OFFICERS DESTROY 8 STILL AT BEND BEND, Feb. 12.—Eight moonshine stills seized in the last few weeks by Sheriff Roberts and his deputies were destroyed this afternoon. Ten gallons of illicit liquor was poured out at the same time. The sheriff has a large quantity of liquid evidence on hand, but will save it for another "funeral" when the local W. C. T. U. will be invited to assist in the destruction of the moonshine.

Thanks Sister

Mrs. Barry says she begged her to take Tanlac and that it restored her to splendid health.

"That I am enjoying such good health at 78 I can attribute largely to the help I have received from Tanlac," says Mrs. Addie L. Barry, 2036 82nd Ave., Oakland, Calif. "For almost a year I had been in an awful up-down condition and felt that I would never be well again. I had no appetite, couldn't sleep and was so weak that I was just up one day and in bed the next.

"Words just can't describe how miserable and discouraged I was feeling when my sister begged me to try Tanlac. But Tanlac helped me at once and six bottles put me back on my feet feeling better than I have in years. I eat and sleep like a child and can get around and do my housework as good as I ever could. Tanlac has my unstinted praise."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

EUROPE'S CIVILIZATION COLLAPSING, SAYS WELLS

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Civilization is collapsing in Europe, says H. G. Wells. The famous British writer says the decadency has been going on nine and a half years.

"The cash and credit system is breaking down," Wells declared, "and soon all Europe may find itself hurrying to the ruin which has swept away the educated and middle classes in Germany and Russia. All the nations must get together in reconstructing currency and reducing debts to avert disaster."

ONE OUT OF EIGHT NEW BUILDINGS LOST BY FIRE

By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

FEW people in this country realize perhaps that we destroy by fire one out of every eight new buildings we erect, and that the same destructive element causes a loss of forty lives a day.

These statements, startling in the extreme, are based on the most recent estimates of fire losses compiled by the National Board of Fire Underwriters and authentic building statistics. The reports for 1922 now being compiled and to be completed within a few weeks thus far reveal total fire losses of more than $521,000,000. When completed they will show an even larger total.

The estimates do not include fires on all farms. In many rural districts the Secretary of Agriculture Wallace recently estimated losses run to at least $50,000,000 annually. Inasmuch as new building operations in this country in 1922 were $4,000,000,000, it will be seen that on a conservative basis our fire losses amount to not less than 12 1/2 per cent of our new building construction.

Our per capita losses in 1918 were $3.35. In 1922 they had increased to $4.75. During the decade 1912-1922 our total losses by fire increased approximately 100 per cent, and during the previous decade 1902-1912 the total increase in fire losses was a little less than 30 per cent.

Our annual loss of life from fire is in excess of 15,000 and is continually growing. Students of fire conditions are united in saying that most fires are the result of sheer carelessness. The prevention of fires is an important phase of thrift, and all banks, schools and other agencies which are endeavoring to promote thrift in this country should give attention to education in fire prevention. So great are our fire losses and so rapidly are they increasing that they are becoming an outstanding factor in our economic situation and are adding to the cost of living.

NEWS LETTER

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—Titles of present-day song hits are no more weird than those of half a century ago!

That is the contention of Thomas F. Boyle, San Franciscan, who was in his heyday as a singer in 1870.

"Tapioca" was the title of a hit in 1873, and the caption meant nothing at all, according to Boyle. "Father, Bring Your Money Home Tonight" and "Kiss Me, Mother, I'm Going to Sleep" were two popular melodies corresponding today to such songs as "Aggravatin' Papa" and "You Gotta See Mama Every Night," Boyle says.

Heart-rending ballads were the big vogue in the early seventies, according to Boyle.

"See That My Grave's Kept Green," "Empty Is the Cradle, Baby's Gone," "There's a Letter in the Candle" and "The Little One That Died" were songs that swayed Western pioneers.

In 1879 "What an Education Has My Mary Ann" won every music lover. Other hits of that time were "Grandfather's Home," "Fogarty's Christmas Cake" and "Only to See Her Face."

The saddest song of all in the early days was a favorite of Boyle's entitled, "The Flower from Mother's Grave."

The official "tear bringer" of 50 years ago was "Mama, Tell Me, Where Is Heaven?"

In 1877 Boyle achieved particular fame singing a love song entitled, "I'm Waiting, Essie, Dear." "Songs of today are quite like those of half a century ago," declares Boyle. "A song to be popular in the old days had to have a little humor, some sentiment and a lilting melody, which, I think, is true of today."

The mystic isles of the South Seas, where they plan to take great riches by harvesting from the floor of the Pacific Ocean a huge deposit of pearls, is the goal of three ancient San Franciscans, whose combined ages aggregate 220 years. Plans for the treasure expedition are now being made, and a tiny craft, bearing the trio, will shove off here shortly, bound for the land of hidden pearls.

Captain Robert C. Nye, 80, veteran whalerman and general adventurer, will head the expedition. With him will sail Tom Bowlin, who is only 74 years old, and William Woods, just 66. Woods is a veteran of the sea, and Bowlin was at one time champion boat steerer of Pacific whalers.

Nyre and his companions recently purchased a cutter discarded by the Navy. It is only 40 feet long and is almost 50 years old. Hard work by the three seamen has turned the cutter into a schooner, which is now equipped with diving gear and other apparatus to be used in the pearl quest.

