses at a very charming little tea Sunday evening.

Those who enjoyed this pleasant hospitality were Mrs. Elizabeth Van Sant, Mrs. Mary Dunn, Mrs. Freas H. Conner of Elko Nevada, and Mrs. H. W. Andrews.

A Delightful Surprise—One of the most complete and most thoroughly delightful surprises occurred recently when a number of friends decided to surprise Mr. Hudnell at the pleasant Hudnell home. Music and dancing occupied the hours very happily and at the close of the delightful evening the most delicious refreshments were served.

Those present to enjoy the evening with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hudnell were the Messrs. and Mesdames Floyd Dickey, Ed Covling, Harold Carrington, Ed Hadfield, the Messrs. W. F. Walker, Ralph Hadfield, Ballot and the Misses Ernestine Hicks, May Hadfield, Adeline Cozling, June Hadfield, and Hazel Hudnell.

A Former Pupil Honored—The following clipping from an Eau Claire paper will be of deep interest to those who know Madame Tracy-Young and her work, for the musician so honored is a former pupil of hers. Mme. Irene Hampton Thrane piano recital at the First Congregational church last evening proved a wonderful musical treat to a fair sized audience. The program was a delight and the play-er most charming. A critic recalled the lines "fingers of velvet and fingers of steel." They are possessed indeed by the talented young artist, and no more graceful pianist has visited Eau Claire. In masterly way the great numbers are played by Mme. Thrane, and perfect in execution. The combination is apparent, of great genius, study and hard work, but into her playing also is a fine temperament and a warm personality. The program was short, only some seventy golden musical moments, yet in that time was experienced, by the music lovers, the rapt delight that never grows old, in hearing interpreted the spirit of the great creators, by one so remarkably gifted.

First on the short program was "Variations Serieuse" by Mendelssohn, and to the hearty recall, there was given the "Spinning Song" by the same composer. Three numbers by Chopin followed, the etude in C minor, the Nocturne, and Ballad. The encore to these was Mozart's "Pastorale."

Another group included Rachmaninoff's prelude (G sharp minor), played as would the composer himself—and with more charm. Balikariello's "The Lark" followed, and then the brilliant selection by Tchaikowsky from "Eugene Oneguine." It might be added that Russian music is considered with much favor by Mrs. Thrane.

Extra numbers were insisted upon and her selections were the "Valse" by Schutt and then Beethoven's "Eccossaises."

At end of the program an impromptu reception was held, the pianiste being showered with congratulations and many insisted upon claiming her a daughter of Eau Claire.

Entertained at Dinner—The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hersey on North Main street was the scene of a delightful gathering on Thanksgiving when the following guests assembled to share with host and hostess the delicious Thanksgiving feast prepared for their enjoyment. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wenner and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wenner, Mrs. Acklin and Everett Acklin, Mrs. Maggie Larimore, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Hadfield and families both Junior and Senior.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonough Entertain—Mr. and Mrs. James McDonough were host and hostess at a two o'clock turkey dinner on Thanksgiving.

The repeat was all that a Thanksgiving dinner implies and was enjoyed by the following guests, Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Murphy, and Mrs. Murphy Sr. of Medford, and the Misses Mary Howard and Elberta Updyke.

In the evening Mr. Eubanks joined them and the four, Mr. and Mrs. Enders and Mr. and Mrs. Eubanks dined very delightfully at the Virginia.

Entertained at Lunch—Mrs. G. G. Eubanks was the guest of Mrs. H. G. Enders Sr. for luncheon Thursday and the afternoon was spent in the pleasant visit of old friends.

Entertained at Dinner—Mrs. Bertha Corthell of 108 Seventh street was gracious hostess at a delightful seven o'clock dinner during the Thanksgiving holiday time with covers laid for the following guests, Miss Dorothy Abbott and Mr. Ed Spates and daughter Dorothy.

BERNARR MACFADDEN

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

The milk diet should not be prescribed for one who is in ordinary good health. It is essentially an unbuilding diet for those who have been suffering with disease and are struggling to get back to normal health as speedily and perfectly as possible.

In combination with the warm bath it is intended to slough off the impurities of the body remaining from disease.

Like fasting, the milk diet is very broad in its application. There are but few exceptions to its general helpfulness. To any person naturally fat, or fleshy or whose assimilative powers are exceedingly good, the milk diet is seldom of any benefit.

On the other hand where there is digestive weakness or any defects of nutrition, where more and purer blood is desired, as a rule, it is highly beneficial. Where people of great weight are deficient in vitality, they may use the milk diet for a short time, but as a rule, if it fails rapidly to increase the strength of the patient, it is inadvisable to continue it.

On the other hand, in cases where the blood pressure is too great, it speedily restores the normal condition, and in cases of arterio-sclerosis (hardening of the arteries), the effects produced in several cases have been no less than wonderful.

It is well to know how to take milk so that one will get the fullest possible benefit from it. Milk, though a liquid, is a food just the same as peas, beans, bread, or oatmeal, and the fact that it is liquid does not exempt it from the natural laws which require that it shall be thoroughly mingled with the saliva in order to further the digestive process.

Either make the opening of the mouth so small that quite a suction force is exerted when drawing in even small quantities of the milk or else sip rather than drink it and move it to and fro in the mouth a number of times before swallowing it. Where it is poured down in large quantities, the tendency is quickly to solidify in the stomach into a mass of hard curds which require far more digestive energy and a larger supply of gastric juice than would have been called for had the milk been properly mixed with the saliva.

RESERVATION OFFICER CLEARED OF CHARGE KLAMATH FALLS, Dec. 6.—Leonard Long, policeman on the Klamath Indian reservation, charged with shooting and wounding J. M. Baker, highway contractor, when he attempted to search Baker's car for liquor, was acquitted by the jury late Wednesday.

The authority of an officer for the Indian reservation over persons traveling on a public road within the reservation was one of the principal questions involved. It was pointed out by the court.

The United States attorney for the defense in his closing argument, laid blame for the shooting on Superintendent Fred A. Baker of the Klamath reservation, who, he declared, should not have appointed Long to carry out the task of stopping and searching cars along the highway.

AUTO BLOWN INTO RIVER; DRIVER SLEEPS

NAPA, Cal., Dec. 7.—When R. J. Wilson of Geyserville left his car on Cutting Warf, a few miles down the river below Napa the other night, and went to sleep in his ark, which was moored close by, he expected to see the machine there the next morning. However on awaking at daylight, he found that the machine was mostly in the river. He had slept so soundly that he had not heard the gale during the night.

The wind had blown the machine from the wharf and practically stood it upon its front end in the river. It was pulled back to the wharf, little damaged.
