SPEED

(By C. R. Haines in the Cornhill Magazine, London.)

Millenniums loitered on their way And Time's grey wings seem'd furled While Nature without haste or stay Peopled the nascent world.

The monsters waddled on the land Or swallowed in the sea, And pterodactyls aeroplan'd On broad vans lazily.

The heavy-gaited tortoise slept A thousand winters through And giant-efts by inches crept Each hour a mile or two.

By tedious steps through cycles slow From ape advanced to man, The cavern dwellers with his bow Our wondrous race began.

The Calm Greek in his leisured home Wrought works the gods might claim And wise unhurrying royal Rome Did deeds beyond all fame.

But now our dream is speed and speed, With truth the mocker sings That whirl is lord and kind indeed And ousts all good-like things.

'Faster and faster' still we cry, No matter what the goal; We hurry, hurry until we die, Nor once possess our soul.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS Friday, Sept. 27. Bellevue Parent-Teacher Association meets at the Bellevue School. Eight o'clock.

Entertains—Mrs. W. C. Baldwin and children recently entertained with a candy pull at her home on California street. The enjoyable affair was given in honor of Lucile Anderson of Eugene, who is returning soon to her home after spending a six weeks vacation in Ashland. Each one present pulled his own portion of taffy. The afternoon was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The guests were Lucile Anderson, Mrs. C. Shutt, Miss Mary Spencer, Esther Spencer, Mrs. Trusty, Waldo, Roscoe and Gerald Trusty, Mrs. S. Yarian, daisy, Earl, and Clifford Yarian, Jessie and Dorothy Bush, Ruth Myers, Mrs. W. C. Baldwin and Lyston, Gaelyn and Thais Baldwin.

Birthday Party—Miss Alice Brown was pleasantly surprised at her home on Holly street Wednesday evening when a group of friends came to help her celebrate her birthday. A birthday dinner was served with a large birthday cake. The tables were charmingly decorated in pink and white. Following the dinner the time was spent in talking and doing fancy work.

The invited guests were Misses Grace and Louise Ridley, Marjorie Gillette, Ruth and Bernice Flakus, Bertha Boral and Margaret Stevens. At a late hour the girls said goodnight, wishing Miss Brown many happy returns of the day.

Postponed—The meeting of the Bellevue Parent-Teachers Association postponed its meeting last night until next Friday, Sept. 26. A clever program has been arranged and a large number of people are expected to attend.

Entertains—Mrs. C. C. Cole and son, Jr., were guests at a charming dinner party given in their honor at the home of Mrs. M. E. Randles Wednesday evening. The table was beautifully decorated and a delicious luncheon was served. Following dinner the party made a motor trip to Medford. Those present were Mrs. C. C. Cole and son, Jr., Miss Alice Doran and Mrs. M. E. Randles.

Stage Party—Donald Wright entertained a number of boys at his home at 341 Beach street last night. The evening was spent in playing games and talking. At the close of the evening delightful refreshments were served. The party was given because the group will soon be leaving for college and very latest for wear in the street is a little bunch of roses of different colors—yellow, orange and scarlet—each bud quite small and tightly bound together with a frame of rust leaves.

It was in a way of farewell party. The guests of the evening were Messrs. Glenn Wild, Paul Wagner, Frank Walker, William Briggs, Ralph Robison, Russell Overrocker, Carl Dryud and the host, Donald Wright.

Fraternal Brotherhood—The Fraternal Brotherhood Lodge held their regular meeting Thursday evening at the Mosco Hall at seven o'clock. After the regular lodge session a dance was held. A large number of people were present and all had a very enjoyable time. Music was furnished by the Petit orchestra.

This lodge has been just recently started in Ashland and all indications show that it will be a large one.

Entertains—Mrs. B. B. Balls of Allison street entertained in honor of Mrs. Goings and her daughter, Lillian Goings, Friday afternoon. A lovely time was spent in visiting. At the close of the afternoon the hostess served dainty refreshments.

