Houdini, mester of magic, has long contended that given equal opportunity he will duplicate any phenomenon of the spiritualistic medium. For many years he has been an independent investigator at seances, and only a few weeks ago was in the news as having prevented a celebrated medium from grasping the Scientific American award. Beginning in the next issue of The Sunday Oregonian and continuing for several weeks Houdini will give an impartial analysis of spiritualism, covering a complete study of many spiritualistic phenomena, from the famous Fox sisters to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. In these articles he shows sincere respect for honest belief and utter contempt for deliberate fraud. Whatever your views are on the spiritualistic controversy you cannot afford to miss a single article in this instructive and novel series .- Sunday Oregonian.
