From Portland—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Maule and son, John, of Portland, arrived here yesterday for a two weeks' vacation in Ashland and Medford. The family plans to visit many friends while in the valley.

HONESTY is my POLICY. Yeo, of course. 212-tf

Buy Fords—A. S. Peck, timekeeper for John Hampshire on the Crater Lake highway, recently bought a new Ford coupe from Harrison Brothers. Other sales reported in the last three days are: Touring car to James Hughes, roadster to J. L. Doll and roadster to J. Wolke.

Books and Stationery—McNair Bros.

Evangelist Here—The Rev. A. G. Garr and family will open a series of interdenominational revival meetings at the Chautauqua building beginning next Monday, it was announced today. The Rev. Mr. Garr recently returned from India, where he held a number of successful meetings. His son will sing at the Baptist church next Sunday.

Rubber Aprons 50c and 75c—McNair Bros.

Good Fishing Place—Fishing at Rocky Point is great, according to the Klamath Herald. Trolling in Pelican Bay and out past the mouth of Crystal creek, a tributary stream to the lake, recently netted many fishermen large rainbows. One Klamath Falls party caught a rainbow weight 12-1-2 pounds, and many large catches are reported.

Going Fishing—Vern Garey and Charles Rush, two of Ashland's best fishermen, plan to take a day's trip tomorrow to some secret place near here where they consistently catch the weight limit. Bringing back the big ones is a specialty of these two sportsmen.

To the Lake—Henry Enders, Jr., left yesterday on a short trip to Lake of the Woods.

For Medical Treatment—Mr. Cannon, who lives south of Ashland, was brought to the local hospital Tuesday, and is receiving medical treatment.

Here on Business—J. J. McQuarie, of Minnesota, is a business visitor in Ashland. He arrived last night, and will return tomorrow morning.

Adlerika, $1.00—McNair Bros.

Undergoes Operation—The small child of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pierson, of Medford, was operated on at the Community Hospital yesterday. The child was discharged about a week ago, but again took sick.

Cleaning, Pressing and Repairing at Paulserud's. 261-tf

Wants Coast Games—The following message, to which no reply has been received, was sent by the Chamber of Commerce this morning to Pacific Coast League officials and others: "Medford, Oregon, would like to know what terms would be required to stage a series of games here. Medford center of large district having no ball teams at present. Medford Chamber of Commerce, R. T. Spaulding, Secretary."

Let us fill your pail with Swifts Silver Lard. Costs less than shortening, goes farther and is more nutritious. Detricks. 94-tf Locate at Falls—Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Norton, of Ashland, arrived in Klamath Falls yesterday to make preparations for establishing a permanent home here. Mr. Norton is registered at the Arcade.—Klamath Herald.

Virginia Traveler Here—J. W. Louis, Lexington, Virginia, business man, who retired last year, and who has been touring since, stopped here last night, attracted by Ashland advertising he saw in northern California.

Trout Fishing Good—Trout fishing on the Rogue is now excellent with fine catches being made. Early morning or late evening is said to be the best, with little chance of getting anything but sunburn while the sun is high.

Left Monday—Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Harrison, Mrs. Hoover and Charles Harrison, left for Crater Lake last Monday on a vacation trip. They expect to return very soon.

Caught for Speeding—Alton Trask, of Ashland, is one of the many that have been arrested for speeding through Gold Hill. The little town has adopted the policy of "See the city or see the judge," and arrests many who fail to notice that the speed limit is 20 miles an hour. Trask was fined $10.

Visiting Uncle—Mrs. J. Allen Porter, of McCloud, California, formerly Miss Millicent Pelfer, of Ashland, is in Ashland visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Swenning of Church street. Mr. Porter was here the fourth, but returned to his home.

Spending Week—Little Ingrid Pedersent of Yreka, is spending the week with her cousin, Benjamin Greaser, of Grand View Drive.

Deans Here—Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dean and little son, of Portland, arrived in Ashland the third and are visiting at the home of Mr. Dean's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Dean. They will return to their home next Sunday.

Visiting Friend—Mrs. C. F. Hout, of Corvallis, and her children, the Misses Lillian and Emily, and Donald Hout, arrived Monday to visit Mrs. B. P. Blue of Ashland street. They will stay a week.

