PRISON NEEDS JUMP; ASKING $45,000 MORE SALEM, September 14—It will cost approximately $378,024 to conduct the Oregon state penitentiary during the next biennium, starting January 1, 1925, according to an estimate filed with the state budget commission by A. M. Dalrymple, warden of the institution.

The actual cost of conducting the prison during the present biennium was $330,015.99, or more than $45,000 less than the amount to be sought at the next session of the legislature. The proposed increase in the cost of operating the penitentiary, it was said, is due to various improvements, both within and outside the walls of the institution. Approximately $19,000 was included in the budget for 1925 and 1926 to purchase fire fighting equipment, which was recommended by a special committee appointed by the governor to investigate hazards at the prison.

Estimated expenditures out of the prison revolving fund during the next two years was fixed at $262,638.38, with receipts estimated at $265,108.53. Under a law enacted at the last session of the legislature a revolving fund of $100,000 was appropriated with which to operate prison industries. Only recently it was necessary for the governor to borrow $25,000 from another fund to tide over the emergency resulting from the inability of the warden to realize on this year's industrial output.

NEWBURG MAYOR IS WON BY DEFENSE IDEA SALEM, Sept. 15. — "Private Enos A. Ellis, company B, 162d infantry, 82d brigade — enlisted for September 12 only. Residence Newburg. Occupation, mayor." This legend on a recruiting card, received by Brigadier-General A. White from Captain D. D. Hall, National guard recruiting officer at Portland, caused a gasp of amazement at National guard headquarters, since Mayor Ellis had gone on record as being the only Oregon mayor opposed to the Defense day test.

Mayor Ellis explained to Captain Hall, who went from Portland to enlist him in the service, that he had not changed his mind in the least in the matter of holding a nation-wide mobilization, but that he felt he was as patriotic as any citizen, and since the test was being held and volunteers enrolled, he would do the same thing he would do in a war emergency, that was forced on the country — offer his services in some capacity to the government.

The enlistment was verified over the long distance telephone this afternoon, Mayor Ellis saying that he is a man of peace, opposed as all citizens are to war, but that when a national crisis occurs his first duty is to his country.

FLIERS ARE GIVEN OVATION AT CHICAGO CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 15.—The three American army round-the-world fliers landed here at 12:55 noon, while sirens, gongs, whistles and every noise-making device Chicago citizens could rake up, gave them a rousing welcome.

Traffic was virtually suspended, automobiles, and street cars stopping while passengers and workmen gazed skyward and took up the cry, "There they are."

The fliers left Dayton at 10 o'clock this morning and reported an uneventful trip to the Windy City. They will rest here as they will in all the principal cities they touch enroute to Seattle where the world circling trip will end. Elaborate ceremonies have been planned to entertain and honor the fliers while here.

DAVIS FLAYS THE REPUBLICANS IN HIS TALK AT PICNIC

DUNCETON, Mo., Sept. 15.—Charging the "Republican party with placing special privilege, greed and corruption in high office, John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for the president, delivered a smashing attack upon the Harding-Coolidge administration today in his drive to capture the grain belt area's vote.

Speaking before 75,000 Missourians at a barbecue held on the farm of Dr. Nelson, Democratic candidate for governor of Missouri, the Democratic chieftain drew a wide campaign issue between his own pledge of "honesty in government" and the record of the Republican scandals. The barbecue, which was attended by many state and national leaders, was a gala affair and the large audience paid strict attention to every word the Democratic candidate for president uttered.

Under existing conditions to be most of all impressed with the mushroom-like growth of auto camps along the public highways.

"Many camps, however, are operated solely for profit by persons who want only to get what they can out of the tourist," he said.

"What the communities of the state need most now is leadership in the appraisal of their resources, and opportunities; leadership in the matter of holding tourists long enough to make the acquainted with these resources and leadership in the way of presenting these resources with the view of inducing new settlement throughout the state."

New Spirit Indicated Mr. Vining mentioned the co-operative box factory and hotel plans at Ashland, the lumber and orchard development at Medford, the hotel and irrigation plans at Grants Pass, the general development at Klamath Falls, new highway and lumber work on Coos bay and keener appreciation of the Oregon, as typical instances of the new spirit of community activity and pride that had developed within the last year as a result largely of state chamber work.

"Oregon communities," said Mr. Vining, "also have come to a new realization that self-help is the best help. They are not waiting now for outside capital to come in and invest. Local men are investing their own capital in new activities and so creating new enterprises that naturally attract outside investment."

four fastest drivers in the first event, Marasco again easily won, with Cook second, Harvey third and Owens fourth. Time, 9 minutes, 33 4-5 seconds. Prizes, $150, $100, $75 and $50.

The 20-lap classic, the last event on the program was between the eight fastest cars in event one. Those who entered were, De Palma, Hearne, Lyons, Marasco, Cook and Walker.

The race started out with De Palma and Hearne staging a real battle for first honors, with De Palma holding the edge, but in the 7th lap one of the tires on DePalma's car went bad. He was going too fast on the next round to stop, so when he did stop in the 9th lap the fire was in shreds.

The mechanics, waiting with an extra wheel, had De Palma back in the race in 31 seconds, but Hearne, due to the fact DePalma had to make the last lap with the old tire at a slow rate and because of the 31 seconds delay, had gained more than a lap on the veteran, which he could not overcome, although he drove the race of his life until the finish, ending third. Hearne was first, Lyons second and Marasco fourth. Time 17 minutes, 12 2-5 seconds. Purses $500, $350, $200 and $100. De Palma, no doubt, would have won this event except for the tire trouble.

The audience was enthusiastic throughout the program and displayed a keen interest in the races, of the Board of the American Automobile Association.
