PHEASANTS ARE TO BE SHOWN AT WINTER FAIR

Game Commission to Send Pen of Twenty-four Birds to be Shown Here

WILL BE RELEASED

Prize Stock for Show Should be on Hand by Monday, According to Show Officials

With exhibits of twenty four Chinese pheasants and a number of beaver as special attractions the poultry show to be held during the Winter Fair which opens on Tuesday promises to be one of the most interesting affairs of its kind ever held here. The exhibit of pheasants is being placed at the disposal of the organization in charge of the fair by the Oregon State Game Commission, and at the close of the show will be released in Jackson County. Roy M. Parr, deputy game warden for this section was notified Thursday that the birds would be available if he would construct a pen in which to house them during the four days of the fair. It was explained by officials of the commission that the pen would have to be constructed in such a manner as to keep the public away from the birds, since they are easily frightened. Parr states that the pen will be constructed for the birds, and thus the show gains a highly desirable exhibit.

According to officials of the fair association, the birds to be shown here should start to arrive in this city on Monday morning, although there is a possibility that some may be on hand as early as Sunday. The Oakland Poultry Show which closed yesterday, had as exhibits a number of the prize stock to be shown here, and there is a possibility that these birds will be shipped directly to Ashland for the Winter Fair.

Eight entries have been received for the egg laying contest, the big feature of the fair, thus assuring the success of the undertaking. Volunteers worked until a late hour last night, getting the pens in which the contesting birds will be housed, into place, and everything is now in readiness for the starters signal. Three handsome prizes have been donated for this attraction, and the competition should be extremely keen.

The opera L'Ombra is to be presented at the Armory on the evening of December 9, the opening night of the fair, and there will be no entertainment in connection with the fair on that evening. On Thursday evening the school children of the city will present the entertainment features, to be given in the Armory, while on the following night, the closing night of the show, carnival night will be observed. The various civic organizations of the city are arranging programs and entertainment features to be presented at that time which will make it a gala night.

COPCO STRIKE IS REPORTED FAILURE

YREKA, Cal., Dec. 6.—After existing more than two weeks, the strike called on the hydro-electric project of the California-Oregon Power Company on the Klamath River near Copco has failed.

The leaders of the strike element folded their tents at the strike headquarters at Hornbrook and the groups of men who have loitered in the street of the town have disappeared, some have returned to their former jobs on the project and others have sought new fields.

Not a single concession was gained by the strikers, it is said. The stoves for the cook house, which formed one of the alleged grievances, arrived in due time and were installed. There was no raise in the wage schedule.

The leaders of the strike, admittedly the members of the Industrial Workers of the World, closed the office in Hornbrook and left after saying that the strike had been called off.

Salem — New aerial ladder truck received and approved, costing $16,000.

MAN SHE MARRIED IN YREKA NEVER WORKED, IS SAID

Why have a husband if he won't work?" asked Mrs. Helen Wallace, proprietor of a San Francisco beauty parlor, last week at the bay city of Judge Ed P. Shortall when she got a decree of divorce from Theodore F. Wallace, mining engineer of Walla Walla, says the Yreka Journal.

From the date of their marriage at Yreka, September 2, 1922, until their separation less than a year later, Mrs. Wallace said her husband was content to live in the home of her parents at Rogue River, Oregon, and live off their bounty and what she provided through her own labors.

SHRINER PATROL, DRUM CORPS WILL JOIN IN MEETING

At the stated session of Hillah Temple of the Mystic Shrine, held at the Masonic temple in Ashland last night, further plans were made for the representation of Hillah Temple at the 1925 meeting of the Imperial Shrine at Los Angeles next June with its uniformed patrol and drum and bugle corps.

Noble Dr. Van Emon of Klamath Falls was present at the session and reported that the drum and bugle corp of the temple in that city was being equipped and is in practice there in anticipation of the trip, and that the Shrine members in his city were enthusiastically working to perfect this branch of Hillah's uniformed representation at Los Angeles.

