MEDFORD, Nov. 10. — Five handsome silver cups have been procured by the American Legion for award to the prize winning floats in the Armistice day parade. Mayor E. C. Gaddis, O. O. Alenderfer and C. E. Gates have consented to act as judges and will select the winners in five divisions: Best float entered by a fraternal organization; best commercial float; best patriotic float; best decorated out-of-town car and best decorated Medford car.

The parade will form at 10:30 a. m. and will move east on Main street from the Washington school to Riverside, starting at 11:05 o'clock. All organizations of military origin, and their auxiliaries, will form in front of City Park; fraternal orders are to form on South Oakdale, and the Red Cross, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts and Y. W. C. A. will form in front of the Public Library. Civic organizations and high school marchers form on North Oakdale.

All commercial floats will form on Laurel street, headed by the city fire department. Decorated automobiles form on Main street west of Laurel. Floats entered by organizations which also have marchers in line, are expected to accompany the marchers, instead of forming with float section.

American Legion men will be stationed at section points to help expediate the formation. It is hoped by the committee in charge of the parade that all will be in readiness to start the parade promptly after the sound of taps at 11:02 a. m., the bugle call marking the end of the two minutes silence for the soldier dead.

The line of march will include a large number of marchers and floats and military precision is expected to mark the proceedings. The procession will be headed by the D. O. K. THE GOVERNORSHIP HAS ITS MANY ADVANTAGES

"I got a kiss from every girl in the office," the governor said, with a smile after the demonstration was over.

NEW ROAD PLANNED FROM CHILOQUIN TO BEATTY IN KLAMATH

Work to be Started in Near Future. Federal Funds to Aid in Work Near Reservation

KLAMATH FALLS, Nov. 10.—Preliminary steps toward the grading and surfacing of a road from Chiloquin to Beatty, a distance of approximately 30 miles, have been initiated by Fred A. Baker, superintendent of the Klamath Indian reservation and the county court, according to announcement today from the county engineer's office.

Recently, Baker approached the county court about the proposed road. It is said that Baker gave the county court to understand that sufficient federal funds were now available for the grubbing, clearing, survey and grading of the right-of-way. The reservation superintendent requested the county court to instruct the county surveyor to make a survey of the proposed project.

As soon as the weather clears sufficiently, Joseph Jensen, assistant county engineer, will make a thorough reconnaissance of the project and later a survey.
Two routes are contemplated, according to Jensen. One leads towards Kirk for several miles before swinging direct towards Beatty. The second, which is the most direct route, follows up Sprague river.

The understanding is that the county and federal government cooperate in the construction of the road in much the same way as they joined hands on the Agency and Chiloquin road. In other words, the government undertakes the clearing, grubbing, grading and preliminary survey work and the county surfaces the road.
Baker is anxious to complete preliminary work on the new road as soon as possible in order that actual construction may start as soon as possible, it is said.

MELLON SAYS TAXES ARE TO BE REDUCED

The real drive for tax revision is anticipated to take place at the opening of the coming session of the sixty-ninth Congress.
Secretary Mellon will recommend to Congress that tax changes, similar to those disregarded at the last session of the board, be passed.

SNOW THIS YEAR EARLIEST EVER KNOWN HERE

Records of Eighteen Years Show November Snows to be Very Light

LIKELY HARD WINTER

Figures Show Unmelted Snowfall in November, Throughout Years to be Infrequent

By E. D.
The snow which has fallen in Ashland during the past week, covering the city in a blanket of white for a few hours, is the first that has fallen this early in the season since 1898, the year in which the first permanent and accurate records were taken.
In 1898, twenty six years ago, snow fell in Ashland on November 19 and again on November 21. The following year, 1899, the records show that the ground here was covered with snow which fell on November 18 and 20. The snowfall in the city that year was exceedingly light, but the mountains were covered with a heavy blanket of white.
Again in 1900, snow covered the lower hills of the Siskiyou's, within view of the city. This time, the snow came on November 16. Then for a stretch of six years, or until 1906, no snow was seen in the city earlier than December. Then in 1906, on November 21, a light snow fall was recorded for the city.

The fall this year, in addition to breaking all records for early fall, breaks the longest stretch of early snow since records have been kept. For eighteen years, no snow has fallen in November, according to weather records. Now, following the driest year on record, the snow comes earlier than ever.

