OCTOBER 25. THE PRINCE OF PEACE.—For unto us a child is born; and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called, The Prince of Peace.—Isaiah 9:6.

OCTOBER 25. GREAT POWER FROM GOD.—Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of an enemy; and nothing shall by any means hurt you.—Luke 10:19.

THREE COMMENDABLE POLICIES. Loyal and partisan only as long as the officers deserve loyalty and support is a policy which The Daily Tidings can endorse regardless of which political party puts forward this kind of a policy.

In the current issues of The Tidings is an advertisement which is signed by the Republican candidates and the Republican county central committee in which this policy is advocated. It deserves the consideration of every voter; for, just as soon as an officer becomes inefficient, then no longer does he deserve the further endorsement of those who supported him in the election.

In this same advertisement are two other statements which The Tidings desires to emphasize. The first of these is that the candidates and leaders will see that harmony exists in the county court house and among the county officials.

Where harmony does not exist among county officials, in the great majority of cases, it is the result pure and simple of petty jealousies and petty controversies in which the voters have no interest whatever.

It is said that harmony is not universal in the county court house at present. This can have only one result—extra expense and decreased return in governmental values which puts an extra burden onto the taxpayer, who is absolutely innocent, but must pay merely to gratify the wish of the officials who might be staging the fight among themselves in the conduct of their offices. This should be eliminated and those who disrupt harmony in the county court house should be reprimanded, as they usually are.

The other feature of the Republican resolution which The Daily Tidings admires is the pledge of the candidates to see that "unnecessary deputies and clerks and expense in the conduct of the county government be cut off." It is mighty easy for office holders, when a small amount of extra work develops, to feel that extra help should be hired, thus increasing expenses and taxes.

The voter should be vitally interested in anything which will make for better and more efficient, but not just merely cheaper, government.

SCIENTIFIC MARKETING

Gov. Frank O. Lowden's national crusade for co-operative marketing in farming industries would be strengthened by a brief recital of the experiences of the walnut growers in California. These fortunate gentlemen have an association that handles more than 85 per cent of all the walnuts raised in the state. It not only determines the price, but it may pick, sort, stamp, pack, ship and market the whole crop. It may be that all the grower will have to do will be to sit on the front porch and wait for his check. The association gets bids from the great markets and then decides its own prices. This year the crop of 50,000,000 pounds in the hands of the association was virtually sold out in forty-eight hours for almost $15,000,000. This might be called both big business and quick action. It illustrates some of the possibilities of co-operative marketing.

MOTOR HOBOES

Somewhere east of the Mississippi, he bought an old automobile for $25. There were five or six children and the mother. He loaded them all in. They started west along the trail of the covered wagon.

Occasionally to get gasoline and oil or replace a tire too tattered to run farther he stopped and worked a little. The children had little food and less clothing. They slept upon the ground. They were drenched with rain, they were constantly hungry and miserable.

One after the other, three of them died. The mother herself complained, "We buried them along the way like dead kittens." After a time the remnant of the family arrived in Ashland. The man was too unkempt to get a job. They were all so fearfully dirty no one would rent them a house. They became a charge upon charity in less than three days after their arrival.

Thus we greet, if not welcome, the new type social workers identify as the "motor hobo." Numerous old automobiles that will run may be bought for a few dollars. To live off the county is ever so much more attractive to a fluid and slothful temperament than stability and a job.

There are many who follow the highways but, unlike the pioneers, they are looking for something easier than they had back yonder. They are a growing stream whose children get little chance for schooling and less opportunity to learn the value of morality and cleanliness.

A pet bear was recently shot in Hollywood, which proves that the wild wood at the height of the open season is a much safer place for man and beast.

It is said to have been an Irishman who, when asked how he liked Princeton, replied: "It's a darn sight better than no liquor at all."

The old fashioned girl used to get a shingle once in a while, the same as the modern flapper, but the shingle was generally made of wood.

Here's a man who says that he was promised $10,000 for saying sober ten-years and the court won't help him collect it. Nevertheless, he is ahead of the game.

Mrs. Coolidge is going to cast her vote in the old home town. One need not be surprised if some of these up-stage society politicians remark, "How quaint!"

VETERANS REFUSED LICENSE TO PEDDLE ON PORTLAND STREET

The application of three veterans who were here in a locomotive-automobile recently, selling cards on the street were refused a license to sell on the streets of Portland, according to the recommendation of the Portland American Legion post, as explained in this article from The Portland Oregon:

Mayor Baker was advised by the executive committee of Portland post No. 1 that the American Legion opposes the granting of permits to veterans to sell pictures on the streets, even if those veterans are disabled.