The guests were Mrs. Goings and daughter, Lillian, Mesdames Frank Dickey, Henry Monroe, Monroe, Sr., B. R. Greer and Balls.

Mrs. Goings and Miss Goings have been visiting the Henry Monroe's and expect to return Friday for their home.

Mrs. Elsie Churchman entertained in honor of Mrs. A. Easton who is visiting here, at her home on Union street Thursday evening with a card party. A delightful evening was spent and at a late hour lovely refreshments were served. The Mitchell twins, Madge and Marie, played several duets on the piano and Mrs. Waldo Klum gave some vocal selections.

The guests of the evening were Mesdames A. E. Kinney, Will Dodge, Waldo Klum, Will Mitchell, Ella Mills, Elsie Churchman and Miss Lydia McCall.

Parent-Teacher Meeting—The Hawthorne Parent-Teacher circle met at the Hawthorne school yesterday afternoon, with a very good attendance of parents and every teacher present. Mrs. GeBauer was elected president in the place of Mrs. Guy Good, who resigned. Plans for a membership drive was outlined. At the close of the business Mrs. Denton, school nurse, gave an excellent talk, warning every parent to keep his or her child in school regardless of any fear of epidemic, and urged that the parents try to keep their heads when faced with sickness. It is hoped that every Hawthorne mother can be present at the next meeting, which will be sometime the first of October, as some very important business will be presented at that time.

Paris Style Hint—PARIS, Sept. 20.—"Mother, pin a rose on me, or a camelia, or any other flower that looks well with my complexion and costume. For Fashion says to wear a flower this season."

The vogue for wearing flowers fresh ones, or the fadeless variety, is growing from day to day. The fashion has always been a pretty one and very popular since the days when the "Dame aux Camelias" made the little white flower famous.

The grande couturiers are showing flowers on all their street costumes. There are brilliant camelias and pale white ones. Shaded carnations, in pink and gray tones, give a delightful touch and can scarcely be distinguished from the real garden variety. The

Legion Starts a Fight to Weed Out Un-Americans

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 19.—To offset the inroads of "insidious and un-American" propaganda, the American Legion convention here today determined to wage "as effective a program as possible for combating his loyal influences."

"Certain foreign propagandists and misguided pacifists" were charged with spreading these un-American ideas, "stronger and more determined than ever to break down ideas and ideals of our citizenship."

Demand for an early trial of Colonel C. R. Forbes, under indictment for alleged irregularities in connection with his direction of the United States veterans

Changes in the personnel of board and the central board of appeals are demanded in a resolution criticizing those boards, adopted by the convention today.

While declaring improvement has been shown under the present bureau director, the resolution charges that he is being improperly advised by the departments attacked, and necessary changes to remedy this alleged situation are demanded.

FIND QUEER TOOL TO STUDY STARS

By James Grant

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—King Tut was the first real star gazer.

Recent discoveries show, according to Professor James H. Breasted, of the University of Chicago, that the Egyptian monarch knew something more than mere styles.

Carefully wrapped in cloth in Professor Breasted's quarters at the university is the oldest known scientific instrument for the computation of the stars, believed to have been fashioned by King Tut himself.

It is thought to have been used to determine time by establishing the instant when a star crossed the observer's meridian. Its construction is said to be comparatively simple.

Professor Breasted made the discovery by mere chance while in London. He had stopped in the English metropolis on his way from Tut's tomb at Luxor, and with a friend had entered an obscure antique shop.

There, covered with the dust of many centuries, it stood. Closer scrutiny showed it to have the royal title of the Egyptian king, "made with Tutankhamen's two hands." Curious hieroglyphics covered it entirely.

When Tut, tired of gazing at the stars, looked around for new fields to conquer he turned to modeling, Professor Breasted said. One of the things that Professor Breasted treasures most highly is an exact copy of a sculptured bust of Tut's mother-in-law done by the King.

It is said on good authority that Tut fashioned it while he was "rushing" her daughter, whom he eventually married.
