WHO IS TO BLAME

A recent news note tells us of how a gang of young boys, playing with firearms fired a bullet into the home of a resident of this city. That serious injury or even death did not result from this carelessness was through the will Sate made. A short social hour the receipt of small anti-income of the Lord himself, for the room into which the bullet crashed was one of those in greatest use in the home.

Probably the first intimation that they have done any Barron presiding at the tea tables damage will reach these boys through the news columns of the Tidings. And maybe, even after they read the article concerning their deed, they will not realize the seriousness of it. For, according to the man whose home nesday, Thursday and Friday at was damaged, the boys were too young to realize the dan- the Bethany Presbyterian Church ger in which they placed that family.

OUR RAILROADS

Complete statistics of the Interstate Commerce Commission of the Class 1-that is, the large-railroads of the country for the year 1923 having recently become available, the Railway Age publishes in its current issue an analysis of these statistics to show just what happened to the railroads during the decade that included the period of the great war. It uses as its basis the figures for each average mile of railroad.

These statistics disclose some striking facts. They show, for example, that the increase in the total earnings of the railways was $13,222 per mile while the increase in their net return available for paying interest and dividends was only $380 per mile and that, therefore, the security owners received directly and indirectly only one thirty-fifth of the total increase in earnings. They also show that the increase in operating expenses per mile was $10,180, and of this amount $7,170, or almost 70 per cent, was paid out in increased wages. They show also that of all changes that occurred on the railways the increase in taxes was relatively much the greatest.

"The investment in railway property," the Railway Age says, "increased from $65,700 to $86,147 a mile or 31 per cent. The increase in net capitalization per mile was only $5,465 while the increase in property investment was $20,447. The wide difference in these figures is chiefely due to the fact that a large part of the investment in property was made from earnings of some companies which paid no dividends but invested in their properties all the earnings they had left after paying interest on "The increase in the average tractive power of locomotives for each mile of line operated was 28 per cent and the increase of freight car capacity per mile of line was 16 per cent.

"The increase in the number of employees per mile operated was only 5 per cent while the increase in the wages paid on each mile of line operated was 125 per cent. With these increases in the capacity of equipment and in the number of employees the railways handled 36 per cent more freight business and almost nine per cent more passenger business per mile of line operated.

GOVERNMENT IN SECRET?

Why this concerted effort to keep secret certain past goings-on in the Oregon state house? Why try to cover up school fund shortages, compensation fund shrinkages and foreclosures of soldiers' borus loans and like shortcomings of public officials? What about the following:

The owner of a 320-acre dry farm in Harney county offered it for sale for $700. Unable to get a buyer at that figure, he tried to sell it for $600. Failing in this, he applied to the state for public school money and was given a loan of $1200. Then he abandoned the farm, left the country, and has never returned.

Of course, the state had to foreclose and take over the farm that the owner was unable to sell for $600. The loan of $1200 of school money was made August 30, 1910. Not a penny of interest has ever been paid. Besides the $1200 thus taken out of the principal of the irreducible school fund, the public schools have lost the interest on the loan for a period of 14 years, one month and 18 days. Interest on the loan at 6 per cent compounded semi-annually would amount to about $1565. In addition to loss of a part of the principal and the loss of interest, the state has lost the taxes on the property since it was taken over.
