

ASHLAND DAILY TIDINGS

(Established in 1876)

Published Every Evening Except Sunday by THE ASHLAND PRINTING CO.

Bert R. Greer Editor Telephone 29 George Madden Green Business Manager

OFFICIAL CITY PAPER Entered at the Ashland, Oregon Postoffice as Second Class Mail Matter

Subscription Price, Delivered in City. One Month $ .85, Three Months 2.35, Six Months 4.75, One Year 7.50. By Mail and Rural Routes: One Month $ .95, Three Months 2.85, Six Months 5.50, One Year 8.50.

DISPLAY ADVERTISING RATES: Single insertion, per inch $ .30. Yearly Contracts: One insertion a week .27 1/2, Two insertions a week .25, Daily insertion .20. Rates for Legal and Miscellaneous Advertising: First insertion, per 8 point line $ .10, Each subsequent insertion, 8 point line .05, Card of Thanks 1.00, Obituaries, per line .02 1/2.

WHAT CONSTITUTES ADVERTISING: "All future events, where an admission charge is made or a collection taken in Advertising. No discount will be allowed Religious or Benevolent orders.

DONATIONS: No donations to charities or otherwise will be made in advertising or job printing—our contributions will be in cash.

NEWS SUBSERVIENCY

The accusations against newspapers for letting the cash register control their editorial columns have been numerous—and in a lot of cases misleading as to the extent which this practice occurs—although in principle these accusations are sound.

One of the most recent, and also one of the most sound, is by Professor E. A. Ross of the University of Wisconsin, who stated:

"When the shares of a newspaper lie in the safe-deposit box cheek by jowl with gas, telephone and pipeline stock, a tenderness for these collateral interests is likely to affect the news columns."

There are newspapers in all sections of the country today in which the news department does not function until the business and advertising departments have been consulted, but, as a whole, American newspapers have news departments which in a crisis do not hesitate to speak right out even though it might step on the toes of a good customer of the business department. The average newspaper handled as a business proposition, the same as a drug store or hardware store, trying to satisfy its patrons as general merchandise purveyors do, but the average publisher knows that, unless he keeps his news and editorial columns free and not subservient to the business department, the downfall of the newspaper's character is certain to come.

OUR COUNTY FAIR

Reports from officials of the Jackson County Fair and Pear Show indicate one of the most exciting race programs, one of the most stupendous exhibits of Southern Oregon pears which the fair and pear show has ever arranged.

Of course, everybody anticipates nothing except the most superlative statements when one is speaking of a fair or race meet, the usual statement "Bigger and Better Than Ever" being almost a classic and familiar to everybody. However, the officials of the fair this year "have the goods" to prove their statement, as, for instance, the largest number of fleet race horses which have ever been brought to the Jackson County Fair and other substantiating evidence.

There is something fascinating about a fair and race meet, which, strengthened by the educational features which fairs now include, makes them ever popular and worthwhile. This fascination, primarily, is the gang spirit that is found in most human beings, the love of gathering together for discussion, for renewing old acquaintances and for swapping stories.

Some of us may have said once that we would not attend another fair, but the chances are that we will all be there when the gates open, or at least sometime during the period of the show.

TELEPHONE INFALLIBILITY

That telephone service will never be perfect is the statement of a telephone official at a gathering in Portland. The public has been surprised during the last few decades by so many startling inventions and announcements of improved service, and so many accounts of remarkable and heroic deeds by public service company employees that perfect telephone service may be expected by the patrons, so this official issued this statement:

"Even though the telephone user can obtain a connection to any city in the United States, one failure in a local connection will, at times, cause him to condemn the whole system. We must educate the public to the knowledge that telephone employees are not, and cannot be, 100 per cent perfect than can any other business employees."

RAILROADS AND BUSES

"Buses alone are not responsible for this loss of business, as the privately owned automobile is a big factor. Recently we made a house-to-house canvass of the communities affected by these reductions to warn the traveling public what result of lack of patronage would be. The canvass failed to bring results," was the statement of a Southern Pacific official following the announcement that ten of the Red electric trains out of Portland would be cut off the schedule.

Railroads in all parts of the nation are facing the same situation. Some are adding buses in competition to the bus lines which have reduced their passenger patronage, while in some instances the railroads are merely cutting down the number of trains in proportion to the passenger decrease. It is of course impossible to counterbalance or overcome the reduction which the privately-owned automobile is bringing, but they do feel now that they can meet the service of the busses.

