THE ELECTION TANGLE

Numerous inquiries as to the possibilities of the coming Presidential election being thrown into the Senate, and then later into the House of Representatives, have come into The Tidings office within the past few days. In order to clear up a misunderstanding as to this matter, we think it well to make an explanation of just how this action could come about. According to the best, unbiased information obtainable, Davis is conceded by the Republican leaders, to be able to carry the solid south, and several of the border states. The solid south vote will give him approximately 118 electoral votes, out of a total of 266 necessary to elect. With the border states granted him, Davis will obtain about 216 electoral votes. This is the maximum number conceded him by the Republican leaders.

On the other hand, the Democrats conceded Coolidge at the outside, a total of 260 electoral votes, six short of the number required for election. In this total is included those of the doubtful states, in which the Democrats claim they have a better than even chance of winning.

The totals of these two candidates leave approximately 90 electoral ballots to be fought for. Should La Follette, the Progressive candidate obtain 90 or more electoral votes, which it is possible he may do, no candidate will have received a majority, and the election will automatically be taken into the Senate.

But in the Senate, neither the Democrats or the Republicans have a clean cut majority, without the votes of the so called "Red" element, exemplified by Magnus Johnson and his colleagues. It is certain, these members of the Senate will not cast their vote with either of the old line parties, with one of their own group in the running. Thus the Senate would be deadlocked.

If, by March 4, 1925, no candidate has been selected by the Senate, the election is carried into the House of Representatives, where the Vice-Presidential candidates are balloted upon. The Democrats with a majority in the lower house, would be certain to return Bryan, Democratic nominee to the Presidency.

THE GASOLINE CARAVAN

No campaign would be complete without something spectacular, and the Coolidge-Dawes gasoline caravan supplies the need this year. It started from Coolidge's birthplace, Plymouth, Vt., on September 9, has traveled the Lincoln highway across the continent, paraded through San Francisco on October 24 and will pass through Oregon this week. Its number of cars is swollen by local recruits at every city, and it spreads the gospel of Coolidge, good government and good times.

This is in line with an old American custom. In 1787, when the constitution was submitted to the states for ratification, the ship "Constitution" was mounted on a truck and hauled from New York to Philadelphia, while another ship "Disunion" was shown on the rocks. In 1840 a log cabin on wheels traveled the pioneer roads and did more to elect William Henry Harrison than did the real issues of the campaign. Bryan with his rear platform speeches from a special train was the feature of the 1896 campaign. The woman's special was started across the continent to boom Hughes in 1916, but the name "Million-dollar Special" stuck and hoodooed it, and Hughes, too.

We have taken our politics more soberly of late years and have not had a torchlight and red fire parade of any consequence since 1896, when many men did not vote the way they marched, but there are signs of reviving that custom. All kinds of devices must be used to get out the vote. Facts and argument appeal to many, but some want something that tickles the senses, and campaign managers give it in order to "jolly the crowd along" after the style of the circus parade. So bring along the gasoline caravan.

MAYBE

Having reached the age of 60 years, Edward W. Bok gives advice to other men who have passed the half century mark. One of his suggestions is that the man of 50 should eat 30 per cent less food than he did at 40, and that every five years succeeding he should reduce his food 10 per cent until the total reduction has reached 50 to 60 per cent. One should drink proportionately more water, he says. Eight hours' sleep is another essential to a ripe old age, together with a contented mind that casts off worry. The only incongruous feature of the Bok advice is that many a man today finds himself at 50 at his best, and this is particularly true if at 30 or before he has begun to follow the advice as to eating, sleeping and repulsion of worry.

All gall is divided into three parts, as J. Caesar told us, but with the enormous supply on hand the division won't seriously inconvenience the average man.

IS FOR McMAHON

To the Voters of Jackson County:
In the candidacy of Joe McMahon for Sheriff of Jackson County, you are embracing an opportunity to cast your ballot on November 4th, next, for law enforcement and efficiency in the office which he seeks.
As traffic officer for the State of Oregon, Mr. McMahon has proved himself trustworthy, capable and fearless. This training coupled with his experience as deputy Sheriff, his determination to do away with all special deputies and officers in connection with his office, (thus favoring the tax payers), his fearless enforcement of the law, and the tempering influence which past experience in these offices has had upon his thinking and acting.

MAN IS SHOT BY BOY MISTAKEN FOR DEER

BAKER, Oct. 27. — Al E. Stone, a teamster and Spanish-American war veteran, was shot through the hips this morning near the Bellevue mine, about 45 miles west of Baker, by Allen Austin, aged 16, a junior in the Baker high school, who mistook Mr. Stone for a deer. The wounded man was brought to Baker for surgical attention. His condition was thought serious on account of loss of blood.

