ARMISTICE IS DECLARED IN WATER FIGHT

Gates Are Closed Following Assurance to Ranchers of Fair Deal

CELEBRATE VICTORY

Los Angeles Clearing House Offers to Aid Ranch Owners in Obtaining Fair Treatment

ALABAMA HILLS SPILLWAY, Inyo County, Calif., Nov. 20. — The massive iron gates in the Los Angeles aqueduct, which have been opened for the past two days, were closed early this morning and the $10,000 worth of water which since last Sunday has been daily diverted from the canal into the bed of the Owens River by Owens Valley raiders, again began its rush toward the city of Los Angeles.

The sudden surrender of the "siege" was made after W. Waterston, an Owens Valley banker and rancher, telegraphed the leaders of the raiding party to close the aqueduct, since promises had been made to him by a Los Angeles clearing house association that if the water was turned back into the aqueduct, that the Owens Valley property owners would get a "square deal."

A barbecue will be held this afternoon by the ranchers who were guarding the gates, in order to celebrate what they term a "victory." The raiders are determined that the only conditions upon which they will cease to hinder as far as possible the work on the Los Angeles project, will be the assurance that they will be given all the water needed to bring their ranches back to their normal conditions, and a reimbursement for the damages already sustained by them when the city shut off their water supply.

The Owens River Valley ranchers are entirely dependent upon water obtained from the aqueduct. When Los Angeles shut off their water supply, their ranches soon went back to the desert condition in which they laid before being reclaimed, and land worth from two to three thousand dollars per acre, became nothing but desert.

After court action failed to stop the city of Los Angeles from taking the water, the ranchers determined to take the matter in their own hands, and followed the blowing up of dams, the damaging of the aqueduct, and the last episode, the opening of the flood gates in the aqueduct.

ATTACK ON KING OF SPAIN WILL NOT BE PUBLISHED BY PRESS

LONDON, Nov. 20. — American newspaper publishers, as well as owners of British journals will refrain from publishing "Alphonso Unmasked" by Blasco Ibañez, an attack upon the Spanish King if the Spanish government has its way, it was indicated here today. From all indications it is stated that the English press would heed the request for the banishment of the story. America will be asked to take similar action, on the grounds that the story will cause unfriendly feeling between the two countries.

BALTIMORE PAPER IS INDICTED FOR PUBLISHING TAXES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. — The Baltimore Daily Post was indicted for the publishing of the income tax returns, United States Attorney General Stone announced here today. He said that the Baltimore paper was the first of a number of periodicals which are to be indicted on charges of making public these returns.

The cases are being used as test cases, in order to bring the matter before United States Supreme Court, where a decision upon the constitutionality of the matter will be handed down.

The government holds that the publication of the returns in newspapers is not authorized by statute, while the publishers of the Baltimore Daily Post, and the other periodicals which are to be indicted state that their right of "free press" gives them the privilege of carrying any story in connection with the income of the government.

CHIEF GETS ANGRY BOSSY NOW IN JAIL

Chaps and spurs have taken the places of stars and clubs in the local police department. At least, they have temporarily displaced the conventional badges of office. For the past week, Chief of Police George McNabb, assisted by Fire Chief Clint Baughman has been engaged in staging a roundup in the district near the community hospital.

As a result of this roundup, several residents of this district are minus the services of their family cows, for the bossies have gone to jail. And in jail they will stay, according to McNabb, until their owners furnish bail, in the form of pound fees. Reports that stray cattle had been running several patches of winter cabbage, breaking down young trees and in general, acting in uncivil manner roused the Chief to action. Calling in the Fire Chief, they donned their Tom Mix outfits, and sallied forth determined that bossies' activities should be curbed.

For a time the hospital grounds resembling the Pendleton roundup, but the cattle were finally corralled and headed for the pound.

McNabb and Baughman have written for entry blanks to the next roundup in Eastern Oregon, and with a few more practice sessions with stray milch cows, should stand a fair chance of grabbing off the honors.

FIRST NUMBER OF CELEBRITY COURSE TOMORROW EVENING

Symphonic Quintet to Appear at Armory in First Number of Winter Entertainment

An intensive campaign was started this morning, in an endeavor to reach every resident of Ashland, in order that all may have an opportunity to purchase season tickets for the Ashland Celebrity Course. The first number of the course, the Vernon Symphonic Quintet will appear at the Armory tomorrow evening.

This company is composed of musicians selected from the leading symphony orchestras of the East, and is rated one of the best organizations of its kind in the country. Paul Vernon, leader, was formerly a member of the Cleveland Symphonic Orchestra, and is recognized as one of the leading musicians of the country.

The Ashland Celebrity Course this year is offering the best artists under the management of the Ellison White Lyceum company. The course is being sponsored by the various civic organizations of the city, and is a non-profit undertaking.