The patrol of the temple made up of members from Ashland, Medford and Grants Pass is also drilling regularly each week in anticipation of entering the competition at the Imperial meeting for which tremendous preparations are being made in the Southern California metropolis. If present plans work out, Hillah's uniformed representatives at this gathering, including the uniformed patrol, drum and bugle corps, will number approximately fifty men.

PORTLAND, Dec. 6. — With the secret of his identity and the key to the mystery which is surrounding the murder of Marion Martin, local night watchman, locked within his breast, W. McDonald, yeggmán, died last night at St. Vincent's Hospital here.

McDonald, badly wounded, has been in the hospital since November 19, when he was found near the warehouse of Closset and Devers with a bullet in his back. Martin the nightwatchman for the firm was found dead in the office of the warehouse from gunshot wounds, amidst confusion which pointed to a terrific struggle. Police officials of the city believe McDonald is one of the yeggs implicated in the killing of Martin, but throughout his stay in the hospital, McDonald denied the charge.

Galley is transacting the deal.

RENO BOOSTERS ADVOCATE 1926 FAIR FOR STATE

Body Meets With Local Leaders at Dinner. Support Is Promised

PRAISE LITHIA PARK

Hutchinson, Former Lieutenant Governor of Idaho Delivers Main Speech of Dinner

About thirty citizens of Ashland, representing the leading civic clubs of the city, dined last night at the Hotel Ashland with the special booster expedition, advocating a trans-continental highway, with a Nevada Exposition to be held in Reno in 1926. The endorsement of the local members in attendance was given the exposition, with the promise that all aid possible would be given the project by the people of this section.

Irving E. Vining, president of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce presided at the dinner, and welcomed the visitors to the city in a most cordial manner. Wallace B. Gillette, director general of the exposition responded with a speech on the object of the tour, explaining that it was being made in order that interest might be aroused in the Reno exposition. He stated that Nevada had given her support to every exposition held on the coast, and that now, when Nevada was making ready to hold such an affair, she hoped for the aid of the rest of the Pacific Coast.

Giving an intimate view of the tourist travel of today, as compared with that of a few years ago, Joe Hutchinson, former lieutenant governor of Idaho explained in just what manner the exposition would benefit the remainder of the states on the Pacific Coast. He declared that it would give added impetus to tourist travel from the East.

This morning the visitors, who are traveling throughout the country in a big motor bus, viewed the spots of interest in the city, and were taken on a tour of Lithia Park by Frank Jordan, park commissioner. They were lavish in their praise of the wonderful park supported by this city, declaring it to be one of the most beautiful in any city they have visited, and promising to advertise the fame of the park on the remainder of their journey. The party will journey to Redding where they will hold another meeting this evening, and on Monday will go on to Sacramento, where another gathering will be held. On Thursday they will enter San Francisco, where a huge parade, made up of many residents of Nevada and members of civic organizations of city will be held as a closing feature of their long tour.

LUMBER HEAD SAYS MILL PRICE HIGH

KLAMATH FALLS, Dec. 6.—Thomas A. McCann, general manager of the Shevlin-Hixon Lumber company, accompanied by a number of associates, reached this city recently.

Mr. McCann, whose company holds an option on the plant and timber of the Shaw-Bertram Lumber company of this city, stated to a Klamath News reporter that the party's presence here was for the express purpose of securing a location and that it was hoped to effect successful negotiations to that end.

"We have an option on the Shaw-Bertram plant and other holdings as well," he said, "but we are finding site prices pretty stiff and are somewhat in a quandry. My company wants to locate in Klamath Falls but it does not seem like sound business to outlay an investment for a site that will eat up a couple of years' profits to repay. It is the Shevlin-Hixon custom when entering a new territory to ask nothing of a community but I will frankly admit that we are having difficulties in this instance. You may say that my firm wants to locate in the immediate vicinity of Klamath Falls and will build for operation elsewhere only if the situation as to site costs remains prohibitive.

This absolutely unretouched photograph of President Calvin Coolidge was flashed from Marconi House, London, to the New York City offices of the Radio Corporation of America, by wireless, for the first time in history. Fifteen minutes was required to transmit the print. The sound is translated into light on a moving cylinder.

