COATS OF YOUTHFUL DESIGN

If a coat has a straight line and is simply designed, it is in the height of fashion, no matter how simply it is made. To the left is a model for school wear, developed in soft tweed. It fastens in double-breasted effect, and has revers and collar of self-material. Turn-back cuffs finish the twopiece sleeves, and the belt is slipped through straps at the underarm seams. Fancy machine-stitching is all the trimming required for this design, which requires 21/4 yards 54-inch material for medium size.

Tweed, gerona cloth or any of the soft-pile woolens may be used for the second model, which may be closed to the neck or rolled with the fronts to form revers. The body of the coat is lengthened with a three-piece circular flounce and embellished with fancy machine-stitching to correspond with the long flare sleeves. Medium size requires 2 yards 54-inch material.

First Model: Pictorial Review Coat No. 1816. Sizes 6 to 17 years. Price,

Second Model: Coat No. 1814. Sizes, 6 to 14 years. Price, 35 cents.