The committee, selected from various organizations, have prepared a statement, indicating their feeling toward the course. This statement follows:

"The committee representing the various organizations of the community are submitting what in their judgment is a very fine group of attractions for the winter season. It is the aim to obtain high class artists and programs and we are asking the support of Ashland people who desire this type of entertainment.

The first number on Friday, November 21 gives an opportunity to express your approval of the efforts of the committee by your attendance, and we are urging that you procure season tickets in order to obtain the lowest rate for the entire season of four numbers."

The following are the members of the committee.

CHAMBER DRIVE FOR MEMBERS GREAT SUCCESS

Twenty-five New Members Added to Roster During First Half Day

EIGHT TEAMS WORKING

Workers Declare People Responding Rapidly to Call for Membership of Organization

With twenty-five new members signed up during the first half day of their membership drive, members of the Ashland Chamber of Commerce are confident of their success in the campaign, and state they believe almost one hundred members will be signed up before the campaign is completed. The members of the booster organization who have been working throughout the day declare they have had but little difficulty in convincing Ashland people of the advantages to be gained by becoming identified with the chamber, and as a result the membership list is rapidly being added to.

Eight teams, each team consisting of three men, headed by one of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce started early this morning canvassing the city for new members, and in an effort to persuade delinquent members to again take up active membership in the organization. Although it was expected that twelve teams would take the field this morning, it was discovered that members of four of the teams would be unable to start work on the drive until later.

Officials of the organization announced today that the drive would continue until Tuesday, when a complete report of the work completed will be read at the regular Forum luncheon of the booster body, and the names of the new members obtained placed before the organization. From the present indications, it is expected at least one hundred new names will be added to the roster of the organization before Tuesday.

The members of the teams, with their captains, gathered at lunch today, where the first report of their activities was made. All were jubilant over the way the people were responding, in signing up for memberships in the organization, which the workers declare will enable the Chamber to continue its work in advertising the city.

STATE BOUNTIES ON BEASTS ANNOUNCED

Bounties, in addition to those paid by the various counties on predatory animals, to be paid by the state were announced yesterday. The bounties offered by the state are, wolf, $25; cougar, $25; wild cat, $3.

According to the announcement, all wolf hides must be forwarded to the state Game Commission, 419 Pittcock Block, Portland, for identification.

PORTLAND MURDER SUSPECTS OUT OF DANGER OF DEATH

PORTLAND, Nov. 20. — Both W. MacDonald and John Mooney each of whom is held in connection with two murder cases in Portland, will recover, attendants at St. Vincent's Hospital here said early this afternoon. MacDonald is believed to have killed Marion Martin, a night watchman employed at the Closset and Devers wholesale coffee house Tuesday night, when the place was robbed, while Mooney is charged with murdering his former wife, and then attempting to suicide.

MacDonald was taken into custody soon after the finding of Martin, and although he denied any complicity in the holdup and murder, a bullet of the same calibre as those which had been fired from Martin's automatic pistol was taken from his body.

Mooney confessed to shooting his wife, claiming the woman had duped him out of a ranch near Molalla, Oregon, and that he had shot her after she had refused to return the property to him. There is a possibility that Mooney may die, although he is considered practically out of danger, while MacDonald's wound was slight, and his recovery is assured.

CHIEF FIGURES IN THE NEWS SPOTLIGHT

Rumors that Frank B. Kelllogg, American Ambassador to Great Britain, will retire shortly, are current in Washington. Woodrow Wilson separated David Lloyd George and Georges Clemenceau when the British Prime Minister had the French Premier by the collar and was demanding an apology for being called a "liar," according to a book by Wickham Steed, former editor of the London Times. Lloyd George denied the statement. Judge Morris A. Soper, of the United States District Court of Maryland, presided at the Baltimore trial of Congressman John Philip Hill, acquitted there for making home brew.

OFFICIAL OF KIWANIS CLUB WILL BE HERE FOR WEEKLY MEETING

A. C. Strange Will Be Present at Luncheon of Local Club to be Held November 28

A. C. Strange of Astoria, Lieutenant Governor for Oregon of the Kiwanis clubs will be a guest at the regular weekly luncheon of the Ashland Kiwanians, to be held November 28, according to an announcement made here this morning.

The Medford Kiwanis Club has already notified officials of the local organization that a delegation from that city will be present at the luncheon, and it is expected that the Klamath Falls Kiwanians will send a delegation to meet the state officer.

Strange is one of the best known Kiwanis Club workers on the Pacific Coast, and much of the success of the numerous clubs in Oregon has been largely made possible by his work. According to Strange, he will make a short talk at the luncheon here, explaining to the members present the work the Kiwanis Club is attempting to accomplish, the means they are employing to accomplish their ends, and the work already accomplished by the club.

