To make an accurate survey of the number of motorists who deserted their home town and spent a quiet day in the country, or held themselves to the various fishing streams, would be a task of no small dimensions. Trout fishing was popular and Rogue River was the mecca for anglers, while smaller creeks were ridden of quantities of their fishy contents. Others motored to the direction of the California line while Roseburg was the northern goal of a few.

CHANGE OF OWNERSHIP OCCURS IN ROSE BROS.

The oldest confectionery firm in the city figured in a deal Saturday whereby C. R. Rose traded his interest in the firm to his brother, Howard, for the latter's interest in the building occupied by the firm. Howard Rose is now the sole proprietor and announces that he will continue the same courteous treatment that has existed in the past. Charles Rose is undecided as to his future course.

LOS ANGELES CAR IS RECOVERED IN ASHLAND

A representative of the Pinkerton Detective Agency left here yesterday with a Ford coupe which was abandoned on Mountain Avenue several weeks ago and which has been in the custody of local police during prolonged efforts to locate the owner. The car proved to belong to the Commercial Discount company, of Los Angeles and will be driven to Portland, where it will be loaded on a boat and returned to its owner in the California city. It is the opinion of the visiting official that the car was stolen by I. E. and D. H. Allen, who were questioned at the depot by Special Officer Priest. Priest has no knowledge of this crime, however, and the two were allowed to go.

CONVICTED WHITE SLAVER APPEALS HIS CASE

PORTLAND, April 20.—Glen C. Tobias, wealthy oil man sentenced to three years at McNeil island for violation of the Mann act with his secretary yesterday appealed to the circuit court of appeals at San Francisco and was released from jail on a bond of $7500.

What Happened—

A slick, well groomed, good looking brown suitcase is enjoying a stay at the City Chief of Police's office and if contents are not misleading it is judged that some visiting Knights Templar lost his cocked, plumbed and altogether dignified head-gear in the course of yesterday's events. There is also a coat in the suitcase and Chief McNabb is holding the whole believing that the unfortunate owner will see his loss and reclaim the same phenomena. It was suggested to McNabb that he appear on the street with said regalia and the owner, or a storm of fraternal protest, would lay all claims as to its ownership.

Spring Crow Shooting All Over U. S. To Save Song Birds and Farmers' Crops

From others whose vocation is the protection of wild bird life, the evidence is even more emphatic. One witness saw a crow fly off with young robins. A farmer writes that a flock of crows destroyed his entire field of corn. It is within the writer's personal knowledge that a farm located at Goshenville, Pa., lost 40% of its crops last fall through the depredation of crows. Another farmer states that crows have flown into his barn yard and made off with young chickens. Another states that he has seen crows gather about the nest of grouse and eat every egg.

By FRANK WINCH

Big Game Hunter, Naturalist, Author and Sportsman

EVIDENCE of the most overwhelming nature gathered from every part of the United States, proves conclusively that the crow is the most malicious enemy to wild bird life.

With in the past year many independent investigations have been made by sportsmen and the result is the organization of crow shoots in nearly every state of the Union. Most of these are starting this month, for this is the nesting period.

The reports from Game Wardens in most states prove that the crow is not only a menace to game birds but also to the song birds which are almost indispensable to the farmer.

Crows are known to destroy rabbits. They have picked out the eyes of young lambs in Kentucky. They have taken young chicks and they destroy eggs of turkeys. As an all around feathered rascal, the crow occupies a place of its own.

The Game Wardens of the following states: Minnesota, Vermont, Kansas, South Carolina, Kentucky, Delaware, West Virginia, Oregon, Arizona, Rhode Island, Texas, Oklahoma, Connecticut, Arkansas and Indiana, make the unqualified statement that crows in their states are known to destroy the nests and eggs of game birds and their young; the nests and young of insectivorous birds.

Asked if crows destroy crops, the answer is, yes.

When I was a boy I had to go up before daylight and run through the frosty grass, barefooted, to keep the crows away from the lambs.

One morning I overslept, and when I left the house I could hear the crows over the sheep pasture. I ran as fast as I could and, on arriving, under a bush was my pet ewe whose mother had died and I had raised on a bottle with a goose quill for a nipple. She had given birth to two fine lambs. I hurried to them and looked them over. Their eyes were gone.

"Imagine if you can, a barefooted boy standing in the early morning, on a steep slide hill surrounded by a hundred sheep, holding a mutilated lamb in each arm, tears streaming down his cheeks, talking to a pair of crows perched in a dead tree a half mile off. Try and feel as I did and you will look no farther for any redeeming qualities that a crow might have."