Visiting Here—Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Smith and daughter, Laura, of Avoca, Iowa, are visiting at the Swenning home on Church street. Mr. Smith is a brother-in-law of Mr. Swenning. Mr. Smith is a retired banker, and his daughter is a pharmacist. His granddaughter, Miss Harriet E. Smith, is a domestic science teacher at Avoca. The Smith family plan to visit Crater Lake and other beauty spots near Ashland, staying some time at each. They will be here for at least two months.

At Home—Mrs. E. R. Stevens is a guest at the Convalescent Home.

To Bandon—Paul Mars and wife left this morning for Bandon, Oregon, where they will spend several weeks at the sea side.

Back in Ashland—Willie Creps, former Ashland resident, arrived in town last night and plans to spend three months here. He has been in California.

At Auto Park—Thornton Henniger, with his father and mother, are at the auto camp, and plan to stay a week. They formerly lived on Iowa street, but are now located at Long Beach, California.

To Talent—W. G. Stratton, of Hornbrook, is in Talent, where he will remain for several weeks, looking after business interests.

One of Few—One of the few Oregonians who spent last night at the Ashland auto camp in beautiful Lithia Park is W. O. Wheeler, of eastern Oregon. Mr. Wheeler, a business man, is taking a summer vacation, and is going to southern California and possibly Mexico. He will stop in Ashland on his return next month.

From Omak—An Ashland visitor from Omak, Washington, is B. M. Bowman, who left his home town over two months ago. Since then, he has been following the lure of the highway through coast states. Mr. Bowman is a motorist who does not follow the beaten paths, but explores the dirt roads, taking his time and seeing the country. "It's the only way to enjoy a camping trip," he declared this morning.

Complete Line of Ashland Canned Goods at Detricks. 94-tf

From Farthest East—Ohio was the farthest East state represented at the Ashland auto camp last night. Adam Ruev, of Marion, Ohio, was the visitor from the presidential state.

Cuts Foot—Master Herbert Martin, of Ohio street, cut his foot badly today while wading in Ashland creek. The little fellow was wading up the street when he slipped on a rock. It is thought his foot struck some broken glass.

Visit Dam Project—Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lane visited the Emigrant creek dam last night. They report that pouring of cement was started yesterday.

HAZARDS OF OIL SHOWN AS ISLAND CAMPAIGN ENDS

After an effort covering a period of five years the Standard Oil Company (California) is abandoning its prospecting operations on Bondoc Peninsula, Island of Luzon, of the Philippine group, which have been conducted by the Richmond Petroleum Company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company. So ends a great venture to find a new supply of oil for the future. The holes drilled at Bondoc proved to be "dusters".

MASQUERADES AS MAN 7 YEARS; GOES TO JAIL

MARSHALLTOWN, La., July 10. — Ruth Bundy, 33, who, for seven years has masqueraded in men's clothing and posed as a man, known as Walter Bundy, is in the county jail following her arrest at Rhodes, this county.

Three years ago, at Rhodes, "Walter" Bundy was married to Miss Elizabeth West. The wife asserted that during the time they have lived together she never discovered her supposed husband's deception.

During the seven years that she has paraded as a man, Miss Bundy has been employed as a farm and track laborer. It is said that men with whom she has worked never have suspected her sex.

The area prospected, which seemed promising from surface indications, does not bear oil beyond tracts, and the wildcaters are striking camp and coming home.

The Philippines expedition furnishes a striking example of the hazards of the oil industry. The search for hidden deposits of petroleum is uncertain — the industry seeks and sometimes finds, and sometimes doesn't. In either case the expense is great, requiring resources of vast size. The expenditures in the Philippines will run to approximately a million and a quarter dollars. There is compensation, however; for where many wildcat ventures may fail one may succeed with profitable results. Such is the history of oil.

The Bondoc adventure proves, too, that there is something more to the oil industry than merely the manufacture and sale of petroleum products. Back in the gasoline pump, which is the public's principal point of contact with this vital industry, there is a stupendous activity of which the public is little aware — an activity which leads to the ends of the earth in a quest for new oil. The public hears much of success, of wells gushing quantities of "black gold." Of the failures, of the great financial risks, of the great losses which often must be borne, it knows very little.

