a protection to the fruit growers, but a discrimination to which some of the small growers have been to a total loss. To the excess rate charged per meter the first year the meter was installed, the writer started using the water for irrigation and the cost per month would run from $50 to $65 per acre, in which the crop would not have any more than sufficient amount of moisture. So irrigation had to be reduced to a minimum, which meant a total loss to fruit growers and which is a very expensive work in the upkeep for every season.
In regard to the water meter system, the writer believes it would be economical providing it was on a legal scale. That all waterusers should be on a meter or all on a flat rate. The meter users pay for every gallon of water they use, while the people on flat rate are getting the advantage of paying a very small amount in proportion, when we should be evenly taxed.
The writer has had the sad experience for three years of using only one tap during the month of April for 14 days. The amount charged was $14, while the people on flat rate were using the water free of charge.
I trust our new administration will give the taxpayer a more just, fair and legitimate service. Yours respectfully,
OSCAR GUSTAFSON.

GORMAN, CARLSON DRAW IN MAIN GO IN ELK'S SMOOKER
In the first round, but the bell came to his disgrace, and he had to do it all over again. The second round was over quick. Kennedy had no desire to even start this frame, but his seconds pushed him out to take it. Three or four feeble leads, and he took a couple and went down. It was one of the neatest dives ever executed in a local ring, according to old fans, the Medford boy showing the grace of a Pavlova in going down.
Ray Ruger had plenty of heart, but not boxing knowledge, and as a result he took a bad beating from Young Carpenter of Roseburg in the curtain raiser. Carpenter opened a nasty cut over the local boy's eye in the first round, and then kept the cut open, by landing at will on the injured optic. Carpenter failed to show much, for he hit Ruger enough times to knock over the Statue of Liberty, but his blows seemed to lack authority. Ruger stood up under the beating, and was in there trying just as hard at the final bell as when the bout started. With a little training, the local boxer should give Carpenter a merry tussle.
Clarence and Edward Kell, sixty pound bruisers of Gold Hill, wrestled ten minutes to a draw. These youngsters showed a great knowledge of the bone crushers art, and it is doubtful if any sixty pounder will accept their challenge which was issued at the close of their match.
Martin Bowers of Gold Hill refereed all bouts, and in the final tussle he had his work-picked out for him prying apart the two boxers. He kept the boys going in all the fights, although he was unable to keep Kennedy from taking his flop.

the man he holds, led officials here to believe that at last a capture had been effected. At various times, in various places, other men have been arrested on suspicion of complicity in the robbery, but in none has the arresting officer appeared so certain that he hold a d'Autremont. Chief McCully sent his dispatch to Frank Minto, chief of police at Salem; Chief Minto immediately forwarded the message to United States Marshall Hotchkiss, who telegraphed McCully to hold d'Autremont until post-office inspectors arrived.
Three d'Autremonts are wanted for the crime, Roy and Ray, twins, and Hugh.
The d'Autremonts were first captured 12 days after the robbery.
The train was held up shortly after noon, S. L. Bates and M. Seng, fireman, murdered, then the mail car was blown up with nitroglycerine, the explosion killing C. F. Daugherty, mail clerk, C. O. Johnson, brakeman, rushed towards the scene of the explosion from the rear of the train and was shot down. Several passengers were injured by the explosion. The bandits escaped.

The luncheon was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended and during the course of the program, several prominent citizens and Kiwanians spoke, also several players and the manager.
The Kiwanis Club seems to take a genuine interest in the varied athletic activities in our high school.

Now is the time to buy spray pumps, plows and harrows, drills and all kinds of farm implements. Fencing in every style. Harness, collars, snaps, and pads. New and used Sewing Machines. Auto Robes, etc.

The emphatic statement of Chief McCully in the telegram received here, to the effect that he was positive of the identity of school.

In this way the school is enabled to get into closer touch with the men of Ashland, and they, likewise with us. We are sincerely thankful to them for this interest and the heart with which they stand behind us in our many and varied school activities.

High School Paper Out
The third issue of the Ashland High School paper, the "Rogue News," was distributed among the subscribers Tuesday. This last issue proved to be the best this year, so far, as to arrangement and contents. The coming game with Medford, on the twenty seventh was the editorial feature, while the news, special features and jokes were of the very best. Judging from the papers, we should have a wonderful annual this year.

The Hi Y met at 7:30 Thursday evening in Pioneer Hall. The whole meeting was devoted to athletics and everyone had a good time.

The English IV class is taking up the study of Tennyson's "Idylls of the King" and the members of the class have been preparing themselves by reading tales of King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table.

The Forensic society met Monday evening at 7:30 in the high school building for the school spirit meeting.

Two short spirited stunts opened the meeting. These were followed by a lesson in judging debate and all the members of the society judged the debate—"Resolved, That yell rallies promote better citizenship." The vote was 14 to 6 in favor of the affirmative.

The next meeting, to be November 25, will be devoted to the tryouts determining which students shall have the honor of appearing before the Assembly the next day.

The Sewing 1 class have just completed the undergarments which they have been working on as one of their projects for this semester.
The work is very good, and they had a fine display of their handiwork in the sewing room. The garments showed individuality in design.
The class is now working on cotton dresses, that will be suitable for school wear.

The latest idea the juniors have had for making money is selling football balloons. A good many were sold the day of the Grants Pass game. The juniors also netted a nice sum from their candy sale on the athletic field on Wednesday afternoon.

Although it rained almost continually during Wednesday's grid battle and a cold wind blew with bitter intensity, a large crowd of onlookers and boosters for both teams were present to see Grants Pass defeated by the Ashland eleven by a score of 13 to 10.

Considering the weather conditions, Grants Pass had a fine showing of people who rooted for their stubbornly fighting team until the last.

The Ashland High School was dismissed at 2:30 and the students in the grade schools, who could bring statements from their parents giving them permission to go to the game, were dismissed at the same time.

The main topic of conversation is the big game next Thursday and a huge crowd is expected.

After coming so near to winning on Armistice Day and not having won a Medford game since 1921, the student body is all ready for a real battle.

It should be an evenly matched game, with lots of thrills, the big game of the year.

Rosina Gallatin, a senior, and Frances Gallatin, a sophomore of the Ashland High School are going to leave Sunday evening for Chicago where they are to represent Oregon, advertising Oregon prunes. They are to bake bread in the International Bread Baking Contest. So Oregon feels very proud in being able to send representatives. The Gallatin girls will be accompanied by Mr. H. C. Seymour, state club leader, Mrs. Seymour and Miss Helen Dustin of Portland.

The regular debate meeting was held last Wednesday night at 7:30 in Professor Briscoe's office. Mrs. Galey conducted the meeting with arguments in favor of the negative side of the district debate question which is: "Resolved that a graduated income tax is a desirable feature of a state system of taxation."
The question: "Resolved that the new system of outside reading is better than the old system," was debated. Riley Pittenger and Marion Leach upheld the affirmative, the negative being upheld by Roland Parks and Barnard Joy. A decision of two to one was given in favor of the affirmative.

Miss Weatherford, practice house teacher of Ashland High, is planning to motor to Corvallis on Friday evening to attend the home coming week end, at the Agriculture College.
