GREEN GROW THE RASHES, O! (By Robert Burns) Green grow the rashies, O Green grow the rashies, O The sweetest hours that e'er I spent Were spent among the lassies, O!

There's nought but care on every han', In ev'ry hour that passes, O; What signifies that life o' man, An' 'twere na for the lassies, O. The warly race may riches chase, And riches still may bly them, O;

An' tho' at last they catch them fast, Their hearts can ne'er enjoy them, O. But gi'e me a cannit hour at e'en, My arms about my dearie, O; An' warly cares, an' warly men, May a' gae tapsateerick, O.

For you sae douse, ye sneer at this, Ye're nought but senseless asses, O; The wisest man the warl' e'ev saw, He dearly lov'd the Lassies, O.

Auld Nature swears, the lovely dears Her noblest work she classes, O; Her 'prentice han' she tried on man, An' then she made the lassies, O.

Beautiful Wedding—Springbank Orchard, near Talent, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Gleim was the scene of a very pretty autumn wedding Tuesday, November 4th. In the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives Miss Madge de Lano and Harry N. Gleim were united in marriage. The homelike living room of Springbank Orchard, was simply decorated with masses of scarlet sweetbriar and tall ferns, with two large vases of William Waite chrysanthemums in tones of bronze and apricot at each side of the large east window. At the appointed moment the bride, preceded by her bridesmaid Mrs. Edgar Shoupe and matron of honor, Mrs. John Masson, entered from the right being met by the groom and his brother, Mr. Will Gleim as best man. The bride carried white chrysanthemums and snapdragons.

Entertained Friends—Mrs. Allie Rhodes charmingly entertained at Sunday dinner for a group of her friends yesterday at her home on Eighth street. A sumptuous chicken dinner was served by the delightful hostess, followed by a pleasant afternoon. The complimented guests were Mrs. Gasper and three children, Dorothy Rhodes, A. P. Rhodes and the hostess, Mrs. Allie Rhodes.

Entertain With Party—Mrs. O. R. Kluth was the honored guest at a charmingly appointed party given by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen at the home of Mrs. Hitchcock on Oak street, Friday evening. A pleasant evening was spent with needlework and conversation occupying the time. At the close of the evening daintily prepared refreshments were served. Bidden guests were Mesdames Guy Carter, Houshuck, Carey, Deer, M. W. Smith, Jack Dunn, Miss Clara Huck and Mrs. Hitchcock.

Entertain—One of the prettiest affairs of the week was given Saturday evening honoring Miss Virginia Jones, whose engagement to Mr. Alfred Stroud of Tennant has been announced. The party was given at the cozy home of Mrs. Elwood Hedburg, sister of the honored guest.

A jolly evening was spent playing card games and talking over former good times. At a late hour the guests were ushered into the dining room and seated at a table beautifully decorated with pink and white candles, nut baskets, place cards and a lovely pink and white shade over the lamp. Delectable refreshments were served by the deft fingers of the lovely hostess, and after wishing Miss Jones every happiness the guests departed. The invited guests were while the bridesmaid's flowers were in pink and apricot shades. Rev. Lawrence of Medford was the officiating clergyman and spoke the simple but beautiful words of the ring ceremony. After receiving the joyous congratulations and good wishes of their friends and admiring the many presents received, the delightful wedding breakfast was served at small tables each decorated with a bronze and apricot chrysanthemum. Following the breakfast the bride and groom drove to this city where they took the train to San Francisco. On Wednesday they will sail for Mazatlan on the Mexican coast, there to spend a honeymoon amid tropical scenery. The couple are very well known in Northern California and Southern Oregon and have the best wishes of everyone for a long and happy life.

Paris Style Hat— PARIS, Nov. 7.—Every season, when the weather man begins to nip the nose and bring thoughts of warmer clothing, women begin to turn to fur for trimming and, principally, for a warm scarf about the neck—the only rival of the silk one which has been so popular. The animal that makes your fur scarf will depend upon the color of your Fall costume. But it is ten to one it will be a fox, for it is this wily creature which seems to be king of the furs this season. There are many lovely kinds, the most notable aristocrat, of course, being the silver fox. He grows his silver right into his pelt and has a snow-tipped tail, which makes the price worth mentioning. In fact, the price very often depends upon the number of little flecks. Then, the little red fox has come out of his hole and will be the favorite of many a smart woman this winter. It makes a splendid finish to the neutral brown costumes and goes well with the autumn and tan (natural or unnatural) brought back from the seashore this year. There are some handsome red fox skins this year, very thick, long and silky and with admirable shadings. The blue fox, once very popular, is a bit in the background, but sometimes setting off a striking gray or dull slate costume. Blue fox also blends well with beige and brown tones. Black fox is always attractive, especially with black or white costumes. This year there is a novelty of gold flecks here and there at the ends of the longest
