JANUARY 14

A MAN THAT HATH FRIENDS must shrew himself friendly; and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother.—Proverbs 18:24.

UNITE OUR EFFORTS FOR ASHLAND

No man can live unto himself. The acts of an individual are reflected in his community, whether for good or for bad. Whatever he does is reflected in a circle that is continually widening like the ripple waves that emanate from a stone tossed into the brook or placid water.

This is the beginning of a New Year. There is no denying that a majority of Ashland citizens view the year with confidence and optimism. There is a good foundation for this belief. If granted the least support the town and the community will advance to a marked degree.

WHAT DOES THE PUBLIC WANT

Charlie Chaplin has given the English something to think about. In a new monthly published in London that well known American talks on the subject of giving the public what it wants—a topic of considerable importance to editors, playwrights, novelists, theatre managers, merchants, manufacturers, and hosts of other gentry.

Well, there is nothing new in that. Think of the great books that have lived in spite of the fact that their first publishers had no faith in them and forced their authors to sell them for a song.

The second discovery that Mr. Chaplin makes is that the artist has but one duty—to produce what satisfies himself, without regard to the commercial side. Then, if he is a good artist, he will have at least one friend, and the chances are that he will gather the public as well.

whether he be playwright, editor, or manufacturer of automobiles—is apt to lie pretty close to the human mind and heart.

THE PRESIDENT URGES ORGANIZATION

President Coolidge has a remedy for the troubles of the farmer. His first message said: "He must have organization. His customer with whom he exchanges products of the farm for those of industry, is organized; labor is organized; business is organized; and there is no way for agriculture to meet this unless it, too, is organized."

Agriculture is by no means unorganized now, that is, if number of organizations counts. Here's a handful of national bodies, with headquarters in Washington:

- International Association of Dairy and Milk Inspectors. American Farm Bureau Federation. World's Dairy Congress Association. National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits. Farmers' National Council. National Milk Producers' Federation. National Board of Farm Organizations. National Grange. National Dairy Union. Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America (National Farmers' Union).

Perhaps the farmer needs not more organization, but a better centralization of such organizations as he has. But we can agree with Mr. Coolidge; organization is a useful, a powerful, and a legitimate means of accomplishment, whether the purpose be the benefit of the farmer, the business man, or the work-man.—The Nation's Business.

THE PEACE PLAN AND EDUCATION

It is possible that history will record the Bok Peace Prize offer as a potent force for peace, even if the winning plan is never adopted.

The donor of the prize has stated that should there be no further results; should no plan fit for use come forth, and the prize be given for no result, the prize would yet have accomplished its purpose, in that it has focused the attention of millions of thinking Americans, and almost as many Europeans, upon the problem of peace.

Who will be the philanthropist to come forward with a hundred thousand-dollar or half million-dollar offer, for the best practicable plan to eliminate illiteracy from the United States, and bring the subject of education so powerfully, so potently, so vividly before our national consciousness, that we will have the schools we ought to have, the government aid for educational opportunities for all our young people we ought to have?

Mr. Bok has pointed the way. He has shown what a constructive imagination can do. He fired the popular vision with his fortune in a prize, and received perhaps, more free advertising for the plan ten times its total sum could have brought.

What will work for peace will work for education! Some wealthy man with as much vision for the future, as it must be affected by education, as Mr. Bok has for the future, as it must be affected by peace or war, can do something for this great nation itself—cement the national needs into a mighty unit which will forever sweep illiteracy from between the oceans!

It will be a cold day when there are no storage houses.

The Humboldt Advanced Bread Team

These little bread bakers are Misses Vera McCrystal, Mariella Sylvester and Marguerette Ash. They won the Minnesota State Fair trip in the advanced bread-baking contest by winning over thirteen competing teams.

Perfumes as Old as History

When and where perfumes first came into existence there is no exact record. Arabia, Egypt, India and Persia used precious ointments, dry and resinous gums or scented oils 2000 year B. C., while the toilet of no Greek or Roman was complete without his daily perfumed rub, no temple rite without its smoking, swinging censers.

THE FORUM

Articles of timely interest are welcomed under this head. Communications must bear the signature of the author.

To the Forum— A fine editorial was that, "America and the Immigrant," and because we want to reduce the number of half starved, paupers—lousy and diseased, with their clannishness—Italy yelps like the coyote she is. They forget that we boss our dung hill, and run our own hen coop. If they don't believe it let them try to run a ship-load in on us.

The Blackhanders killed the chief of police. Thirteen were arrested, tried and the jury acquitted them. A mob made up of 200—I write from memory—preachers, doctors, lawyers, merchants and steamboatmen, went to the jail, and as they came out, were met in the yard by a volley of buck-shot. Then they went to the Italian quarter, called out the leaders, told "what we done," and then laid the law down solid: "That if another American was killed by them that all, from old to young, would be driven to the river and thrown in. Of the slain men all were naturalized but two.

Italy threatened to send a war-ship and blockade the river. At this the old Eagle waved his tail, shook his feathers, spread his wings; and gave a scream heard in Rome; and "Italie" came down off the perch, and settled at Washington for $5,000.00 for the two widows of the two not naturalized. Since then the Italians down there have behaved. Amos Dahuff, 440 Palm Ave.

FOR SWOLLEN JOINTS

Most remedies fail but Joint-Ease succeeds. It's for joint troubles only, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow shoulder, finger or spine—whether rheumatic or not.

It limbers up stiff inflamed, painful, creaky joints so quickly you'll be astonished. Two seconds rubbing and away it goes through skin and flesh right down to the bone and ligaments—that's why it succeeds. Ask any reliable druggist. No.1

PARIS FLIRTS WITH SIDE FULLNESS

Gradually the number of frocks with increased fulness at the sides is being increased, and Paris is finding many ways to give them distinction. To the left is a youthful model in crêpe faille, trimmed with fancy braid. The back and front are in flat effect, while the sides are gathered and held in place with narrow string-ties. The neck is finished with a hand collar. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch material and 6 yards of braid.

The fulness in the second model is confined to one side and introduced in the form of a drapery. The closing is on the left shoulder. Charmeuse satin or satin crêpe would be ideal for the development of this model. An inserted gathered section at the left side hangs below the lower edge, giving the uneven hem-line that is still one of the favored modes of the season. Medium size requires 3 1/4 yards 36-inch satin. First Model: Fictorial Review Dress No. 1660. Sizes, 16 to 20 years, and 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 35 cents. Second Model: Dress No. 1680. Sizes, 34 to 42 inches bust, and 16 to 20 years. Price, 35 cents.

THE PLAN IN BRIEF

- Proposes 1. That the United States shall immediately enter the Permanent Court of International Justice, under the conditions stated by Secretary Hughes and President Harding in February, 1923. 2. That without becoming a member of the League of Nations as at present constituted, the United States shall offer to extend its present cooperation with the League and participate in the work of the League as a body of mutual counsel under conditions which 1. Substitute moral force and public opinion for the military and economic force originally implied in Articles X and XVI. 2. Safeguard the Monroe Doctrine. 3. Accept the fact that the United States will assume no obligations under the Treaty of Versailles except by Act of Congress. 4. Propose that membership in the League should be opened to all nations. 5. Provide for the continuing development of international law.