SATISFIED WITH OREGON

We are now more satisfied to live in this section than where, as recently in North Ohio, hundreds were killed and there was great devastation during a tornado. This is where a man goes to bed at night and knows about where he will be when he awakens in the morning. And that terrible cold and blizzards east of us! No, no; give us Oregon, particularly the Willamette valley. And even here there is growing because it is not just heaven, to which the grumblers do not seem to want an introduction just yet, preferring, of course, regardless of its little drawbacks, this region of peace and haven of refuge.—Woodburn Independent.

MAYOR LOOMIS

Charlie Loomis is no more. Ashland has lost a splendid citizen and a good mayor.

It is given to few to suffer as he has for such a long period. More than twenty years ago, falling from the roof of a home he was building himself he suffered paralysis of the lower limbs and was confined the rest of his life to a wheel chair. His life was a fine example to young and old. His fortitude and jovial good nature in his affliction was an inspiration.

The Tidings renders full appreciation of Mr. Loomis both as a citizen and city official. His administration as mayor has been marked by progressive, intelligent, town building activity. We are glad that Ashland saw fit, during his life, to so honor a man like Charley Loomis. He was capable and deserving. The Tidings is gratified in the part it took in raising him to his position of distinction. He made good.

East side school students will miss Mr. Loomis' cheery smile and happy greeting. He has served them in his confectionery department for the past fifteen years. He has encouraged many a student through the several grades and rejoiced with their parents in their honorable graduation. Everybody will miss him.

Gutta Percha first came into prominence for use in making golf balls in 1845. Flappers are still under the impression that it is a new ice cream sundae.

The first vaudeville act was in 1136 B. C., when Samson did an act that brought down the house.

Henry Ford evidently doesn't care who makes the nation's laws, as long as he can make its automobiles.

Someone asks about the book agents who used to be so numerous. They are all out selling automobile accessories.

Net results of the scientific study of Mars: The planet is inhabited. The planet is not inhabited. It is a fact that radio signals from Mars were heard. The idea that radio signals were transmitted from Mars is childish.

Chicago Stockyards Ship Bones to China to Make Mah Jongg Sets

MAKING MAH JONGG SETS

The secret is out at last. Chicago, the home of the far-famed stockyards, is also the original home of mah jongg, the Chinese game that swept the United States like wild fire as one of America's latest fads.

Chinese craftsmen, beset by the unprecedented demand for mah jongg sets in the United States, long ago used up the last shin-bones of Chinese cows in making the "tiles" used in the ancient Chinese game, and in order to supply the demand began importing shin-bones from the Chicago stockyards, good old-fashioned cows from Nebraska, Texas, Idaho or other cattle-raising states that never knew they would be utilized for anything else than roast beef or Yankee pot roast.

Shipments of bone from Chicago to Shanghai, the center of the mah jongg industry in China, now total many hundreds of tons, and because of the demand the price of cow shin bones has jumped to unprecedented high points.

Only the shin bones are used in making mah jongg tiles. The bones, as shown in the photograph (on the right) are sawed into pieces an inch long. The man on the left then chips each piece into four square pieces—and the mah jongg tile-to-be is started on its way to be squared, polished, carved, colored and set with a bamboo back.

NEWS LETTER

A Chronicle of Events Occurring in World Centers of Population

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Americans are rapidly becoming "the life of the party" in English society, it seems.

Every year finds more and more Americans participating in the various English social seasons.

The Cowes Regatta this year was marked by brilliant American entertainment. Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt gave a party on board the yacht Atlantic, and Miss Grace Vanderbilt was almost constantly seen at the functions at the Royal Yacht Squadron Clubhouse.

Mrs. Henry Davison, of New York, gave numberless parties at Egypt House, and Mrs. Urban Broughton, of Washington, entertained on the yacht Sapphire, giving a dance on deck, with music transmitted by radio from the Savoy Hotel in London.

The big trek to the Scottish moors found Americans in the vanguard. Some of the best of the Scottish moors were rented for the grouse shooting season by Americans.

Cass Gilbert, well-known New York architect, reversed the usual order of things, however, and spent the early summer months in Scotland and came to London for late August.

Mr. and Mrs. Aksel Wichfield have taken Blair Castle, in Perthshire, for the third season in succession. Mrs. Wichfield was Miss Eleanor Swift, of Boston.

