HUNTER SHOOT AT CROW, KILLS WOMAN IN TREE

PARIS, Sept. 12.—M. Fernand Lapeyriere, a Parisian architect, has accidentally killed a woman in tragic circumstances.

While on a holiday near Fontainebleau he shot at a crow and afterwards found that he had killed a peasant woman of 63, who was in a tree picking cherries.

Her body hung suspended in the branches and a ladder had to be brought to lower her to the ground. She had been shot in the heart.

GRAM MAKES REPORT ON LABOR OUTLOOK

Following is a report according to districts or localities of seasonal employment conditions:

PORTLAND—Considerable activity in building construction. Increased movement in water shipments, giving employment to several hundred extra longshore workers; also demand for labor to do short jobs, showing considerable improvement over last week.

GRESHAM—Supply just about equal to demand. Cucumber harvest is now on, also blackberry. Indications point toward sufficient held to handle.

HOOD RIVER—Just at present there is a surplus of workers for the apple and pear picking season which is just commencing.

The apple and pear harvest will commence in earnest here about the twentieth of this month. The indications now are that we will have an abundance of help to harvest our coming crop of apples.

McMINNVILLE—Slight surplus for hop and prune picking, which is now in progress. There is a surplus of workers among those who are sticklers for big wages and not overly anxious to work.

CORVALLIS—No shortage of workers. Surplus if anything, many transients. Hop picking is now on in some of the yards, but begins in full next week. We believe the crop can be handled by the local workers.

EUGENE—The demand for common labor on construction work has been strong all week, both in and out of the city. The supply for prune pickers about equals the demand. There is some shortage in hop pickers.

MARSHFIELD—While there is a surplus of common labor more men are being employed in the lumber industries than at any time for the last four months. Several small logging camps are resuming operations and others will commence as soon as the rains eliminate the fire hazard.

PENDLETON—Harvest is completed in this vicinity.

LA GRANDE—There is a surplus of workers at present.

A frost-proof water closet

—Is a convenient and practical fixture to have installed in any out-building.

No doubt you have often thought of putting a water closet in your garage; but you hesitated because you were afraid the cold weather would put it out of commission.

We install sanitary frost-proof water closets that remain in service in all weathers.

TINSELS LEND THEIR RADIANCE TO FORMAL OCCASIONS

Leatrice Joy in 'The Marriage Cheat'

FASHIONS and functions have a way of reflecting each others' characteristics. Judging by the advance reports, this will be a season of unparalleled brilliance, for never have fabrics been as gorgeous as those originated for the Fall and Winter. Tinsels, especially, will lend their brilliance to formal occasions this winter. There are tinsels in gold and silver, tinsels on satin surface, on crepe grounds, and printed tinsels. Particularly favored for evening wear are the tinsel brocades, such as used in this elaborate and beautiful evening mantle, which combines a blue and silver brocaded upper portion, with a founce and lower sleeves of plain blue. The blue is one of the new rich Chinese blues, called Mandarin, and the omnipresent Chinese influence is also apparent in the wide, loose sleeves. Ermine adds its richness to the ensemble.

The notable features about the new tinsel fabrics according to Henri Creange, Cheney authority, is that their threads are so heavily plated that the chances of tarnishing are reduced to a minimum, and they are so supple for all their brilliance that they can almost pass through the traditional wedding ring of the fairy stories.

It is interesting to note that the line of this wrap, with its wide founce follows the silhouette of the dresses over which it is worn, and which fashion has at last allowed to deviate slightly from the straight and narrow line.

Claridge's have caused some heartburnings, for royalty has been frequently represented at her parties.

The departure of Consul-General and Mrs. Robert P. Skinner for Paris has brought a round of social activities in American circles. The Consul-General had the first of a series of vaudeictory banquets at the Berkeley soon after his transfer was announced, and a long list of further entertainments are scheduled.

American women seem to glitter and sparkle everywhere in London this season. Mrs. Robert Mason Talbot, of Atlantic City, gave the Savoy habitues a thrill when she appeared in a skull cap of metallic fabric, fitted tightly over her shingled head, allowing only a minimum of hair to show.

Miss Mary Van Demeer, of White Plains, N. Y., attracted considerable attention with a complete yoke of glittering stones. Mrs. Wade Hunt, of Chicago, wore her hair brought round from the neck and fastened under the chin with a diamond ornament—a striking idea for cold winter nights.

Ambassador Kellogg has been

NEWS LETTER

A Chronicle of Events Occurring in World Centers of Population

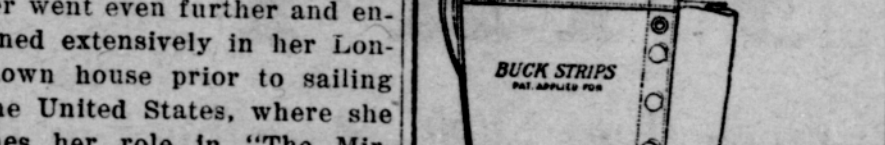

LONDON, Sept. 12.—English society is breaking down age-long customs. For centuries the "best people" have not dared to show their faces in London in August. This year there have been many who have refused to leave town for the months when all social regulations said they should be in Scotland or at the fashionable French watering places.

Lady Astor flouted convention and decided to spend August and September at her wonderful Thameside Cliveden. Lady Diana Cooper went even further and entertained extensively in her London town house prior to sailing for the United States, where she resumes her role in "The Miracle."

The King had an American hostess during the shooting season, when he was the guest of Lord and Lady Ancaster at Drummond Castle, with the Duke of York and Prince Henry. Lady Ancaster was formerly Miss Eloise Breeze, of New York, and she has become one of London's most prolific entertainers, and during the winter season the invitation lists for her parties at
