UNUSUAL EVENTS COMMANDING YOUR INTEREST

A SON ARRIVES AT PARK FOR MR. AND MRS. ELK

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Elk of Lithia Park, Monday noon, a son. As no beer or champagne bottle was available to break over the youngster's head, he has not yet been christened.

Considerable discussion has arisen among tourists who have seen the newcomer as to the proper method of naming a baby elk.

"You are supposed to fill a bottle with water and break it over whatever you are christening," said one traveler yesterday. Another declared that the one christened should be thrown in a river.

At any rate, the baby doesn't seem to mind being nameless, and eventually the proper method of conducting the ceremony may be agreed on. After that, all that will be necessary will be to christen the youngster without being tossed over the fence by Father Elk.

Someone suggests that we let the Elks do it.

Takes No Chances—

According to a vague story which floated into the Tidings office this afternoon, John Turner, Southern Pacific man, asked to be allowed to lay off one trip when he was scheduled to take out train 13 on Friday, June 13.

Lots of Water—

Jim Spencer, resident engineer of Eagle Point irrigation district reports that enough water is now available to fill all needs.

Returns From School—

Addison D. Helms, Jr., arrived home Saturday evening from Palo Alto, California, where he has been attending the Seale Military Academy for the past nine months.

Record Broken—

When 146 out-of-state motorists registered at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, the record for this year was broken. The day before, 123 motorists registered, and this number stood as the highest this year until yesterday when it was exceeded by 22 cars. The majority of those who registered drove California cars. The car from the most distant state was a Buick from Massachusetts.

Here for Two Months—

In order that she might see her brother, John Robinson, before he was taken to the Portland Surgical Hospital, Mrs. H. E. Robinson of Lodi, Cal., came to Ashland Saturday morning. Robinson has been in failing health for the past eight months and was taken to Dr. Coffey in Portland where it is hoped a successful diagnosis can be determined. Robinson is an ex-member of the fire department and is well known in Ashland and Talent. He was accompanied to Portland by his wife and Blinn Coleman of Jacksonville. Mrs. Robinson will remain in Ashland two months to visit her family.

Awaiting Arrival—

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hoover and Meade Hoover have arrived in the city from San Francisco and are staying at the Nute Harrison home, awaiting the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison from their vacation trip. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover are the parents of Mrs. Harrison and will be with her this summer.

Driving from Medford—

In order that they may attend summer school which is going on here, the Misses Marguerite and Mable Moore are driving daily from Medford.

Health Hints
by the Father of Physical Culture

Diseases of the kidneys are everywhere prevalent in civilized communities. Advanced Bright's disease is considered incurable by many members of the medical profession. In fact, when the disease is too far developed, but little hope can be offered by any method of treatment. When one considers the dietetic habits of the average person, it is not by any means surprising that so many suffer from this disease. In character, it is very insidious. Sometimes its presence may not be recognized for a long period. In chronic Bright's disease, the kidneys totally lose their ability to perform their duty. This malady is far more common than is supposed.

The symptoms of acute Bright's disease are mostly a pain in the region of the kidneys, frequent urination, suppression of urine, very dark, and dirty color, and dropsical swellings in various parts of the body. If the disease has become chronic, the bodily strength gradually decreases. Bronchitis, watery diarrhoea, pleurisy, enlargement of the heart, and frequent headaches often accompany Bright's disease in its advanced stages.

Congestion of the kidneys is usually indicated by the urine being either very abundant and very pale, or else scanty and highly colored. Hemorrhages are indicated by bloody urine.

Acute diseases of the kidneys, coming under the head of congestion, inflammation and hemorrhage, may in some cases be the result of an accident, or may be accompanied by some other disease. Inflammation of the kidneys is not infrequently a complication with scarlet fever, measles, diphtheria, and diseases of this character. The most common cause, however, is the free use of alcoholic beverages, whiskey, beer, wine, hard cider, etc.

Stimulating and improper foods also have much to do with inducing disease. The use of alcoholic liquors and excessive feeding are evils that are closely associated with it. Alcoholic liquors, unless used to excess, always stimulate the appetite and incline one to eat too freely. This is equally true of all meats, and very highly seasoned dishes.