The stand of the post was taken when Mayor Baker referred the application of three disabled veterans who were traveling about in a car designed like a locomotive which has attracted considerable attention. The veterans asked the city for permits to sell cards with pictures of their machine, the cards being sold for 25 cents each. The men used the money to pay their expenses on a tour, according to legion officials.

Methods Are Opposed. The post explained that the American Legion will make every effort to get compensation for disabled veterans, will press their cases through the Veterans' bureau and will find jobs for men who need them, but it does not approve of methods of this kind for raising funds.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC TO TAKE PICTURES OF KLAMATH COUNTY

KLAMATH FALLS, Oct. 24. — To take pictures for the advertisement of the scenic and industrial assets of Klamath county, H. F. Craig and C. N. Thomas, connected with the publicity department of the Southern Pacific are spending a short time in the Klamath district. They are taking pictures of the Klamath Indians in costume and of the construction work on the Klamath Lakes line, near Kirk. The photographs will be used in connection with the campaign to be launched by the railroad company to advertise the country opened up by the Natron cut-off.

Will Filed.—The will of the late James W. Berrian, superintendent of the state fish hatchery at Butte Falls, has been filed in the circuit court. To each of his sons is bequeathed $50 apiece, and the remainder of the estate is left to his wife. The will named Herbert J. Berrian as executor without bonds.—Medford Mail Tribune.

1912, when women were denied the suffrage, an average of 94 per cent of those registered later exercised the right of suffrage. Equal suffrage was granted in the election of November 5, 1912, and in 1914 as a result the number of voters who registered and who voted was increased by more than 100,000. Of those registered 85 per cent voted that year. In the 1916 election it was 88 per cent and in 1918 50 per cent, the low mark.

Since 1918 the percentage of those registered who vote has been increasing, not as rapidly as the decrease from 1914 to 1918, but gradually.

Table prepared by Mrs. Proctor follows: No. Reg. No. Votes. Pct. 1908 122,095 116,514 95, 1910 122,742 120,248 97, 1912 159,888 144,113 90, Average for 1908 to 1912, 94, 1914 304,730 259,838 85, 1916 302,697 269,057 88, 1918 315,410 157,964 50, 1920 364,469 247,899 68, 1922 333,055 241,267 72, Average for 1914 to 1922, 73.

NOVEL GOLF MATCH PLAYED OCTOBER 25

New York, Oct. 23.—A novel golf tournament, intended primarily to arouse interest in the betterment of golf courses through the world of the Greens Section, United States Golf Association, has just been announced by President W. D. Vanderbilt, of that association.

The tournament will take place on October 25. It will be an 18-hole affair, the winner being the player who, on that day, playing his home club handicap, makes the best score against par. Every club in the United States and Canada may participate without in any way interfering with any local events or with anyone's regular work and game.

Many clubs are arranging to offer prizes to their local winners and the U. S. G. A. will give a prize to the national winner, in case of tie scores, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

Golfers who may be playing at another club on the day of the tournament will use their home club handicap against par on the course played.

President Vanderbilt was frank to say that the tournament had been planned primarily to arouse the interest of the individual player in the work of the Association's Greens Section, which gathers and disseminates information pertaining to the economical construction and upkeep of courses. The demands upon its services are constantly increasing.

To Minneapolis.—Chas Howe of Klamath Falls left last evening for Minneapolis, Minnesota, where he will make his future home. He had been spending several days in Ashland.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT. A POLITICAL FUND. It is self-evident that this law will create an enormous fund which will be a source of political and economic patronage and power, to be exercised by the commission. It will build up a large force of employes directly, and a much larger force through control of hospital, medical and surgical services. Most of all, through control of classification and rates, and safety regulation and penalties for their violation, it will give the commission a power over employes and employers which it is hard to over-estimate.

Supporters of this amendment will pose as friends of workmen's compensation, and will claim that they are repelling an attack upon it. As a matter of fact, they are its worst enemies. They are less concerned with the actual sufferings and wrongs of injured workmen than they are with their own socialistic programme. Before the governor's committee, the employers of Oregon met these men more than half way, by advocating that workmen's compensation be made compulsory as to all industries actually hazardous, under proper classifications and fair rules and rates to be prescribed by law.