All these figures, obtained from Louis Dodge, weather observer, mean snow which remained on the ground as unmelted snow. During several years in the instances mentioned, snow has fallen, but either melted as fast as it fell, or remained on the ground but a few minutes.

According to all "oldest inhabitants" interviewed, an early snow means a long, hard, cold winter. With snow falling earlier than ever this year, indications are for a heavy snowfall throughout the winter.

ROSEBURG WARRIORS TRIM LOCAL OUTFIT 6-0 IN GRID GAME

Outplayed in the first three quarters of the game, the Roseburg Elks took a new lease on life in the final canto, and by a series of line bucks, coupled with end runs, pushed the pigskin over the final chalkmark for the only touchdown of the tussle, and handed the Ashland Lithians a team a 6-0 trimming at the high school field Saturday.

During the early periods of the contest, the game was a see-saw affair, with the ball working back and forth between the locals and the Roseburg gang. The Ashland outfit kept the ball in Roseburg territory throughout the early cantos, but lacked the final smashing power to push over a touchdown. Two great chances to score in the early periods went floy when the Lithian's outfit failed in the pinch.

Time after time, with the ball in the middle of the field, the Ashland backs would pierce the heavy Roseburg line, but with a score in sight, the power wasn't there, and the locals lost the ball on downs.

The Roseburg gang lived up to their reputation as being a fast, shifty team, with plenty of weight. The team averaged 190 pounds, including the backfield, which is about twice to fifteen pounds heavier than any college aggregation on the coast. They have a couple of games under their belts, having trimmed the Salem and Marshfield town teams, while Saturday's tussle was the first for the Lithian's outfit.

A return game, to be staged in Roseburg this week-end has been scheduled. The local outfit will leave Saturday for the struggle, and are confident of knocking the Antlered herd over in this mix. Coach Hughes will give his charges a good working over this week, and polish up the weak spots on the eleven.

WORKER DECLARES RELIEF WORK MUST BE CARRIED ALONG

Rev. J. J. Handsaker States Orphan Children Must be Helped This Winter

"The face of the Near East has changed entirely in the last three years," declared Rev. J. J. Handsaker, regional director of Near East Relief, in addresses at the Presbyterian, Baptist and Episcopal churches yesterday.
"All the orphan children are out of Turkey and safe from massacre for they are under the friendly flags of Russia, Greece, England and France; in Armenia they are under Russian control, in Syria under French and in Palestine under English. For the first time in their lives they know what it is to be rid of fear."

Turkey has at last succeeded in her 500 year effort to drive the Christians from her border and more than a million, robbed of everything they possess have been driven from home, with great loss of life, the remnant finding refuge in Greece.
"Greece, in all her heroic history, never did a greater deed than when she admitted these refugees, many of them people with no more claim on her than on any other of the allies. Twenty-eight per cent of her population today are refugees and she is spending more money on the refugee problem than on all other governmental agencies combined, except the army and navy, and far more than all American and British relief agencies are spending."

"Although hundreds of thousands have been absorbed into the economic life of Greece, there are still at least 400,000 homeless and among these are no fewer than 25,000 children, many of whom will die this winter unless help is sent."
"In an effort to lift the burden of caring for the children from the American public we discharged 14,000 children from the orphanages last year. Medical care given to 16,000 children prevented blindness for this vast throng."
"The Near East Relief is centered its whole energies on the problem of the children, all we can do for adults is to furnish clothing and this was done last year to more than 500,000 many of whom had lived in comfortable and some in luxurious homes until three years ago."
"Well known Oregonians like Mrs. C. S. Jackson of the Oregon Journal, Miss Cornelia Marvin, State Librarian, Dr. J. R. Wetherbee and Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Coe of Portland and Mrs. Louisa Kelms of Eugene who visited the Near East last year have returned to urge Oregon to continue her efforts, declaring the work to be some of the finest they had ever seen."

Addresses were also delivered in the Methodist, Nazarene and Christian churches by Mrs. W. E. Rambo and in the Congregational by Rev. M. B. Paroungian.

