POLICE ARREST MAN SUSPECTED IN FUR ROBBERY

Eugene O'Grady Taken Into Custody by Local Men in Medford

BUT ANOTHER ESCAPES

George N. Edwards, Accomplice of O'Grady Makes Good Escape When Officers Approach

Following a search which was started December 1, and has led local officers a chase throughout the county, Chief of Police McNabb and Deputy Game Warden Roy Parr yesterday arrested Eugene O'Grady, 17, of Medford camp grounds, as a suspect in the robbery of the Bryce McCormick home at Keno, when a number of valuable furs were taken.

O'Grady, when taken into custody, was living in the camp grounds with George N. Edwards, of Washington, Edwards' wife, and a young man whose name was not learned. Edwards was wanted in connection with the burglary, but made good his escape upon the arrival of the officers, leaving his wife stranded in Medford. The young man who was found living with the members of the gang was not arrested, since he proved to the satisfaction of the officers that he had no connection with the crime. Since the arrest of O'Grady, this young man has aided the police in their efforts to locate Edwards.

Several days ago McCormick notified McNabb that the furs had been stolen, and asked the local chief to keep a lookout for the culprits. McNabb started a search throughout this section, finally connected O'Grady and Edwards with the crime. A search for these men was then started and Sunday the Medford police notified McNabb and Parr they had been located living in the Medford camp grounds. No arrest was possible on that day, since it was impossible to secure a search warrant, needed to search the cabin in which the men were living.

Yesterday, McNabb and Parr visited the Medford camp grounds and took O'Grady into custody. Edwards, when he saw the arrest made, broke away, and despite a chase by the officers, was able to make his escape.

The furs were not recovered, and it is believed that Edwards sold them between the time of the burglary and the time of the arrest. Fur dealers and others who might be approached to buy the furs have been warned of the theft, but so far nothing has been heard of the missing articles. Police throughout this section have been notified of Edwards' escape, and it is thought he will be in custody within a few days.

S. P. OFFICIALS TO MEET IN CONFERENCE WITH LABOR LEADERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—A peaceful settlement of the long drawn out wage dispute between the six thousand members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the management of the Southern Pacific line appeared likely today, following an agreement by the management to meet the Brotherhood's representatives, after the employees had voted to strike unless their demands for a conference were met by the officials.

The following statement was made by President William M. Sproule of the Southern Pacific Company today, "The representatives of the employees in engine service have asked for a joint conference and an answer has been given them that this is agreeable to the company at an early and convenient date."

It was believed by neutral parties that the Southern Pacific lines throughout the country would have been tied up had not the management agreed to the conference, and thus prevented the strike which was very near on several occasions during the arbitration.

CHICAGO HOME BREWERS COST CITY THOUSANDS

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Home brew enthusiasts, with their grape wine concocting, are costing the city of Chicago thousands of dollars, according to the Commissioner of Public Works.

"For the past three months," he said, "we have been receiving complaints of sewer interruption, and in nine cases out of ten we have found mash or grape skins thrown into the sewer as the cause of the trouble. "If you must make that home brew or grape wine at home, please keep the mash and the grape skins out of the city sewers," the commissioner has requested Congressman Hillis, of Chicago, in a special plea.

POULTRY JUDGE IS SPEAKER AT FORUM LUNCHEON OF BODY

Harry Collier Addresses Members of Chamber on Poultry. Vining Speaks on Marketing

"I was very pleasantly surprised this morning when I saw your wonderful display of turkeys on exhibition at the Winter Fair poultry show" were the words of Harry Collier, nationally known poultry judge, who addressed the Forum luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce at the Hotel Ashland today. Collier, president of the National Judge's Association is judging the birds at the show being staged here.

Explaining that it was becoming more and more difficult to induce commercial chicken raisers to enter birds in poultry shows, and thus only those who raised prize stock for exhibition were now competing, Collier showed the steps which have been taken by national poultry associations to promote shows in which these commercial raisers are interested. Setting a standard for a utility chicken, upon which all birds will, in the future, be judged, Collier stated will no more than anything else to stimulate interest among the commercial raisers.

Collier explained the difficulty of judging birds under artificial light, explaining to his hearers the reasons for this difficulty. He also gave a short discussion on the quality of the individual birds which distinguish good layers from poor layers, and gave the poultry raisers present many valuable tips on culling their stock.

Irving E. Vining, President of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce gave a very interesting talk on the marketing problems of the poultry growers of Oregon, and cited instances where co-operative marketing in this state had netted the poultrymen handsome returns.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—As he sat when he was known as the ring's most cunning battler, Kid McCoy leaned back in his chair in superior court here today and analyzed the jury as it stood on the second day of his trial for the murder of Mrs. Teresa Mors, his sweetheart.