George Cole Scott, of Richmond Va., with Mrs. Scott and their daughter, has taken Castle Forbe, Aberdeenshire.

The Duke of Richmond has rented Glenfiddich Lodge to Robert H. McCurdie, of New York.

Perhaps the most northern American tenants are Colonel and Mrs. Lloyd Griscom, of New York who have taken Thurso Castle, at the tip-top peak of Scotland.

English society sometimes gets a smile out of its American guests.

Just now they are telling the story of an enthusiastic American who was so anxious to introduce two of the best-known American hostesses—Mrs. Harry Brown, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, of New York—that he emulated an announcer at the National Sporting Club.

"Mrs. Vanderbilt of Spencer House, meet Mrs. Brown of Norfolk House," the enthusiastic introducer said, while the by-standers struggled to stifle their snickers.

The Sunday morning church parade in Hyde Park has taken on a new and intriguing allurement. Fashionable London women and cosmopolitan visitors are no longer content with an ordinary dog as a companion, but are seeking more unusual pets. Mrs. E. D. Brandegee, of Boston, caused some surprise with a small cheetah on leash, while Lady Ross, of Carstairs (formerly Miss Patricia Ellison, of Kentucky), took a small tree-bear from West Africa out for an airing.

Queen Alexandra will make a farewell visit to London in October. Because of her advanced age and weakening strength, she has practically given up Marlborough House and remains in semi-seclusion at Sandringham. The Prince of Wales refuses to take over his grandmother's palace, however, and the Queen Mother still has a London home. In October she will come to town for a few days and will gather some of her treasures from Marlborough House and take them with her to Sandringham, where probably she will spend the rest of her days.

Marlborough House then probably will remain tenantless, for the Prince doesn't want it. The Duke and Duchess of York, who are off to Kenya for a visit in November, can't afford to keep up the place, and probably it will fall back to the King, who will offer its hospitality to other members of the royal family who are now living at Kensington Palace.

"The American husband treats his wife as a sort of doll," she said. "He buys her all the costumes she wants, thus making American women the best dressed in the world."

"Better dressed than the Parisians" somebody asked. "Oh, yes!" Mary Borden answered. "The French women dress well and have considerable charm, but they are less beautiful to begin with than the American women, and certainly they do not wear such marvelous costumes as one sees in America now. I had dinner at a Fifth avenue hotel last night and I was amazed. Some of the costumes were extravagant, but not one was unbecoming."

Garbed in a modish Paisley gown and wearing a smart plumed turban, Miss Borden said that English wives' costumes usually ranked low in the category of beautiful. This was due to many things. In the first place, the English husband regarded his wife as a companion and expected her to go into public affairs. She had to make speeches and series of such high recurrent temperatures that these organisms will be killed. A high temperature is necessary, and nothing except the injection of the malaria germs has been found successful previously.

The malaria is checked and counterbalanced by judicious doses of quinine throughout the treatment.

Prominent English medical authorities believe that the treatment opens up an entirely new field of medical research and that the doctors who have conducted the experiments as men of great courage.

The next step will be to test the effect of the malaria organisms on other deadly fevers and diseases.

AMERICAN WIFE IS BEST DRESSED SAYS ENGLISH NOVELIST

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—American wives are dolls, was the opinion expressed by Mary Borden, English novelist.

The wife of Brigadier-General William E. Spears, of the British Army, has come to her native land—America—to mark its changes since 1913, when she was last here.

"The American husband treats his wife as a sort of doll," she said. "He buys her all the costumes she wants, thus making American women the best dressed in the world."

"Better dressed than the Parisians" somebody asked. "Oh, yes!" Mary Borden answered. "The French women dress well and have considerable charm, but they are less beautiful to begin with than the American women, and certainly they do not wear such marvelous costumes as one sees in America now. I had dinner at a Fifth avenue hotel last night and I was amazed. Some of the costumes were extravagant, but not one was unbecoming."

Garbed in a modish Paisley gown and wearing a smart plumed turban, Miss Borden said that English wives' costumes usually ranked low in the category of beautiful. This was due to many things. In the first place, the English husband regarded his wife as a companion and expected her to go into public affairs. She had to make speeches and had to inform herself politically and to go in for sports, and if her husband had property, found it also necessary to keep the accounts and look after the tenants and a few other things.