SENATOR LODGE LOSES IN LAST FIGHT FOR LIFE

Called "One of Greatest Men of Our Time," by President Coolidge

SERVICE OF 31 YEARS

Simple Funeral Rites Planned From Home of Life Long Friend of Family

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 10.—Plans for a simple funeral, to be held from the home of William Bigelow, life long friend of Senator Lodge's family, were under consideration for Senator Lodge here today. The veteran Senator, who for many years a leader of his party, and recognized as one of the ablest Senators to be sent to Congress from Massachusetts, the state which has furnished such brilliant statesmen. Lodge served in the Senate for thirty-one years, a record for conservative service, both in time elapsed and in power wielded. He lost his stubborn fight against death shortly before midnight last night.

Unyielding will, a will which showed its mettle by dominating Senatorial affairs for many years, kept the Senator alive after a stroke of paralysis which he suffered on November 5.
Senator Lodge has four more years of his present term to serve. American history contains no more dramatic character than the feud which was waged between Lodge and the late President Woodrow Wilson. Lodge was a bitter opponent of the League of Nations which Wilson championed.
President Coolidge said today in a formal statement, that Lodge has been "one of the great men of our time." The President designated Secretary of War Weeks to represent him at the funeral of the veteran statesman, stress of immediate business preventing the President attending personally.

The boys will be arraigned before the superior court, Merritt on a charge of complicity in the theft of the automobile, while Ramsey will face two charges, one of stealing the automobile, and the other of burglary.

The outstanding features of the day's work was the careful planning for the year's activities ahead. Miss Mary Guiley of Eugene, state president of the Christian Endeavor societies, presided over the conference today.

"Value of Young People's Conferences" was fittingly brought out by the Rev. Monroe G. Everett, student pastor of O. A. C. at Corvallis. He pointed out many instances where these conferences had been the means of putting many a young person's life into active channels of Christian work. In brief, it gave many young men and women a blueprint of their life, that they might know God's will and purpose in leading them into active paths of Christian service. It was at such conferences as these that John R. Mott, Robert J. Speer, and many others were led into Christian work, and become world renowned men.

Rev. F. Gordon Hart of Grants Pass brought out many valuable aids and suggestions in building up active service in the Christian Endeavor societies which will inspire the young people in attendance at the convention to return to their various societies filled with a keen desire to put things over.

James Henrikson, vice-president of the Crater Lake Union, Chairman of the convention activities, carried the activities of the program through in an inspiring and energetic manner. CRATER PARK SHUT OFF BY HEAVY SNOW

Crater National Park with its present mantle of deep snow is totally isolated from the outside world at present, as since the recent big storm there the telephone line which connects the park with this city and with Klamath Falls has been down. For several days now Superintendent Thomson has been unsuccessfully trying to get into telephonic communication with the park. The last heard from there was the letter received two days ago from Ranger Oard, telling of the severe storm and the snow, which was then 5 feet deep at Anna Spring camp and much deeper at the lake rim. It is thought that it has snowed since that time.—Mail Tribune.

MEDFORD, ASHLAND HIGH TEAMS ARE TO TANGLE TOMORROW

The game for which both the Ashland and Medford High School teams have been pointing throughout the season, the big game of the year, will be staged at Medford tomorrow afternoon, then the two high school elevens trot out upon the field for their annual clash. The game will be a part of the Armistice Day celebration to be staged in Medford.

Although on comparative scores the Medford gang is rated an easy victory, dope cannot be depended upon in a tussle such as this. More often than not, the pregame predictions are spilled, when the team rated as easy victims, turns on their rivals and turns in a win. Such a thing happened when Oregon and Washington met two weeks ago. Such a thing happened when St. Mary's and University of Southern California tangled Saturday, and such a thing may happen at Medford tomorrow.

Coach Walt Hughes of the locals has been polishing off the rough spots for the past couple of weeks, and now has his outfit working like a well oiled machine. The boys know their stuff, and are determined to wipe out pre-season defeats by trouncing the Medford outfit.

In Kaster and Gande, Hughes has a pair of backs who are liable to get away for good yardage at any time. These men have played consistent football throughout the season, and upon them will depend much of the work of advancing the ball.
Hughes has his line charging well, and on defense, the boys put up a stubborn fight. The outfit realizes what it is up against, and this very thing may result in an Ashland victory.

The game will get under way at 2:30 at the High School grounds in Medford.
