GIVES CONDITIONS OF CHARTER DEBATE

Editor Tidings.

In your issue of last Saturday, April 12th, in my letter in the Forum Column occurs the following:

"As the submitted letter answers nearly, if not quite all of the other faults found with the proposed charter by Attorney Briggs speech, referred to, I will only add that I have secured the use of the City Hall for next Wednesday evening and appointed Judge Gowdy as my second or manager to whom I refer any one who wishes to debate on the following resolution: Resolved that the proposed City Charter is preferable to the present one. This challenge is open for acceptance until next Tuesday noon."

This is Tuesday, 7 P. M. and no one has taken the challenge. To be liberal I have extended the time for acceptance of the above challenge to Thursday at 10 o'clock A. M. If by Thursday, 8 P. M. the challenge is not accepted by the above time and arrangements made with the aforesaid party then the opposition can not expect any hearing at the Lyric Theatre Thursday evening, where the meeting is to be held, for by neglecting to do so they forfeit any right to any consideration whatever. The meeting will be held at the Lyric Theatre even if the opposition does not accept the challenge. If the opposition fails to take so fair and open challenge the discerning citizen can easily guess why.

Come to the meeting Mr. Editor and bring your force with you. Humbly yours,

D. M. BROWER.

Former Residents Visit

Of great interest to Ashland folk is the fact that Mrs. Chester Stevenson and daughter, Miss Mary Margaret, arrived this week from Eugene to be the house guest of Mrs. Bert R. Greer for some time. The Stevenson family is familiar to Ashland having lived here a few years ago.

In Ashland

Having returned from the Southern Pacific hospital in San Francisco, where he asked for his discharge, A. C. Keller returned to be with his family a short time in Corvallis and expects to return and take a run on the Southern Pacific line between Klamath Falls and Weed.

Play Practice Continues

Finishing touches are being put on and the thrilling experience of stage fright is gradually taking hold of Seniors who are casted for the Senior play to be given at the high school auditorium Friday evening. "Come Out of the Kitchen," with Virginia Jones in the leading role, will wind up the dramatic season at high school.

Field Meet to be held in Fair Grounds

The tenth annual Field and Track meet with 73 events for all small towns and rural schools in Jackson county will be held at the Jackson County fair grounds April 26th according to announcement. The affair was the original scheme of the Olympic society of the Talent track, but with a casted vote this year the event will be held at the fair grounds.

Don't Fail to Vote at Special City Election Friday, April 18.

From Klamath Falls

H. Goeller, accompanied by Mrs. A. L. Harvey, went to Ashland Saturday. Goeller returned Sunday accompanied by his family who have been visiting at the home of her mother, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wilson of Medford, the past month.—Klamath News.

Will Attend Meeting Tomorrow

Attorney Borden, of Medford, plans to be in Ashland tomorrow evening to take part in any discussion that will arise at the debate challenge which has been issued by Dr. D. M. Brower. The debate will be held at the Lyric theatre.

On to Marshfield

John C. Lathrop, C. S. B., of Brookline, Massachusetts, left this morning via stage for Marshfield where he will deliver a lecture at the Christian Science edifice. Mr. Lathrop appeared here last night at the Christian Science church before a large audience, and spoke on "Christian Science, The Religion of Right Resistance." He is a very entertaining speaker and his talk of an hour's length was one appreciated. A. C. Joy introduced the speaker.

STRAYER WILL VISIT SOUTHERN OREGON

BAKER, April 16.—William H. Strayer, state senator, a democratic candidate for the nomination as United States senator, arrived here late last night after a 25 day campaign tour through the Willamette valley. He will leave tomorrow for Marshfield, Or., thence will go to Medford, Ashland, Klamath Falls and all southern Oregon towns. He plans to devote all his time to his candidacy until the primaries, May 16, he said.

Don't Fail to Vote at Special City Election Friday, April 18.

NEWS LETTER

KANSAS CITY, April 12.—The greatest fight in many years will be made by states in the middle west this year to have congress adopt the big waterways improvement projects provided in the Newton bill.

The measure provides for the approximate expenditure of $74,000,000 in the next five years for improvement of navigation on the Ohio, Mississippi and Missouri rivers. The Mississippi river would be improved from its mouth to Minneapolis, the Ohio from its mouth to Pittsburgh and the Missouri up to the Quindaro Bend, at Kansas City.

Cities adjoining the Missouri River in seven states will attend the meeting to be held here on April 11 and 12 to lay plans for joint Congressional approval of the project at the present session.

Delegations already have been sent from many cities of this section to attend hearings on the bill of which Congressman Cleveland A. Newton, of St. Louis, is the author.

Agitation has been started to interest inland cities, as well as cities lying immediately adjacent to the rivers, to back the bill. Waterway improvement enthusiasts point out that the inland cities will benefit in long shipments where they can consign their products to nearby river points by rail or other means of transportation and thence by water to their final destination.

Chambers of Commerce are leading the fight to awaken agricultural and business interests to the benefits that would be derived by the improvement of waterways in this part of the country.

The meeting here will take up for discussion that part of the bill providing for deepening the Missouri river channel from the Mississippi river to Kansas City. A proposal to improve the North Missouri will be taken up later.

National authorities on waterways development and improvement will attend the Kansas City meeting and address the delegates.

Improvement of rivers is not being opposed by the railroads, it was pointed out, as not long ago L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific system, declared that from an economic standpoint it was necessary to develop all methods of transportation to the fullest in keeping with the development of the nation.

Development of the waterways Baldwin says, will permit the railroads, to give their best service. By improvement of the water systems and highways, railroads would be relieved of unnecessary congestion, he said.

Much freight of certain classes is now handled by railroads to their discomfort, and improvements such as proposed in the Newton bill would open new channels through which such shipments could be diverted to the benefit of business in general.

The views of President Baldwin are believed to reflect the attitude of other railroad heads, and no organized opposition from the rail sources is anticipated. Barge rates are approximately one-fifth lower than rail rates, but as the railroads are now pushed almost beyond their limits to handle perishable products and "rush" orders of goods they would be relieved of much of the unnecessary burden under which they now operate and still have sufficient business.