It is expected that the luncheon at which Strange will speak will be one of the best attended held by the local Kiwanis club during the year. Officials here hope that all members of the Kiwanis in this district will attempt to be present, in order to welcome the state officer to this section.

TWO ARE SENTENCED PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Nov. 20. — Frank and Arthur Tallman, brothers, of Los Angeles, were sentenced to eighteen months on McNeil's Island here yesterday. They were convicted of violating the White slavery law. The deserted wife of Frank Tallman was present at the sentencing, weeping broken heartedly as she held her five year old son.

PREPARATIONS MADE FOR ANNUAL DRIVE

With preparations for their annual drive well under way, it was announced this morning at Red Cross headquarters that the Ashland Branch of the American Red Cross would receive subscriptions at any of the banks, and at the Post Office entrance next Monday and Tuesday.

Everyone is urged to join the organization, which accomplishes much good throughout the world. It is hoped the roll call this year will be answered with as much enthusiasm as ever before, when Ashland has responded generously to this cause.

EMMIGRANT RESERVOIR IS RAPIDLY FILLED

Depth of Water in Reservoir Back of Big Dam Is Estimated at 50 Feet

STORM ADDS 15 FEET

Rumor About Dam Cracking Unfounded Declares Engineer Walker, in Charge

About fifteen feet of water has been added in the reservoir formed by the water backed up by the Emigrant Creek dam, according to Engineer Walker, who has charge of the big irrigation reservoir. The present storm brought the depth of the water in the reservoir up to approximately fifty feet, a mark far beyond the expectations of the engineers who constructed the dam.

So rapidly has the reservoir filled up that the Talent Irrigation Company has been unable to handle it, and much of the water is being run out of the tunnel. It is estimated that storage of the entire runoff of Emigrant Creek will not be started before December 1, by which time it is expected the dam will be ready to back up all the water. Cleaning out of the reservoir, and several minor jobs, which were not completed when the dam was made ready for operation, have prevented the storage of the water back of the dam as yet.

It is believed that when the entire runoff of the creek is backed up by the dam, the reservoir will rapidly fill up to its capacity of eight thousand acre feet, assuring plenty of water for all irrigation purposes next summer.

A rumor has been making the rounds in the city, which has it that the Emigrant Creek dam is cracking, and has otherwise proven not up to standard. Walker declares that the dam is fully up to expectations, and that as far as can be seen, is as well built as was called for in the specifications.

The road leading to the dam is being rapidly completed, and it is expected that within a short time motorists will be able to drive their cars to within a few feet of the reservoir. Hundreds of Ashland people have already visited the big project, and viewed the reservoir which has already been formed.

SEARCH IS ON FOR 3 BANK BANDITS

BEND, Ore., Nov. 20. — The hunt for two men and women who yesterday escaped with $2000 in the holdup of the State Bank at Medford continued today with an airplane enlisted in the search. The roads are being patrolled by automobiles. Posses believe the robbers will be caught soon. The robbers held up Gale Saunders, cashier and made away in an auto with the cash. The airplane headed the bandits auto off near Maupin, Oregon.

FRED MERRITT IS GIVEN PAROLE ON CAR THEFT CHARGE

Fred Merritt, 17, of this city, was yesterday sentenced to one year in the county jail, the sentence withheld and parole granted for that period, depending upon his good behavior.

The youth, together with Virgil Ramsey, was arrested in Sacramento several weeks ago, on a charge of stealing an automobile from Oscar Tuttle of this city. When taken into custody in the California city, Merritt and Ramsey had in their possession several articles which were reported stolen from the Ender's store here.

Both boys confessed to their crimes, and asked for parole Saturday. Ramsey was granted parole for a period of one year. Merritt's case was held up, when his attorney filed against the grand jury indictment, charging a mistake had been made in the indictment, thus freeing his client. The court ruled this charge out, and Merritt then pleaded guilty to his charge.

Circuit Judge Walter H. Evans, before whom the case appeared, in passing sentence administered a stern rebuke and lecture to Merritt.

"KITCHENETTE PIG IS NOW IN BIG DEMAND

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 20. — The "Kitchenette pig" is now the beau ideal of the swine world. Changes of the American style of living have forced a change in pig styles. Pigs aren't just pigs.

All this was brought out at the annual "Swine Day" held recently by the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. Results of three years of experimenting in developing the "kitchenette type" porker were presented to swine breeders and feeders who visited the University on "Swine Day". This type, in the ideal, is a hog, whose carcass is all tenderloin, pork chops, boiled ham and other cuts suitable for preparing in a kitchenette.

With the passing of the old-fashioned kitchenette with its large range, capacious kettles and patient housewife, went the demand for the larger cuts of meat requiring roasting or boiling. A quick-cooking piece of meat that can be hustled into a frying pan atop a tiny electric cooker after an afternoon at bridge is now the demand.

