Here On Business— P. W. Pinnegar and sons of Watsonville, California, were business visitors in Ashland yesterday and today.

Decorations Up— Starting yesterday afternoon, linemen commenced decorating Ashland for the bicentennial. American flags are being hung across the streets at present.

Vining Back— Vining returned to Ashland yesterday after a trip to Gearhart, where he delivered an address before a convention of Northwest electrical men.

Tonsils Removed— Elmer Olsen of Jacksonville was a patient at the Community Hospital yesterday, undergoing an operation for tonsillitis.

Recovered— After a week in the local hospital, following an operation for appendicitis, Mrs. W. Evans, postmistress at Weed, was able to return to her home yesterday.

Visitor— Mrs. Vanscoy, Jackson County school nurse, was a visitor at the Community Hospital yesterday.

Here for Visit— Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Carnes, of San Francisco, California, arrived in Ashland recently to visit Mrs. Carnes parents at the Hill home.

To Santa Monica— Mrs. H. C. Fielding and Mrs. F. E. Hale are leaving soon to visit in Santa Monica, California.

Recent Visitors— Mrs. Hope Kewin and Miss Frances Murphy of San Francisco were recent visitors in the home of Mrs. M. E. Dickey. Mrs. Kewin and Miss Murphy are en route to Banff. They have traveled extensively and visited many beautiful places. They are emphatic in their praises of Ashland and its environs, and state that for natural beauty and improvement for the size of the city—Ashland has no rival.

Another Salesman Buys— Fred C. Gordon, of the Labor Spring Company of Portland, is the latest salesman to buy stock in Ashland's new hotel. He declared he was glad to get a chance to buy stock, and said as the hotel would be the southern Oregon home of traveling men, he was glad to subscribe.

Right Off The Bone— "Oh, goody! We're going to Ashland, where they have such good corn you can eat right off the bone." So said little Buddy Gregg, of Santa Monica, when he heard that his family intended to return in Ashland for a visit this summer. Last summer the Greggs visited in Ashland, and are back again this year.

Counted Them— When Mrs. E. Caldwell drove to Gold Hill on a visit Sunday evening, she counted 58 machines going North between Central Point and Gold Hill. No attempt was made to count the machines between Ashland and Medford, but everyone seemed to be coming to Ashland.

Given Publicity— Illustrative of the manner in which the valley cities are working together for their mutual benefit is the publicity given Ashland's celebration in the Medford Mail Tribune. Next to the Tidings, the Tribune has given more space to the celebration than any other newspaper. In the Monday issue, a column and a half was given to an advance story of the Ashland Third and Fourth demonstrations. Besides this, stories have appeared in the Grants Pass Courier and in Portland newspapers.

HORACE LOVE STILL CITY'S STAR BOARDER

Horace is still with us. Horace Robert Love, alias Clayton, alleged army deserter, two-time convict, undesirable felon and petty burglar, who was arrested by local police June 20, is still the only occupant of Ashland's present municipal tourist hotel, the city jail. Love was arrested as a suspicious character, and confessed to a long list of crimes. The immigration bureau at Portland was immediately notified, and replied that an officer would arrive soon to take the prisoner in charge. Since then, Horace has been the city's star boarder, and probably will be until an official arrives to take charge of him. "From what I have seen of Ashland, I like it," declared Horace today. All he can see is a woodpile in the fire hall across from the jail door.

Visiting— Miss Ruth Sweeney is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nims, N. Main street.

Is Guest— Mrs. Ida Megwigan, of Yakima, Washington, is a guest at the Convalescent Home.

Here Last Week— Mrs. J. W. Merrill of Gold Hill, Mrs. Brydon Sanderson of Central Point were guests in Ashland last week.

House Guests— Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Vining of Oakland are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. McConnell on Church street.

Guests Here— Charles O. Wells of Hillsboro, Oregon and Vinchard R. Rayner, of Eugene, were guests in this city yesterday. The young men are both U. of O. students, majoring in chemistry. They graduate next year.

At Convalescent Home— R. E. Butcher, an ex-service man from New Jersey, is a milk diet patient at the Convalescent Home.

From Montrose— Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Green, of Montrose, Colorado, are Ashland visitors this week. They recently took a trip to Klamath Falls, and report the road in good condition.

Does It Again— For the second time in two weeks, Charles Rush went fishing Friday and returned with the limit in mountain trout and silver-sides. Rush refuses to tell where he makes his big catches, but says there are plenty left.