A full supply of provisions has been loaded on the boat, and as soon as California poppies cover the hills surrounding San Francisco Bay the three ancient mariners will cast off on their long trek upon the Pacific.

"I leave him all the money he owes me, which amounts to thousands."

This strange bequest is contained in the will of Mrs. Carolina A. Wilson, who died here after a long residence. The bequest was made to Attorney Jay Monroe Latimer, who lived at the Wilson home for more than 14 years.

Seven hundred and eighty-two prisoners at San Quentin and Folsom prisons have enrolled at the University of California for correspondence courses since the first of the year. In addition, scores of prisoners, who have been studying through the correspondence department, are continuing their work. Dr. G. A. Smithson, chairman of the department, has announced.

Spanish, English and English

earing are the favorite courses of the prisoners. Mathematics and economics are next in popularity, while a number of prisoners are enrolled to study correctional and reform education.

"Longings and ambitions expressed in prisoners' essays and the reactions in prison life serve to fill the work with rare interest," said Dr. Smithson. "Some of the men turn to religion and write diatribes against those who do not believe. Others become advocates of blue laws, and not a few blame the cigarette as the prime cause of all crime."

Dr. Smithson said that the following sentence recently appeared in a manuscript sent to him from San Quentin: "Material possessions on a grand scale, as a rule, denotes a lack of that more enduring prosperity which signifies character."

A prison inmate who had a story accepted by a magazine wrote to Dr. Smithson as follows:

"This work gives me that faith which causes a fellow to long for the day he will swing through the gate and back into the open—not simply a longing for freedom and the joys it will bring, but that intense desire to go back, clean the slate and prove there is still something under the surface worth salvaging."

Germs to Help Run Engines by Producing Gas Fuel

Methane, one of the gases used for motor fuel, is being produced in commercial quantities in India with the aid of germs that convert a mixture of sewer sludge and sawdust into various compounds of which the gas forms an important part. The tiny creatures are cultivated in air-tight tanks kept at a warm temperature. They multiply rapidly and by working on the mixture produce acetic acid and carbon gas as well as methane. Marsh gas, frequently found in stagnant pools, is largely the result of their presence and causes decay and fermentation of vegetable matter. Banana stems and skins have been found to yield as much as 81 per cent methane when acted up by certain kinds of germs.

"Sand Shoes" of Wire End Strain of Travel

Made of stiff wire, and larger than the soles of the boots to which they are firmly strapped, "sand shoes" are used by the military forces in Syria, in making long marches over the shifting deserts. These meshed foot protectors distribute the weight over a greater area and give the wearer a better purchase in walking, thus doing away with much fatigue and strain. They operate on the principle of the snowshoe of the cold regions.

Radio "Dot" Spans Ocean at Speed of Light

Recent experiments show that radio messages can be acknowledged and checked almost simultaneously with the sending. The tests were conducted over the aerial loop between New York and Warsaw, Poland, a circuit of 8,500 miles. The operator at the control center in America instructed the European representative to tie up his receiving station with the transmitting station. A "dot" was then sent out and made the complete circuit from New York to Warsaw and return while the foreign operator was manipulating his key. The Polish operator was then instructed to leave his key and the "dot" raced twenty times around the circuit at a speed of 186,000 miles per second before dying away because of electrical disturbances.

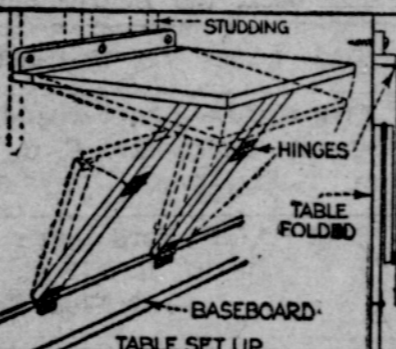

Preventing Pump from Freezing An ordinary pitcher pump in good condition does not allow the water in the suction pipe to run down, the water is subject to freezing during winter. To prevent this, the vacuum chamber is tapped directly under the check valves, for a 3/8-in. drain cock, which, when opened, destroys the vacuum and releases the water. When the cock is closed the pump works as well as ever.

Five Thousand Fed at Once at Electric Barbecue

Four steers weighing about 2,000 pounds each were roasted in an electrically heated pit in the West recently, the meat being served to 5,000 persons. With the temperature automatically controlled, it required 24 hours to cook the beef thoroughly. The improvised oven was 32 feet long, 4 feet wide and 6 feet deep.

A Folding Kitchen Table

In a small kitchen, where space is at a premium, a folding table of the type shown in the drawing will be greatly appreciated. The table top is by 30 by 48 in. in dimensions, and is supported by two braces of 1 by 2-in. stock. Two 4-ft. lengths of 1 by 2-in. material are screwed together at right angles and fastened to the studs. The table top is then hinged to the lower member as shown. The braces are 32 1/2 in. long, and are cut and hinged so that they will fall into place automatically when the table top is lifted. To fold this simple and convenient table it is only necessary to strike the joints of the braces with the knee or hand, while holding the table top to prevent it from "slamming." There are no legs to sweep around with a table of this type, and the braces do not prevent a chair from being drawn up close to the table.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night. Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream. No. 6 Ads.