LOCAL GRID SQUAD TRIMS GRANTS PASS WARRIORS, 13-10

Show Good Football in First Half But Slow Down in Second Period. Bad Weather

Showing flashes of the sort of football which enabled them to outplay the Medford eleven, the Ashland High School outfit handed the Grants Pass grid warriors a 13-10 spanking on the high school field yesterday.

The game was played in a driving rain, which made handling of the ball difficult, and as a result fumbles were frequent. Both elevens experienced difficulties in getting started in the mud, and as a result, the game was a slow affair.

During the first half, the locals played the visitors off their feet, and showed great football, probably as good as that they showed in the Medford game, but in the second half, things were different. The work of the local squad was anything but good, and the Grants Pass boys took advantage of their led down, and had them on the run for a while.

Coach Hughes was far from satisfied with the showing made by his charges, even in the first half, and the boys are in for some strenuous practice sessions before their game with Medford here Thanksgiving Day. Their win over Grants Pass yesterday wiped out their early season defeat at the hands of this same outfit, and they are now primed to knock over the Medford game and avenge the only other defeat outstanding against them.

Straight football formed the basis of the attack of both squads yesterday. The slippery ball made end running and an aerial game extremely dangerous, and both outfits resorted to the old line plugging game. The locals showed a remarkable superiority over the visitors in this game during the first half, but the latter periods of the game the game they seemed to let down, and were on the run for most of the second half.

GRANTS PASS GIRL FINED FOR DRIVING 53 MILES AN HOUR

Miss Norma Trumbley of Grants Pass was arrested yesterday afternoon by State Traffic Officer J. J. McMahon, charged with driving 53 miles an hour. She was taken before Justice Gowdy, and after pleading guilty to the charge, was fined fifty dollars. The local judge lectured Miss Trumbley, stating that fast driving on the highways in this section would have to be stopped. Miss Trumbley failed to produce a drivers license, claiming she had lost it, but promised she would make application for a new one. Upon receipt of the new license, she will forward it to Gowdy, and relinquish the right to drive her automobile for a period of six months.

Salem building permits for October were $256,000, passing 40 western cities in per cent of gain.

COLLIER WILL BE JUDGE OF POULTRY HERE

Well Known Tacoma Fancier Will be Judge of Poultry at Fair

IS NATIONALLY KNOWN

Entry Lists in Rabbit Classes Will be Swelled by Special Premiums of Association

Although all the officials for the Winter Fair have not been selected as yet, it was announced this morning at the office of the Chamber of Commerce that Harry Collier, of Tacoma had been obtained to judge the poultry exhibits which will be shown here. This announcement meets with the approval of every poultry fancier who will show birds here, for Collier is considered one of the ablest poultry judges on the Coast. He is a well known poultry raiser of Washington, and is president of the National Judges Association.

The officials here have been negotiating with several other well known poultry experts, in the hope of obtaining them to act as judges, and although the list has not yet been completed, it is believed one of the best judging staffs to appear in the state will be on hand when the show opens.

The work of putting the Chautauqua building in shape is going along very rapidly, and it is expected that the building will soon be ready for the installation of the equipment to be used in the show. A carpenter is working in the building now, making necessary changes and installing equipment preparatory to the placing of the coops.

New coops will have to be purchased to supplement the coops already owned by the Winter Fair Association, in order to handle the record number of entries expected for this year's show. It is believed some coops will be obtained from the Jackson County Fair Association, which will greatly facilitate the handling of the entries, but even with the addition of this equipment, it is believed at least 100 new coops will have to be purchased.

The entries in the various rabbit classes will be greatly increased over the lists for the past number of years by the large number of special premiums to be awarded in these classes. It is believed, Merchants and civic organizations throughout Southern Oregon have subscribed generously to the special premiums in these classes, and these awards, together with the regular prizes to be given, will insure a record entry list.

BANDITS HOLD UP ROBINDIANA BANK

CONVERSE, Ind., Nov. 20. — Nine armed bandits, one a woman, held up the Farmer's State Bank here and escaped with loot estimated at $8,000, early this afternoon. The bandits knocked down the bank president when he attempted to stop them, and forced the cashier of the institution to open the safe.

CAR STOLEN HERE IS FOUND BY SAN FRANCISCO POLICE

Word was received here yesterday by Chief of Police McNabb that an automobile, owned by Grover Leach of this city, which was stolen from in front of the Southern Pacific station several days ago, had been recovered by the San Francisco police department.

Paul White of San Francisco, was found in possession of the missing automobile, McNabb upon receipt of the information from San Francisco notified Sheriff Terrill, and the latter will leave for San Francisco to return White as soon as extradition papers can be obtained from the California state authorities.

Although it is believed White will fight extradition, nothing definite has been heard concerning his attitude in the case, and until it is determined whether the aid of the California officials will be needed to return him to this city nothing can be done, and White will be held in the San Francisco county jail.