Miss Borden went to France in 1913, and when the war broke out took up hospital work. During the Somme campaign she met General Spears and they were married in Paris. In 1920 she published her first novel, called "The Romantic Wife." The other novels followed, one of which contains a literary portrait thought by many to be modeled on Count Doni de Castellane. She is a friend of Bernard Shaw, Rose Macaulay, May Sinclair and other literary figures.

COSTLY TO BE "LADY" ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 28.—It costs sixty-four cents more a year to be a "lady" in Blair County than it does to be a "housewife."

This is the ruling of the County Commissioners in fixing the occupation tax and as a result "ladies" will pay $1.13, while housewives will pay 49 cents.

And bricklayers get the classification of professional men, because they are making as much money.

had to inform herself politically and to go in for sports, and if her husband had property, found it also necessary to keep the accounts and look after the tenants and a few other things.

Miss Borden went to France in 1913, and when the war broke out took up hospital work. During the Somme campaign she met General Spears and they were married in Paris. In 1920 she published her first novel, called "The Romantic Wife." The other novels followed, one of which contains a literary portrait thought by many to be modeled on Count Doni de Castellane. She is a friend of Bernard Shaw, Rose Macaulay, May Sinclair and other literary figures.

"The American husband treats his wife as a sort of doll," she said. "He buys her all the costumes she wants, thus making American women the best dressed in the world."

"Better dressed than the Parisians" somebody asked. "Oh, yes!" Mary Borden answered. "The French women dress well and have considerable charm, but they are less beautiful to begin with than the American women, and certainly they do not wear such marvelous costumes as one sees in America now. I had dinner at a Fifth avenue hotel last night and I was amazed. Some of the costumes were extravagant, but not one was unbecoming."

Garbed in a modish Paisley gown and wearing a smart plumed turban, Miss Borden said that English wives' costumes usually ranked low in the category of beautiful. This was due to many things. In the first place, the English husband regarded his wife as a companion and expected her to go into public affairs. She had to make speeches and had to inform herself politically and to go in for sports, and if her husband had property, found it also necessary to keep the accounts and look after the tenants and a few other things.

Miss Borden went to France in 1913, and when the war broke out took up hospital work. During the Somme campaign she met General Spears and they were married in Paris. In 1920 she published her first novel, called "The Romantic Wife." The other novels followed, one of which contains a literary portrait thought by many to be modeled on Count Doni de Castellane. She is a friend of Bernard Shaw, Rose Macaulay, May Sinclair and other literary figures.

COSTLY TO BE "LADY" ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 28.—It costs sixty-four cents more a year to be a "lady" in Blair County than it does to be a "housewife."

This is the ruling of the County Commissioners in fixing the occupation tax and as a result "ladies" will pay $1.13, while housewives will pay 49 cents.

And bricklayers get the classification of professional men, because they are making as much money.

had to inform herself politically and to go in for sports, and if her husband had property, found it also necessary to keep the accounts and look after the tenants and a few other things.

Miss Borden went to France in 1913, and when the war broke out took up hospital work. During the Somme campaign she met General Spears and they were married in Paris. In 1920 she published her first novel, called "The Romantic Wife." The other novels followed, one of which contains a literary portrait thought by many to be modeled on Count Doni de Castellane. She is a friend of Bernard Shaw, Rose Macaulay, May Sinclair and other literary figures.

COSTLY TO BE "LADY" ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 28.—It costs sixty-four cents more a year to be a "lady" in Blair County than it does to be a "housewife."

This is the ruling of the County Commissioners in fixing the occupation tax and as a result "ladies" will pay $1.13, while housewives will pay 49 cents.

And bricklayers get the classification of professional men, because they are making as much money.

had to inform herself politically and to go in for sports, and if her husband had property, found it also necessary to keep the accounts and look after the tenants and a few other things.

Miss Borden went to France in 1913, and when the war broke out took up hospital work. During the Somme campaign she met General Spears and they were married in Paris. In 1920 she published her first novel, called "The Romantic Wife." The other novels followed, one of which contains a literary portrait thought by many to be modeled on Count Doni de Castellane. She is a friend of Bernard Shaw, Rose Macaulay, May Sinclair and other literary figures.

COSTLY TO BE "LADY" ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 28.—It costs sixty-four cents more a year to be a "lady" in Blair County than it does to be a "housewife."

This is the ruling of the County Commissioners in fixing the occupation tax and as a result "ladies" will pay $1.13, while housewives will pay 49 cents.