Eight women and four men are in the jury box. Both the defense and the prosecution used many prospective jurors in their challenges in securing the jury. The state indicated today that it will ask for the death penalty.

COOLIDGE WILL NOT STAND FOR 'PORK BARREL'

Gives Notice That Rivers and Harbors Bill Must be Cut Before Approval

CLAIMS ARE PADDED

General Butler Given One Year More as Chief of Police in Philadelphia

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—President Coolidge intends to put his foot down firmly on all attempts on the part of the heads of departments and of congressmen to enact "pork barrel" legislation at this session of Congress, it was announced from the White House today.

According to the announcement, extreme drastic cut must be made in the rivers and harbors bill before the President will approve it. Coolidge claims that the bill is entirely too large at the present time, stating that he believes much of the work included in the appropriation bill could be done away with, while a great deal of it, that which must be finished, can be completed at a far smaller cost than that in the bill.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—President Coolidge has very reluctantly granted Brigadier General Smedley Butler another year's absence to continue his work as Chief of Police in Philadelphia, with the understanding that there will be no further extension when this year is up.

Butler has been very successful so far in cleaning up Philadelphia, and it was hoped that the President would allow him to remain for at least two years more, but the chief executive declined to grant this leave, stating that Butler should right now be back with his command.

CONVICT CONTINUED CONFIDENCE GAME IN JAIL, GUARD VICTIM

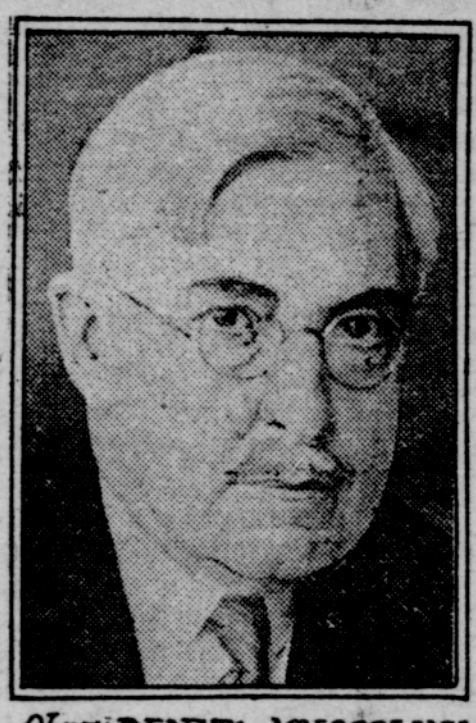

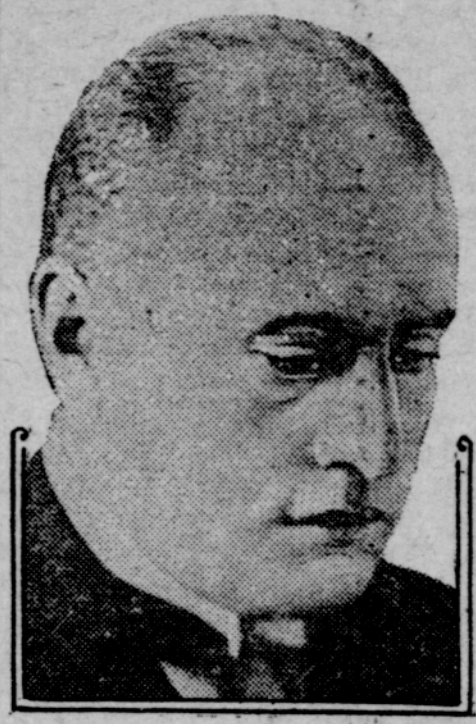

SALEM, Dec. 9.—A. L. Chance, ex-convict, who is wanted at Eugene on a charge of swindling W. L. Miner, capitalist of that city out of $3000, mulcted at least three guards while he was serving a term in the Oregon state penitentiary, it was reported here.

Chance came to the prison here from Ontario on a charge of forging a check for $1500 while in the employ of a lumber concern. He was paroled by Governor Pierce on April 3, 1923, because he had contracted tuberculosis.

While in the prison here Chance told three guards that he had hidden a large amount of money in the Siskiyou mountain district a few miles south of the California line. Maps showing the location of alleged cache were prepared by Chance and sold to the three guards at $50 each. The money for the maps was said to have been paid by the purchasers to Mrs. Chance.

