HOARDED $400,000,000 IS DEAD-WEIGHT ON BUSINESS

By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

HOARDING is as unlike true thrift as a pile of iron ore is unlike a powerful locomotive.

The ore represents potential strength and power. But it must be put through certain processes of preparation and become ACTIVE before its usefulness is made available.

Hoarded wealth is a dead weight on business. Between the miser and the spendthrift, there is little to choose when they are placed on the scales of moral and social valuation.

The hoarding processes grade upward from the real misers to those who for various reasons hide away a share of their earnings rather than place it where it will flow through the regular channels of business.

Interesting and rather amazing figures were compiled recently in the United States Treasury Department. These figures reveal that the amount of money which may be termed as hoarded in this country amounts to $400,000,000. There are 8,000 persons who are definitely classed as misers with $4,000,000 hidden away in secret places.

Among our foreign population, a Treasury official estimates that some two million hoard $225,000,000 of their earnings. In rural districts, especially where banking facilities are inadequate, there is much hoarding. This is shown by the fact that when a bank is started in a rural locality where no bank existed before, personal deposits made up largely from hoarded sums at once begin to make their appearance.

About $125,000,000, it is officially estimated, is hoarded in rural communities.

One of the great benefits which come from thrift education lies in the fact that people are made to see that the mere hoarding of money is not thrift.

Real thrift is the elimination of waste. And within this definition hoarding must be considered wasteful because the individual loses the rightful income from his savings, and business in general loses the benefits that should come from these additions to the legitimate channels of trade and investment.

It is well to understand that when the saving of money is carried to the point of keeping it continually out of circulation such habits come very far from being within the rightful meaning of thrift.

GRANTS PASS, July 16.—At the convention of the United Spanish War veterans here yesterday afternoon, Dr. George F. A. Walker, of Scout Young camp, No. 2, Portland, was elected as commander of the Oregon department.

Portland was chosen as the convention city in 1925. Robert Sawyer, of Scout Young camp, was elected senior vice president, the post formerly held by Dr. Walker. Delegates to the national encampment at Michigan City, Ind., and other officers will be elected later.

Due to the turning out of the old soldiers' home at Roseburg of a Spanish war veteran, a resolution was adopted asking that the state board investigate the home.

GOV. PIERCE ORDERS MURDER INVESTIGATED

SALEM, July 16.—Governor Pierce has forwarded telegrams to the sheriff and district attorney of Coos county urging that they see every agency at their command in apprehending and bringing to justice the murderers of Timothy Pettis, colored, whose body was found in the waters of Coos Bay Sunday.

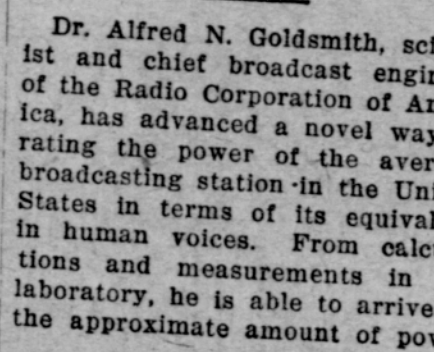

That the body of Pettis was thrown into the water after he died, was the testimony of Dr. Phil Keizer, North Bend physician, who performed a second autopsy at the request of negro residents of the city.

Stop Certificates Sales—Under instructions from the Department, the Ashland post-office yesterday suspended the sale of Treasury Savings Certificates. In the order issued no reason is assigned for the suspension, but it is understood that the lower interest rates now prevailing in the money markets is responsible, the government being able to secure money at a much less rate than the 4 1-2 per cent which these savings certificates offered.

NOTICE—REWARD Union Savings & Loan Association of Portland, Oregon, offers a reward of twenty-five ($25.00) for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons alleged to be circulating false and derogatory rumors concerning said Association. Statements known to have been made are utterly false and fraudulent. Union Savings & Loan Association, R. J. KIRKWOOD, President. 269-6

ONE BROADCASTER BEATS VOX POPULI

Dr. Alfred N. Goldsmith, scientist and chief broadcast engineer of the Radio Corporation of America, has advanced a novel way of rating the power of the average broadcasting station in the United States in terms of its equivalent in human voices. From calculations and measurements in his laboratory, he is able to arrive at the approximate amount of power which is expended when one carries on a conversation.