And bricklayers get the classification of professional men, because they are making as much money.

had to inform herself politically and to go in for sports, and if her husband had property, found it also necessary to keep the accounts and look after the tenants and a few other things.

Miss Borden went to France in 1913, and when the war broke out took up hospital work. During the Somme campaign she met General Spears and they were married in Paris. In 1920 she published her first novel, called "The Romantic Wife." The other novels followed, one of which contains a literary portrait thought by many to be modeled on Count Doni de Castellane. She is a friend of Bernard Shaw, Rose Macaulay, May Sinclair and other literary figures.

COSTLY TO BE "LADY" ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 28.—It costs sixty-four cents more a year to be a "lady" in Blair County than it does to be a "housewife."

This is the ruling of the County Commissioners in fixing the occupation tax and as a result "ladies" will pay $1.13, while housewives will pay 49 cents.

And bricklayers get the classification of professional men, because they are making as much money.

had to inform herself politically and to go in for sports, and if her husband had property, found it also necessary to keep the accounts and look after the tenants and a few other things.

Miss Borden went to France in 1913, and when the war broke out took up hospital work. During the Somme campaign she met General Spears and they were married in Paris. In 1920 she published her first novel, called "The Romantic Wife." The other novels followed, one of which contains a literary portrait thought by many to be modeled on Count Doni de Castellane. She is a friend of Bernard Shaw, Rose Macaulay, May Sinclair and other literary figures.

COSTLY TO BE "LADY" ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 28.—It costs sixty-four cents more a year to be a "lady" in Blair County than it does to be a "housewife."

This is the ruling of the County Commissioners in fixing the occupation tax and as a result "ladies" will pay $1.13, while housewives will pay 49 cents.

And bricklayers get the classification of professional men, because they are making as much money.

had to inform herself politically and to go in for sports, and if her husband had property, found it also necessary to keep the accounts and look after the tenants and a few other things.

Miss Borden went to France in 1913, and when the war broke out took up hospital work. During the Somme campaign she met General Spears and they were married in Paris. In 1920 she published her first novel, called "The Romantic Wife." The other novels followed, one of which contains a literary portrait thought by many to be modeled on Count Doni de Castellane. She is a friend of Bernard Shaw, Rose Macaulay, May Sinclair and other literary figures.

COSTLY TO BE "LADY" ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 28.—It costs sixty-four cents more a year to be a "lady" in Blair County than it does to be a "housewife."

This is the ruling of the County Commissioners in fixing the occupation tax and as a result "ladies" will pay $1.13, while housewives will pay 49 cents.

And bricklayers get the classification of professional men, because they are making as much money.

had to inform herself politically and to go in for sports, and if her husband had property, found it also necessary to keep the accounts and look after the tenants and a few other things.

Miss Borden went to France in 1913, and when the war broke out took up hospital work. During the Somme campaign she met General Spears and they were married in Paris. In 1920 she published her first novel, called "The Romantic Wife." The other novels followed, one of which contains a literary portrait thought by many to be modeled on Count Doni de Castellane. She is a friend of Bernard Shaw, Rose Macaulay, May Sinclair and other literary figures.

MILL TO RESUME WORK REEDSPORT, Aug. 28.—The Winchester Bay Lumber company mill, after two months' idleness, will resume operation immediately after Labor day. The mill's planing equipment has been operated the greater part of the time. Notice that the mill is to operate again was given out following a visit here last week-end by John Kiernan of Portland, president of the company.

Puretest Rubbing Alcohol

An excellent rubbing alcohol, which can safely be used externally in any quantity.

Recommended for bruises, sprains, soreness and stiffness of joints—to reduce fever, etc.

Contains 85 per cent pure Ethyl alcohol.