YOUTH OF GREAT BRITAIN GOING COWBOY "CRAZY"

LONDON, June — Hair pants are rapidly becoming more popular with the impressionable youth of Britain than cricket bats. Instead of learning to sing "Rule Britannia!" the carefree lads of England are chanting: "One foot in the stirrup, one hand on the horn." "I'm the best cowpuncher that ever was born!" And it's all because a bunch of cowboys and cowgirls from the "great open spaces" of the United States and Canada came to England to stage a rodeo at the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley. Headed by "Tex" Austin, a six-foot-four cowboy, with high boots and a hat almost half the size of the State of Texas, the headliners of Cheyenne's "Frontier Days" and similar affairs of the so-called "Wild and (more or less) Woolly West", gave staid old England a ten-day thrill that the young folks, at least, never will forget. Heretofore it always has been the consuming desire of the youth of England to run away to sea. Since "Tex" Austin and his brave band have performed at Wembley, however, all the adventurous lads want to run away to Texas, or Wyoming, or Montana and be cowboys. Harrassed fathers are being importuned to buy lariats, silver spurs, sombreros, "chaps," Mexican saddles and all the other fanciful accoutrements of the cowboy. "Tex" started something that will not be finished until the would-be cowboys of the present day grow up to be the fathers of a later generation.

D. A. R. PLACES RECORDS IN CRYPT

Pictures, Membership Lists, and Other Data Filed For Future Generations

With many other organizations, Mount Ashland chapter of the D. A. R. filed historical data in the crypt devoted to that purpose, at the Mausoleum, Sunday evening. A brief history of the chapter's first years work, taken from the D. A. R. magazine of May, 1922, written by the historian, a list of charter members and also a list of the present membership were filed. A list of officers for the different years, pupils who have received prizes in essay and in history, given by the chapter, and a brief summary of the activities of the Chapter since its organization in 1920 were included.

With this data is the picture of the home of Mrs. J. P. Dodge, where the first annual meeting was held, and the picture of the monument unveiled at Phoenix, October 21, 1921, which was jointly placed by the Mount Ashland and Crater Lake chapters, in memory of the historic fifteen who blazed the trail in Southern Oregon.

DEMOCRATS REQUIRE FIVE TONS COFFEE FOR CONVENTION

NEW YORK, June 30.—Five tons of coffee, enough to make 360,000 cups, are being drunk by the delegates, alternates, and visitors attending the Democratic National Convention here this week. Whether the tremendous stock of the beverage will be exhausted by the thousands who flock to Madison Square Garden depends largely upon the duration of the convention.

The concessionaires have laid in their edibles on the basis of a deadlock in choosing the presidential candidate that will hold the delegates in this city for two weeks. On that mode of reasoning, they have also laid in fifty barrels of lobsters and enough "hot dogs" to supply 32,000 every day. Coffee, "hot dogs" and sea food are chiefly in demand at the numerous counters which have been placed in convenient places in the Garden.

According to the holders of the eating concessions, the middle western delegates are calling largely for sea-food—lobsters and clams—while the unanimous choice of all for a beverage seems to be coffee, with lead coffee, because of the weather, proving exceedingly popular.

Seaside water system nears completion.

Vernonia—Kingsley Mercantile Co. to build new fireproof building.

BERNAKE MACFADDEN

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

A man or woman weak in the kidneys is like a board with a knot in it. With any severe strain away goes the whole fabric; it becomes broken and useless.

Vitality of the kidneys must be maintained. These very useful organs must be watched with the most jealous care. It is their work to carry off the greater part of the waste fluids of the body. Much solid waste matter, too, in the form of very small particles, is eliminated in the fluid ejected by the kidneys.

Now the kidneys may be given proper hardness combined with muscular flexibility, just as easily as may the biceps. Note that I say proper hardness. The kidneys are delicate organs that need strengthening. Yet how many, even among athletes in training, ever give a thought to the strength of these organs? The kidneys are there, and they appear to be doing their work properly. Is that all the thought that need be given them until they complain through the medium of disease? No! Most emphatically no! The kidneys need care no matter how healthy they are, and by proper care they can be strengthened. But how?

First, in the way of gentle exercise by massage. Stand erect, with the hands resting just back of the hips and over the kidneys. Massage strongly upward and downward, applying the heel of each hand over one of the kidneys. Continue this for one or two full minutes every time that you exercise.

Follow this up by kneading over the kidneys for about the same length of time. Clench the hands and apply the knuckles of the fingers over the region of the kidneys. Start with fists close to the spine and knead forward over the organs, stopping only when you have reached the sides of the trunk just under the lowest ribs. Then knead backward again, and repeat this movement several times.

Then follow up the kneading by striking over the same surfaces with the tips of the fingers, continuing this percussion in the forward movements, until you touch the abdomen. Then go backward and forward again.

Myrtle Point—Holt-Chase Canning Co. completes addition to plant.

Myrtle Point—Coo's White Cedar mill installs new band saw. $7,000 new machinery added recently.
