"The so-called anti-Klan bill passed by the recent extraordinjust the same as no bill at all." Representative Callahan declared, "for the 'unmasking' provision in the bill keeps the klan from coming under the category of 'masked bands' because it stipulates religious organizations parading in masks and robes do not come under the prohibitory regulation. The Klan has always carried on its parades and demonstrations, carrying signs, such as: 'We put Bibles in schools.' 'We believe in

Protestant schools,' etc. "Make-Shift" Decried "The people of the state, who really did want a law enacted that would unmask the Klan and lay bare its membership like that of any other secret organization, have lost faith in the legislature since it passed the make-shift bill, and already, in my section of the state, petitions are being circulated which will write an amendment to the Oklahoma Constitution and pass Aldrich's Anti-Klan

Aldrich Blake, former executive counselor of Governor Walton, who was "fired" by the former Executive, made public a statement that he would carry the Klan issue into every precinct in the state when the Governor took issue with Blake on the way in which he would conduct the campaign against the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma. He is reported to have obtained more than 5,000 signatures to the initiatory petition, which would require approx- county. imately 25,000 signatures to have it placed ont he ballot at the next

Former Governor J. C. Walton McAlester, and J. W. Callahan, of who tried various legal methods to get his case before the United States Supreme Court on the ground that he had been "unlawfully and illegally deprived of his right of property through conspirary session of the Legislature is acy of the Ku Klux Klan," has delved into the organization of secret anti-Klan orders throughout the state, and close friends say he preparing to make the race for the United tSates Senate on an anti-Klan ticket

Walton "Busy" Now But just at present the former governor has his hands full defending himself against eight indictments charging him with "intimidating officers while governor with machine guns" and allowing diversion of the state funds and 'padding of payrolls" At the same time his attorneys have been seek ing to get into the Supreme Court of the United States on a writ of error, appealing from the decision of the Senate Impeachment Court which ousted him from office. "I don't know just yet what will do about further warfare on the Ku Klux Klan," the former Executive said, " but I can say that just as long as I have a breath in me I will fight the un-American organization that has torn Oklahoma from one end to the other and has arrayed religious class against class and in some cases, caused the closest of friends to part." May Tour Nation The former governor has intimated he would go on an extended speaking tour throughout the United States as soon as his trial is over, if he is cleared of all indictments. His trial probably will come up early in January either in Oklahoma City or some nearby