GOLD HILL MAY HAVE AN ELECTRIC PLANT

The City of Gold Hill in owning the Public Service Corporation power plant on the Crater Lake Road a mile from town possesses the greatest asset any town with an ambition to amount to something could wish for. The power plant as it stands today is equipped as a 500 horse power unit in electrical energy. The only use the city is making of the plant is for pumping water for the citizens of the city and the amount of money derived from the water revenue is a very poor return for the $22,000 spent by the city in purchasing the plant, according to the Gold Hill News.

C. W. Martin, superintendent of the Beaver Portland Cement plant here and a former engineer for the California-Oregon Power company, and the former owner of the Independent Glendale Power company, and a Mr. Moore, met with the City Council last Monday night in the interest of encouraging the city of Gold Hill in putting into practical use that which the city owns but has never utilized — the Hydro-Electric machinery in the power house.

MERRYMAN IS NAMED LAND BOARD LAWYER

SALEM, Dec. 6. — Harold Merryman of Klamath Falls was named attorney for the state land board at that point, at a meeting of the board of control held on Monday, it became known here last night.

Mr. Merryman's selection came when Governor Walter Pierce formally announced that J. H. Carnahan, a Klamath attorney, had resigned the position. On motion of Jefferson Myers, state treasurer and member of the board, the name of Mr. Merryman was placed in nomination. In voting upon the selection, the records show that Sam Kozler, secretary of state, preferred to take no part in the action and the votes of the governor and Mr. Myers only were recorded as affirming the nomination.

BANDITS GIVEN JAIL TERMS FOR RAIDS IN CITY

Dorner, Mack and Kelley Receive Five Years Each in State Penitentiary

CLAIMED DRIFTERS

McDonald Given One Year Term in Jail. Was Accomplice of Kelley in Burglary

Five young men, ranging from 20 to 25 years in age, described by Circuit Judge Charles M. Thomas, as "units of that endless procession of California products, drifting winter and summer from Los Angeles to Seattle and back again, lined up before the bar of justice Thursday afternoon and received prison sentences upon pleas of guilty to indictments charging burglary, robbery and larceny.

The story of each was the same, no job, no money, and hungry.

Four were given terms of five years each in the state prison at Salem, the other — the charge against him reduced to petty larceny upon recommendation of the district attorney, was sentenced to a year in the county jail. James Kelly, charged with the robbery of the Standard Oil service station in this city, was sentenced to serve five years in state prison. Kelley was arrested near Talent, and had a quantity of nitro-glycerine in his possession. John McDonald was arrested in company with Kelly, but both maintained they had met by accident on the railroad. McDonald owing to these circumstances, was sentenced to a year in the county jail. The loot from the robbery was a leather coat, which McDonald aided the authorities in recovering.

A. C. Dorner and James Mack, indicted for the robbery of a secondhand store in Medford and apprehended with missing articles in their possession by Chief of Police McNabb were also each given prison terms of five years. They were also accused of entering a secondhand store in this city.

Richard Stone and Frank Vader charged with the robbery of the Martin Bowers drug store in Gold Hill were also given five year sentences. Stone is only 20 years of age, and his attorney, Rawles Moore, appointed by the court, made a plea for clemency on account of his youth, without avail.

In passing sentence, Judge Thomas spoke to the prisoners in a sympathetic manner, and admonished them "to refrain from bitterness during incarceration," and explained to them the workings of the Oregon parole law, which would be applicable in their cases in one year.

The court also said "that a study of the records of Josephine county showed that 90 per cent of the men indicted in that county were drifting from Seattle to Los Angeles, or vice versa, depending on the season of the year."

BUSTER BROWN, TIGE, ARE PLEASING KIDDIES

Buster Brown and his dog Tige were the chief attractions at a special matinee performance at the Vining Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock when they entertained more than 800 boys and girls and their parents.