"The power of the human voice, in loud speech or song is only about one-millionth of a watt," he says. "This incredibly tiny amount of power is yet sufficient to be heard by the ear for a few hundred feet. The ear is, therefore, a most sensitive instrument and, in fact, is about as sensitive as the eye itself, so far as the amount of power required to give a definite sensation is concerned."

"But we have desired, in radio broadcasting, to extend the scope of the voice of man from a few hundred feet to hundreds of miles, or even thousands of miles. So that we have to produce an approximate one-horsepower voice, or, as it is more usually called, a 500-watt transmitting station. This means that we have to increase the power of the human voice over fifty billion times. In other words, if everyone on earth were to get together and shout at once, the voice power produced would still fall far short of the strength of the voice of a broadcasting station. In fact, the world's call would be only about one-thirtieth as strong as that of the broadcasting station. It is little wonder, therefore, that broadcasting stations can be heard so far under favorable conditions."

Stacking

By BERT BALL (National Crop Improvement Service.)

"THE farmer who earns a reputation for quality always has a market which brings more money than is paid to the careless man who pays little or no attention to grade. One of the prime necessities in selling a fine grade of grain for seed is to let it sweat in the stack. Often grain will grade higher and bring a premium if it has been stacked," says Mr. Dennis A. Merriman of the American Steel and Wire Co.

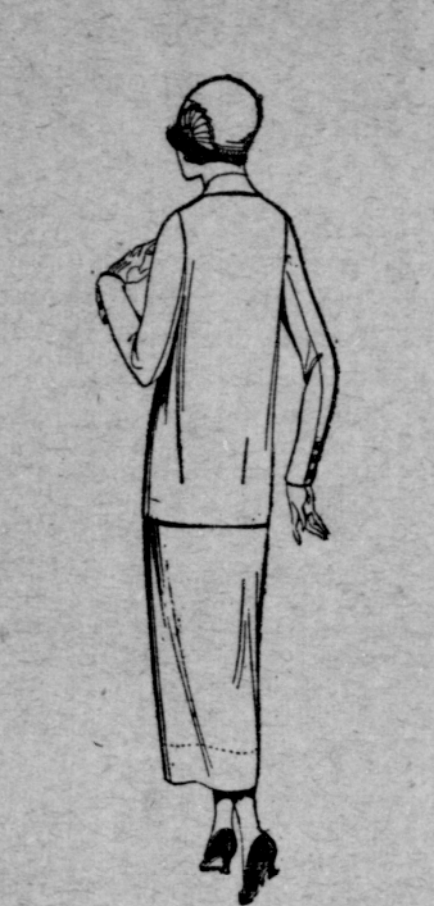

"Some state that stacking is an expensive process which does not bring an adequate return for the extra work. I do not agree with them. The grain has to be brought to the threshing, in either case the labor being the same, and the stack will save the quality, which is always in danger in the shock. Farm prices will never be restored except for quality. So why not stack?"

book to kiss before I died. I could not find it. Then he shot my wife, and when we struggled for the gun he shot himself."

Detectives and reporters who hurried to the Doris suite in a big white apartment house, owned by the accused man, found the typical "Babbitt" touches.

The two bodies were prone beside a purple couch, heavily laden with embroidered pillows. On the wall were typical "Babbitt" pictures—waterfalls and other scenic bits.

On the center table were four books—"Preservation of the Hermitage," an account of the efforts to reconstruct Andrew Jackson's birthplace; "Miss Lulu Bett," by Zona Gale; "Famous Americans of Recent Times," and "Practical Methods of Self-Development," by Elizabeth Towne, high priestess of the New Thought cult.

Inside Mrs. Doris' spectacle case was found the following, written on small cards:

"My mind is becoming empty of myself and I vibrate you, My Father, through every cell. My eyes see only You, and in everything I inhale a perfume of Your love. I hear Your voice calling me. Peace, be still. My blood, saturated with Your love, is purifying me entirely. I feel Your healing power through all the organs of my body, down through my legs to my feet, which are now standing on the Rock of Ages."