Strict secrecy marked the transactions and none of the guards knew that the other had purchased a map. Incidentally, all three of the guards later requested a vacation at about the same time. While searching for the cache two of the guards came face to face in the heart of the Siskiyou mountains. The swindle subsequently was exposed. The cache was never discovered, but the three guards were said to have been discharged by prison officials. The guards were named Geer, Hazelwood and Rogers.

NEW FURNITURE IS BOUGHT FOR HOTEL ASHLAND BY OWNER

E. T. Allen, Owner of Hostelry, Says He Believes Ashland Is Due for Great Prosperity

In line with the improvement work which he has been doing since he purchased the Hotel Ashland, E. T. Allen, proprietor of the hostelry late last week placed an order through the firm of J. P. Dodge and Sons for several car loads of the best furniture manufactured by the Simmons Manufacturing Co., the leading hotel equipment house in America. The Simmons product is favorably known to every hotel manager in this country.

This order is sufficient to place the furnishings of the Hotel Ashland in a class second to none along the entire Pacific Highway, and will be a wonderful boost for the city, giving it one of the most handsomely furnished hotels in the state.

During the short time of his ownership of the Hotel Ashland, Allen has expended several thousand dollars in entirely refitting the building on the inside, redecorating the lobby and rooms, and putting a new front on the building. Allen states that much more work will be done on the building, thoroughly renovating it, inside and out. Allen is attempting to make the hotel one of the finest of its kind in the state, a place where residents of Southern Oregon may gather and entertain their friends. He has received many compliments upon the work he has accomplished so far, which are greatly appreciated.

Allen is an optimistic booster, and states that he believes Ashland is due for the greatest period of general prosperity it has ever known.

SAILORS MISSING WERE NOT ABOARD EXPLODED CARRIER

Officers Claim Men Were Away Without Leave. Many of Injured May Die

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—A check by the officials of the Pacific Fleet of the men aboard the water taxi, Lamoyne, which exploded and sank in the harbor here yesterday, failed to reveal that any of the sixteen men reported as missing were aboard the ill fated craft when it went down.

The official announcement was made today that the explosion had resulted in the death of one sailor, with one member of the fleet absent and a score of others injured. Some of the injured are in such a terribly mutilated condition that it is doubtful if they will live over a few hours.

It is believed that the missing sailors are absent from their ships with out leave and are now in the city, hoping that they will be listed as dead or missing and will thus be able to escape serving the rest of their enlistment. A search of the city has been started for a number of the men who are known to be absent without leave.

SECOND NUMBER OF COURSE IS HERE TONIGHT

Comic Opera L'Ombra Will be Presented as Number of Celebrity Course

WORK OF VON FLOTOW

Large Audience Expected to be Present at Armory Tonight When Opera is Presented

The second, and probably one of the best of the Ashland Celebrity Course numbers, the comic opera L'Ombra, is to be presented at the Armory here this evening at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Ellison White tours company of Portland.

This opera, by Von Flotow, is considered one of the finest of its kind ever presented in this country. Written to be sung either with or without chorus, it is peculiarly adapted to be presented on tour, and during the presentation of the number throughout the country, it has attracted very favorable criticism wherever it has been sung.

Although the time represented in the opera is the late fifteenth century and the place, Savoy, France, in the village of San Remy, the opera is sung in English, having been translated by Gilbert A. Beckett. This feature has attracted thousands of lovers of music throughout the country, who do not care to attend operas given in foreign languages, since they cannot understand the numbers.

The opera depicts a young nobleman, living under cover, in the home of a young widow. A servant girl falls in love with the nobleman, while Dr. Mironet, another resident of the widow's home falls in love with the servant girl. The situation which arises are, some of them, very funny.

A very much larger crowd than that which heard the Haddon Hall String Quartette the first number of the course, is expected at the opera this evening. Although no definite report on the number of tickets sold has been received by the committee in charge of the course, it is believed quite a number have been sold since the appearance of the quartette. Tickets are on sale at a number of the business houses throughout the city, while seats may be reserved, at no additional cost, at the Rose Confectionery.

STATE GETS LOW INTEREST RETURN REPORT INDICATES

SALEM, Dec. 9.—Oregon receives the lowest rate of interest of any state, with the exception of Delaware, Georgia and West Virginia, on its deposits of public funds in inactive accounts, according to a statement issued by Jefferson Myers, state treasurer.

The state treasurer's statement shows that Oregon, West Virginia and Georgia receive 2 per cent interest on deposits in inactive accounts, while Missouri, California and Ohio, which demand bids for public funds, receive a much higher rate of interest.

