HEAVIEST VOTE IN HISTORY PREDICTED

Since a large number of ballots are cast in the early evening, it is believed the total number cast in Ashland will total nearly 65 or 70 per cent of the total possible, which is a wonderful percentage, considering the low ebb to which the percentage has fallen in the past. The long ballot will make the counting of the vote a tedious job, and it is probable that many of the precincts will not complete their county until the early morning hours, especially those in which a heavy poll has been cast.

Reduce White Plague Death Rate Sixty-Eight Per Cent. During Seven Years of Framingham Demonstration

INDUSTRIAL CLINIC, FRAMINGHAM

One town in the United States has succeeded in reducing its tuberculosis death rate 68 per cent. in only seven years. It has accomplished this at a cost which is not prohibitive. Framingham, Massachusetts, has demonstrated that public health is purchasable and that the returns are more than commensurate with the cost. On the basis of this demonstration, tuberculosis, which until recently headed the list of death causes, may be definitely classed among the controllable diseases.

The death rate from tuberculosis in Framingham, since January 1, 1917 has declined from 121 per 100,000 population to 38 per 100,000 in 1923.

How it was done is, or should be, of interest to every community in America.

This first great health demonstration, under the auspices of the National Tuberculosis Association, was made possible by an appropriation of nearly $200,000 by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Framingham, a town of 17,000 was selected in 1916 as a typical, American industrial community. Since then, through the aid of local health and medical agencies, and commercial concerns, every effort has been made to find tuberculosis cases, to treat them successfully, to prevent the disease, and to build up under local leadership, adequate health machinery for a town of this size.

From the beginning the people of Framingham have shown an increasing conviction of the value of disease preventive measures. The Board of Health has expanded its activities along infant welfare and tuberculosis prevention lines. The local school authorities have greatly expanded medical, nursing, dental, clinical and health education services. The leading industries have encouraged the periodic health examination of workers and facilities for their care. All this has resulted in the prevention of illness and the prolongation of life.

NILES QUIET AGAIN 25 UNDER ARREST

NILES, Ohio, Nov. 4. — With about 25 persons, members of the Ku Klux Klan, and of the Knights of the Flaming Circle, their sworn foe, under arrest, charged with inciting a riot order has been restored in Niles today under the martial law proclamation of Governor A. V. Donahy.

"I expect to withdraw most of the troops today," General Benson W. Hough, commander of the Ohio National Guard, said. "Local authorities should be amply able to take care of any sporadic outbursts that may come."

Five hundred guardsmen were still patrolling the streets and the military was assisting local officials in gathering evidence to present to the courts against those charged with responsibility for the outburst of racial hatred which resulted in 13 persons being wounded Saturday, one of whom may die.

S P ACCUSED OF VOTE CONSPIRACY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4. — Roe H. Baker, president of the State Federation of Labor, today filed a complaint with the state railroad commission against the Southern Pacific Railroad company asking investigation of the alleged discharge of more than 500 shop mechanics in the employ of that company at Sacramento.

Baker in his complaint alleged that the men were dropped "with the object of influencing the votes, not only of the said employees so discharged, but of the employees generally of the said defendant, and of inducing the said discharged and other employees by a veiled threat of unemployment to cast their votes for Calvin Coolidge for president, regardless of the preference of such employees."

The state public utilities act empowers the commission to order an investigation of such charges. At the offices of the Southern Pacific sweeping denial was made of the charges. President William C. Sproule declared the layoff was a seasonal one and in no way connected with politics. A statement was to be issued by his office, it was said.

SALEM HOTELMAN, EMPLOYEE, VICTIMS

McMINNVILLE, Nov. 4.—Thomas Gregory Bligh, Salem theatre and hotel owner, and J. C. Davis, a carpenter in his employ, were killed shortly before noon today three miles west of New Grande on the Tillamook highway when their automobile skidded and overturned. Davis died instantly and Bligh lived half an hour.

Bligh was dead when brought to McMinnville. His chest was crushed. Davis' back was broken. The car was turned completely around and was a mass of wreckage. Which man was driving was not ascertained, but it is presumed that Bligh was at the wheel.

Bligh and Davis were returning to Salem from Neskovin. Davis had been working on cottages owned by Bligh at the beach resort. The bodies are at the W. T. Macy undertaking parlors here. Coroner Glenn Macy held the deaths were accidental.

Chamber of Commerce. Professor Vining was granted an interview with Mayor Kendrick of Philadelphia, who sent his greetings to Oregon. Immediately after this luncheon, Professor Vining entrained for Lancaster, in the heart of Pennsylvania's manufacturing and agricultural section, where he addressed the Lancaster Chamber of Commerce. Immediately following this address, he left for New York city, where he renewed old acquaintances.

Upon the invitation of President Bullard of the Connecticut State Chamber of Commerce, he addressed the Bridgeport Chamber, at a special luncheon given in his honor. During this address, Professor Vining was asked to give a Westerner's viewpoint of why New England was losing out in her manufacturing and ports.

Looking over the audience, Professor Vining stated that his belief of the cause for the loss of prestige of the New England States was that New England called to her council tables, only the gray beards, who sat in their committee rooms, promulgating a philosophy of "thou shalt not". He directed attention to the Northwest, where the vigorous young manhood, with progressive ideas, is asked to sit in council with the gray beards, and where a philosophy of "thou shalt" is advocated, and stating that unless New England gave her young men a chance, Oregon's invitation would be irresistible, that the branch manufacturing plants, established on our coast, under the supervision of young blood, would soon become the dominant power in the country's manufacturing, and that the plants of the East would soon become but memories. This speech was featured throughout the papers in the New England states, and aroused much favorable editorial comment.

Returning to New York City, Professor Vining was entertained by the New York State Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon, and a complimentary dinner, at which was featured the slogan "For you a rose in Oregon grows." The following day, Sunday, Professor accepted an invitation to occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian church, where he spoke upon "Planes of Living." At Tawanda, Professor Vining was given, not only the key to the city, but was so showered with invitations to functions, that it was impossible to accept more than a small portion of them.

From Tawanda, Professor Vining journeyed to Buffalo for a short stop, and then stopped in Ashubula, Ohio, where he enjoyed a brief visit with his niece, Mrs. Charles Ward, formerly Miss Norma Minkler of this city. Time would not permit his accepting an invitation to speak at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in this city.

From Ashubula, Professor Vining entrained to Oregon, in order that he might arrive in Ashland in time to cast his vote. He arrived in this city late Sunday evening.