Buster Brown, who is performing in town where The Buster Brown shoes are sold, has been here before, but the dog Tige was a stranger here, as the original Tige died last year. However, the new Tige was equal to the occasion and delighted the youngsters as he sat on his chair and "looked wise".

An instructive lecture on "Buster Brown" shoes, which are handled by the Golden Rule in this city, who sponsored the performance, was given by Buster Brown. The program also included a short entertainment by "The Buckskin Circus" which is performing at the Vining tonight.

Klamath Falls — St. Paul's Episcopal church buys lot and will build in spring.

SENTENCED TO JAIL WITH THEIR DEVILS FOR SHOP LIFTING

UTICA, N. Y., Dec. 6. — Mamie Andreu and Josephine Hallimo, charged with shoplifting, were arraigned before City Judge John T. Buckley. They told the court they were not bad, but that the devil was inside of them and prompted them to take the articles. In passing sentence Judge Buckley said:

"This devil is responsible for a lot of crime. I don't want to be hard on you so I'll sentence the devil to ten days in jail. As long as he is inside of you, I suppose you'll have to go along, too."

SENATORS LINE UP IN SUPPORT OF A MUSCLE SHOALS BILL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. — With the administration forces and the Southern Senators practically behind it, prospects are bright that the Senate early next week will pass the Underwood bill for disposing of the Government's costly Muscle Shoals power and nitrate properties at Muscle Shoals, Alabama.

The bill proposes that Muscle Shoals should be operated by a Federal corporation if efforts fail to lease the property to private interests — exactly what President Coolidge suggested in his annual message.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. — Reclamation projects appropriations for Oregon, as provided by the Interior Department bill, were approved by the House without charge or without debate today.

They are for the reappropriation of $495,000 for the Baker project, $840,000 for the Umatilla project and $561,000 for the Klamath project.

OPEN SEASON ON DEER IS PLANNED

Unification of certain game laws in Oregon, embracing a change that will make the deer season in all parts of the state extend from September 15 to October 31 with two bucks as the bag limit; open season on Chinese pheasants on Wednesdays and Sundays throughout October with a limit of one hen per day and a closed season on native pheasants, ruffed grouse, blue grouse and all quail, is urged by the Umatilla County Fish and Game Protective association in a letter to the Klamath Sportsmen association, says the Klamath Falls News.

Many who hunt consistently and are familiar with conditions over the state, are of the opinion that the uniform season for deer instead of the present conflicting schedule in districts will be a wise change.

Just how Klamath sportsmen will meet a proposal to close the season completely on quail is problematical as this section of the state still offers abundant hunting in this line and there seems to be little need of entirely shutting off the sport, it is said.

SCION OF OLD FAMILY IDENTIFIED AS YEGG

SEATTLE, Dec. 6. — A bandit, identified as Lionel Grow, 28, a scion of one of Utah's oldest families, and a great grandson of the builder of the Mormon tabernacle in Salt Lake City is dead today, following an unsuccessful attempt to hold up the Kent National Bank at Kent, Washington, late yesterday.

He was slain in a riddling fire from the rifles and pistols of Kent's aroused citizens, after he had shot and probably fatally wounded the town marshal, Fred Frant, who attempted to frustrate the holdup.

Operated On— E. L. McNeil, one of the hotel contractors was operated on at the Community Hospital this morning. Miss Snellie of Medford has charge of the case.

CITY PLANNING IN KLAMATH FALLS

KLAMATH FALLS, Dec. 6.—A movement to establish a city planning commission and create building zones in Klamath Falls received a tremendous impetus today when J. H. Carkin, city attorney of Medford, in simple terms, told the chamber of commerce forum of the success in city planning experienced by the city of Medford.

"Zoning in the city of Medford has meant a great deal to the growth and prosperity of our community," Mr. Carkin said. "It has stabilized and protected property interests; prevented undue congestion; simplified our sanitary system; insured the character of each district or zone, and has made the city more orderly and attractive throughout.

"The question of city planning arose before the Medford council as the result of numerous complaints to the council by residence owners who held that the construction of a garage or industrial building in a residence district lowered the value of property.