The Austin boy is the son of Ben Austin of Granite, and attends school in Baker. The boy and Charles King, a teacher in the Baker schools, went to Granite last night and started early in the morning to hunt deer near the Bellevue mine.

Beautifully your home. Now is the time to plant all kinds of Nursery stock. See S. Penniston, 175 E. Main. 48-11

Victor Bursell Regular Republican Nominee for County Commissioner

Being a heavy taxpayer myself, I stand for strict economy, sound business principles, and protection of our industries. We now have an encouragement of new ones, which means more payrolls and the development of our natural resources.

I believe in strict law enforcement, but through the regularly elected officials who should have the same in charge. My four years of work as commissioner should qualify me to be better fitted to serve you and in getting state and federal aid on our roads, such as the Crater Lake and Ashland-Klamath Falls highways.

Vote for VICTOR BURSSELL.

Let us urge you again to put in your

Vote 311 X NO

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT

WHAT IT MEANS

Analysis of the proposed law will show that it tramples upon every principle of individual liberty, and overrides every legal safeguard which experience has shown to be necessary for the protection of personal rights. If it is passed and made effective according to its plain meaning and intent, an appointive board of three men, who may be competent or incompetent, selfish or unselfish as chance may dictate, will have uncontrolled power to do the following things:

AFFECTS THE FARMER AND HOUSEWIFE

1. To declare what occupations are hazardous, and therefore subject to the law. The present law defines hazardous occupations. The commission's duty is to enforce the law as written. Under the proposed amendment, the commission will in effect enact and then enforce its own laws. It can declare that the operation of a mowing machine, a self-binder, or a plow, or the milking of cows, or the driving or currying of a horse, is a hazardous occupation and thus bring all farming operations under tribute. It can declare hazardous the operation of a kitchen range, a washing machine or an electric iron, and thus assume jurisdiction over household employments.

SMUGGLED CHINESE DEAD OF HUNGER

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. —Seven Chinese who were smuggled into this country from Hongkong in packing cases aboard a steamship, suffered so severely from starvation and hardship during the 30-day voyage that one of them died soon after taken into custody by the police today and the six others were near death. Three Chinese of this city, charged with smuggling their seven countrymen, also were arrested.

All of the prisoners are members of the Hip Sing tong; according to the police, who declared the seven men had been smuggled as recruits in the tong war.

Active Glands

Gave Napoleon Fighting Force

According to Berman, a noted scientist, who has analyzed the action of the glands, Napoleon, one of the greatest fighters of all history, owed his courage and fighting force to large and extremely active adrenal glands.

Not only have the glands an important influence on the mind and character of the individual, but they also largely control health, energy and vitality, and it is by maintaining the normal functioning of the glands that we may combat sickness and ill health, according to eminent scientists and physicians of this country and Europe.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, prepared in tablet form, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen, for men and women. East Side Pharmacy will supply you. Mail orders accepted.

The Show Place of Champions

THE Pacific International Livestock Exposition, organized but a scant fourteen years ago, is today the largest general livestock show in America, rivaling the National at Chicago in its horse, beef cattle and swine exhibits and even surpassing in many respects the National Dairy Show.

Here under one great roof covering 10 acres, world's livestock champions and other notable stock come from many distant states to compete for premiums totaling $90,000. This year's show combines:

- Gigantic Livestock Exposition
- Dairy Products Show
- Land Products Show
- Northwest Hay and Grain Show
- Western Winter Poultry Show
- Night Horse Show
- Industrial Exhibits
- Daily Auction of Dairy and Beef Stock

Over 125,000 people attended last year, availing themselves of the opportunities offered for studying the ways and means of profitable livestock raising in the West. Why not attend yourself this year and then talk over the matter of bettering and increasing your own livestock with us here at the First National bank? You will never find us lacking in encouragement and assistance.

They Say He Treats 'em Rough

The Road Hogs, the Speed Fiends, the Drunken Drivers, the Law Breakers, of high or low degree. But he treats them all alike.

They Say He Treats 'em Rough

But he is a go-getter, active, courageous, and on the job both day and night.

They Say He Treats 'em Rough

But the blind pigger with a $4000 car or the poor little devil with a bottle of moonshine in his pocket would all look alike to Joe. And if he was on the job it wouldn't cost the county $1000 a month for special officers.

They Say He Treats 'em Rough

That is what the lawbreakers say. But the roads are safe for women and children with Joe McMahon on the job. And he doesn't treat them rough. No one who obeys the law says he treats 'em rough. The man with a flivver and the man with a limousine all look alike to Joe.