The world moves on oil, and it is the obligation of those engaged in the industry never to permit supply to fall. Hence, the unceasing search, which nowadays goes far afield. This Company today has drilling parties in Alaska, Colombia, Ecuador, and Argentina, as well as in several states at home, while its geologists are scouring the earth for likely-looking territory.

Having heard reports of favorable surface conditions on the Bondoc Peninsula, the Company initiated its own geological survey in 1919. In the spring of 1920 it was recommended that the Company should drill, and lands were then acquired. In 1920 there was a shortage of oil on the Pacific Coast. California fields did not produce enough to meet the rapidly growing demand. Later, new fields were discovered here, which finally brought a condition of overproduction. But in 1920 a great task confronted this Company—that of keeping up an unflinching supply of petroleum to meet the requirements of the future. Hence it was decided to wild-cat at Bondoc.

In December, 1920, an expedition sailed from San Francisco for Manila. Everything necessary to life and work had to be shipped from California. The shipment ran to a thousand tons of material. The timber for the rigs, all machinery, road-building apparatus, and even the supply of Manila rope were placed aboard and transported across the Pacific, along with a field-hospital equipment. Twenty-five California oil-field workers composed the party.

The field of operations was in a wild, scarcely inhabited region of southern Luzon, well away from civilization, a tropical land of great heat and torrential rain, an area of typhoons, of fetid humidity and lurking disease, of snakes, monkeys and alligators, deer and wild pigs. Men and materials were lightered ashore at the mouth of the Pagsanghan River, and the first camp was built several miles from the sea. There were no roads; the area was covered with head-high nipa-grass. Bunkhouses were built—California style and design—and after weeks of labor drilling was begun, and a well called Amuguis No. 1 was "spudded in" on March 20, 1921.

For more than three years the work proceeded, steadily but with climatic interruptions. The rains brought floods; the typhoons were destructive. The first hole went to 1200 feet, and was abandoned on account of mechanical trouble. No oil. The second was drilled to 3750 feet. No oil. The third, the final great effort, went down to a depth of 5120 feet, almost a mile. No oil—and the end.

To the men of Bondoc goes great credit. It has been for these Californians a long, arduous, and hazardous job. While everything possible for health, recreation, and comfort was provided in this far-off place, it was still a wearisome task. The nearest barrijo was a dozen miles away and there only a handful of natives. White men seldom come that way. Frequently the roads were utterly impassable, even between the two Standard Oil camps which had been built, nine miles apart. Once isolation was complete for a month — the radio went out of commission, the intercamp telephone wire was blown down, and the road a deep mire. Disease, particularly malaria and dysentery, was an always-present menace, and some became ill, but as a whole health was good, due to proper sanitation. Of recreation there was little or none — some hunting when the rains allowed. During the wet season it was, for the most part, imprisonment in camp. Once two U. S. Army airplanes crashed near by—an exciting event.

The effort in the Philippines has been watched with great interest by the United States Government, numerous branches of which realized the vast importance of an American oil supply on the other side of the Pacific Ocean.

The failure to find oil at Bondoc does not prove that there is no oil in "the islands." It means that there is none in the area prospected. There is no oil to the north, in Japan, and to the south, in Borneo, and it may yet be found in the Philippine group, where there has been only one real drilling campaign — the one just finished.

WILL LAUNCH FINAL DRIVE ON NEW HOTEL

(Continued From Page 1) creational centers of the Pacific coast. The completion of the proposed new hotel will also add impetus to the growth of your city that will be of inestimable value.

"I mentioned failure in the beginning, but I desire to say to you that it is not in the vocabulary of the splendid men who are rendering yeoman service in this all-important movement, nor, nor do I recognize it. There are two reasons why the project will not fail: 1. It is being endorsed and carried on by an aggressive lot of fine fellows who are determined to win. 2. The fact that within a campaign barely covering a week, $140,000 was pledged in stock indicates conclusively that Ashland people recognize the worth of the improvement and will not see it fail.

"The goal is only a short distance away. With the live-wire sales force again in the field, and with the spirit of Ashland people thoroughly aroused, I am confident that in the last final and concentrated movement, the project will be put over, and to the everlasting credit of your community."
