UNUSUAL EVENTS
COMMANDING
YOUR INTEREST"NOTHING BUT GRIEF"
SAY LOCAL TOURISTS

"Nothing but grief," said Wilbur Chapman, when asked yesterday how plans were maturing for a trip he and Merrick Thornton plan on making into Canada.

Several weeks ago the boys bought a "Trusy Flivver." Now when they speak of it, it is called a "Rusty Flivver" if not something worse. It was originally planned to buy a second hand Lizzie, work long enough to make money for the trip, and then take a vacation jaunt to Chapman's former home in Canada. Now the boys are doubtful if they can make enough money in the summer to drive their machine over the High Drive.

First the front wheels developed an independent complex and roamed off in different directions, while the car, unable to follow both paths, ran in weird circles. Later the body climbed forward on the frame so that the motor was under the front seat. Now the radiator seems to be imitating a sieve and the motor refuses to run.

"Some day we will get it running, then watch our dust," say Thornton and Chapman.

ALAS, ALAS, ALZAMON
MADE A POOR GUESS

PORTLAND, June 23:—Alzamon, formerly of Portland, now of Rochester, New York, is Alzamon Ira Lucas, Ph.D. Psy.D., "founder of the American Superace Foundation, and discoverer of predetermination of sex and vocation in human beings."

Dr. Lucas was supposed to have predetermined the sex and vocation of a child born June 17 to Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Akers of Portland. The child was to have been a boy, and a mechanic.

The parents laid plans to educate their son along mechanical lines, and decided to name him Ralph Raymond. Then fate played Dr. Lucas a dirty trick, and the child is named Myrna Ruth. In a statement to a Portland paper before the child was born, Dr. Lucas generously stated that he would not blame the parents if a girl were born.

To Meet Daughter—

Mrs. W. H. Wenner left Sunday evening for Portland, where she will meet her daughter, Mrs. Laura B. Knox of Emmett Idaho, who is coming home for a visit.

Here For Week—

Miss Ida Mochettaz of Klamath Falls is at the Convalescent Home for a week rest. Miss Mochettaz is a Klamath Falls business woman.

At Convalescent Home—

Mrs. Mary B. Johnson of Central Point is a guest at the Convalescent home. She suffers from neuritis.

Left Saturday—

Bert Sayles, of the East Side Grocery left Saturday on a short vacation trip to San Francisco, where he will visit his niece.

From Klamath Falls—

Mrs. Roy Walker of Seattle, who has been visiting in Klamath Falls the past few days arrived in Ashland this morning for a short visit with Mrs. Walter Herndon.

DeMolay Dance Thursday—

The Ashland and Medford chapters of the DeMolay will hold a dance at the Community Clubhouse Thursday.

Morgan Funeral Held—

The funeral of Orva Morgan, youthful Copeco lineman who was killed in an accident, was held from the Stock Undertaking Parlor yesterday at 2:30. Burial followed in the Ashland cemetery. Friends packed the chapel to hear the funeral services.

Remains to Mayville—

The remains of R. E. Graham who died June 22, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. B. Moore, 431 North Main, will be taken to Mayville, Gilliam county, Oregon, for interment in the Odd Fellows' cemetery. The remains will be accompanied by Mrs. Moore and her brother, D. S. Graham, of Los Angeles. Mr. Graham was eighty-four years of age. He had been a guest at his daughter's home for the past year and a half. He was a member of the Baptist church, having become a member of that organization at the age of twenty-one.

Back from Caves—

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Selby, their two daughters and Dolly Trask returned last night from a week-end trip to Oregon Caves. They report the road in good condition, and say that more steel ladders have replaced the old wooden ones.

To Crater Lake—

Mr. and Mrs. Butler Walker and two daughters, Leta and Ailene, visited Crater Lake yesterday. This is the first time Mr. Walker had ever visited the lake.

Left Today—

Mr. and Mrs. Will Hosley and two sons left this morning for Tillamook, where they live. They have been visiting relatives and friends here.

Like Butte Falls—

A party consisting of the Misses Nina and Hazel Emery, Mr. H. S. Emery and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lane spent yesterday at Butte Falls. They were delighted with the place, and declare that Butte Falls is an ideal place to spend a Sunday. It is a 42 mile drive from Ashland.