McNair Brothers 222 Recall Drug Store

For Economical Transportation

Specifications OF THE Superior Model

Engineering Specifications MOTOR: Four-cylinder, valve-in-head type, 3 11-16" bore, 4" stroke. CYLINDERS: Cast in bloc (including upper half of crank case). Head detachable. VALVES: 1 1-2" diameter. CONNECTING ROD BEARINGS: 1 3-8" diameter, 1 7-8" long. CRANKSHAFT BEARINGS: Front, 1 3-8" diameter, 2 5-16" long; Center 1 21-32" diameter, 1 1-2" long; Rear, 1 3-4" diameter, 2 11-16" long. CAMSHAFT BEARINGS: Front, 1 5-16" diameter, 2 3-8" long; Center 1 9-32" diameter, 2" long; Rear, 1 1-4" diameter, 1 7-16" long. OILING SYSTEM: Splash, gear pump and individual oil pockets. Pressure to center bearing. Oil pressure gauge on instrument board. CARBURETOR: Zenith, or Holley. FUEL: Suction feed; 10 1-2-gallon tank in rear, all passenger models. IGNITION: New Improved Remy. STARTER AND GENERATOR: Remy. CLUTCH: Cone type with adjustable compensating springs. TRANSMISSION: Selective type, sliding gear; three speeds forward, and reverse. COOLING: Water pump and fan; extra size honeycomb radiator. FRONT AXLE: Drop-forged I-beam. New Departure ball bearings. REAR AXLE: Semi-floating type. Special spiral-cut bevel driving gears. Heavy duty New Departure annular ball bearings and Hyatt roller bearings. IMPROVED BRAKES: Service, external contracting on 11" rear wheel brake drums. Emergency, hand control, internal expanding in 11" rear wheel brake drums. WHEELS: Wood spoke, artillery type, large hub flanges, steel felloe, demountable rims. TIRES: 2 3/4 x 1 1/2", non-skid straight side cord tires are standard equipment on all closed models. DRIVE: Left side; gear shift and emergency brake levers in center; steering wheel has electric horn button in center, with spark and throttle levers underneath; foot accelerator. STEERING GEAR: Improved worm and gear, 16" steering wheel. SPRINGS: Chrome - Vanad um steel, quarter-elliptic type front and rear. WHEELBASE: 103". WEIGHTS: Roadster, 1690 lbs.; Touring 1790 lbs.; Utility Coupe 1875 lbs.; 4-Pass. Coupe 2040 lbs.; Sedan 2065 lbs. Equipment Standard equipment includes generator, starter and electric lights connected to the battery, drum type legal headlamps, speedometer, oil pressure gauge, ammeter, dash light, demountable rims with extra rim, tire carrier, license holders, double adjustable windshield, complete tool equipment and on open models, one-man top and side curtains which open with the doors. Closed models equipped with straight side cord tires, sun visor, and windshield wiper. We reserve the right to make changes in design or construction at any time. Prices subject to change without notice.

Kate Jordan's punch-filled drama of a wife's false step and a husband's faith. Played by a remarkable cast. Splendidly produced against romantic settings of Paris, Spain and South America.

THE NEXT CORNER. With CONWAY TEARLE, LON CHANEY, DOROTHY MACKAILL, RICARDO CORTES, LOUISE DRESSER. Kate Jordan's punch-filled drama of a wife's false step and a husband's faith. Played by a remarkable cast. Splendidly produced against romantic settings of Paris, Spain and South America.

Before You're Victimized

The time to lock the barn door is before the horse is stolen. And the time to protect your bank balance is before a check crook draws it.

By means of raised checks, forged endorsements and forged signatures, bands of clever check criminals steal over fifty millions dollars from American bank depositors yearly. Why take this needless risk? For a few dollars you can secure a Check Forgery and Alteration Policy which will safeguard your checking funds. Let us tell you more about this form of protection.

Billings Agency Real Estate & Real Insurance Estab. 1883 41 E. Main St. Phone 211

O. D. Wool Long Pants

in small and large sizes

Guns, ammunition, hunting and fishing licenses

Army Goods Store

Biggest Little Store in Ashland

Spend Your Week-End at the OREGON CAVES Resort

(Sunday and Labor Day)

If you have not already visited these wonderful caverns with passage-ways, large rooms, and magnificent stalactite formations through the marble rock which nature has been building for many thousands of years, you have missed one of the major scenic attractions of the Pacific Coast.

Guide service and lamps are provided at the nominal cost of fifty cents a person.

At the Resort is a commodious dining-room, in charge of members of the Home Economics Department of the Oregon Agricultural College. Breakfast, 75c; luncheon, $1.00; dinner, $1.00.

Also, tent-houses are provided with beds equal to those of a first-class hotel.

Join us in song and story around the big Campfire, where jolly parties gather each night.

A. C. Spark Plugs

For Your Car This is the spark plug which guarantees the best service.

Free Crank Case Service

Shell Oils and Greases

W. & N. Service Station On The Boulevard

FISH For Your Friday Dinner

The best the Market affords

Eagle Market

N. Main Phone 107