Figures compiled by the state treasurer indicated that Missouri received interest at the rate of 5.134 for deposits which are not disturbed for three months. California and Ohio receive 4 1/2 per cent. North Dakota also receives 4 1/2 per cent for its state moneys, contingent upon the deposits being undisturbed for 12 months. Interest on such funds in other states ranges from 2 1/2 to 4 per cent.

Alabama and Oregon are the only states that do not receive any interest on funds deposited in active accounts. In other states this interest ranges from 2 to 3 per cent.

It was said that an attempt would be made at the next session of the legislature to amend the existing laws so that Oregon may demand a higher rate of interest on its deposits in both active and inactive accounts. The amendment may be copied in part from the California law which provides that bids shall be received for all public moneys.

LUSITANIA CAPTAIN MOVES IN STEERAGE

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Captain William T. Turner, captain of the Lusitania when she was torpedoed by a German submarine during the World War, traveled steerage when he emigrated to Australia recently.

By traveling steerage he put his principles into practice, for he dislikes luxury in any shape or form.

During the period in which he commanded various Cunard luxury liners, he became known as the "invisible captain" because he kept away from gaiety aboard ship and always spent the whole of his voyage superintending the navigation of his vessel.

Since his retirement in 1919 he has been living at Plymouth.

MEDFORD YOUTH ON TRIAL FOR MURDER IN VALE, OREGON

VALE, Ore., Dec. 9.—Arguments and instructions to the jury yesterday in the trial of Archie Cody, charged with killing of Austin Goodman, Harney county sheriff, followed the testimony of the defendant in his own behalf.

Cody, giving his version of the shooting, said that on August 28 he was at the Foley farm when Goodman came to arrest him on a charge of passing a bad check and that he submitted to the arrest and afterwards, when he went to get his saddle and blanket, the sheriff shot at him. On an impulse Cody said, he drew his own rifle, which was in a scabbard attached to his saddle. He said he shot from his hip at the sheriff, then threw his saddle on his horse and rode off towards Burns.

An attempt to prove that Cody is incapable mentally of distinguishing between right and wrong marked the defense testimony. Evidence of an early injury which caused him to become not just right mentally, was followed by testimony of Cody himself that he had served two jail terms for horse stealing and one for bigamy.

Barney Cody of Medford, father of the accused man took the stand on direction of Attorney Frank Newman, and told of an injury to his son's eye in early life. Since then the father asserted, his son had shown signs of mental disturbance which rendered him incapable of determining right from wrong.

WINTER FAIR IS OFFICIALLY OPENED TODAY

Judging of Prize Birds Starts With Opening of Gates of Big Show

NOTHING ON TONIGHT

Friday Night Program to be Given by School, Saturday Night to be Carnival Night

The excited gobble of the King of the Show, the cackle of the hens, the quack of the ducks and the hiss of angry geese mingled with the noise and confusion attending the opening of the eleventh annual Southern Oregon Poultry Show, now being held in conjunction with the Winter Fair at the Chautauqua building. The show was officially opened at ten o'clock this morning.

Although everything was not in complete readiness for the opening, the doors were swung wide at the appointed hour, the many workmen laboring to complete the exhibits, while a small crowd of early comers strolled through the building inspecting this pen and that, wherever a bird attracted the eye. It was not expected that a large crowd would attend the opening morning, and therefore things were not entirely ready, although a few hours work will put the finishing touches on the show.

Judging of the birds started promptly at ten o'clock this morning, with Harry Collier of Tacoma, national known poultry expert and judge heading out the ribbons. The judging was rather slow, made so by the difficulty of competent work under artificial light, and it is estimated that at least another day will be required before all the classes have been looked over. This morning Collier started judging the heavy, meat classes of chicken.

There will be no entertainment in connection with the poultry show tonight, but the opera L'Ombra will be presented by organizations promoting the Ashland Celebrity Course. There will be no official program for tomorrow night, but the following evening, the Ashland public schools will stage the program. Band, orchestra and glee club music will be presented, together with two playlets.

The night of December 12 will be known as carnival night, the big night of the fair. Civic organizations of the city, as well as several individuals are preparing features which will be pre-

KILLER IS HANGED DESPITE PROTESTS

HULL, England, Dec. 9.—William Smith, world war hero, and confessed killer, was hanged at noon today, despite a hundred thousand protests which were received by the authorities.

Smith went to the gallows for the murder of Elizabeth Bosfield, a married woman, twenty-eight years old, with whom he had been living for over two years. The extreme resentment felt over the hanging was due to the fact that another wife killer had just a few days ago been sentenced to but ten years imprisonment in the penitentiary.
