THE MEMORIAL UNION CAMPAIGN

The huge campaign to raise money for the O. A. C. Memorial Union building is one of the greatest and most purposeful of its kind ever launched in the state. When a group of students and faculty members, alumni and friends can band together and pledge a sum of $500,000 for an institution of any kind, there need be no mention made of the honest and patriotic purpose behind it.

The students of the college set out to raise the half million dollars by first campaigning the school itself. As a result, over half of the total sum was received in contributions. Faculty members pledged nearly $31,000. The rest will be received from members of the alumni, friends and outside donors.

The purpose of the building is to erect a useful memorial to college and state heroes of the Spanish-American and World Wars. It will be a utility building as well as a house in which all campus organizations and activities, alumni offices and faculty meeting rooms will be housed. It will seek to draw together the four component parts of the college: students, alumni, faculty and friends. It will be a gathering place for college interest, a magnet to attract students and alumni in all walks of life, and a melting-pot for the promotion of student activities. It will create a better form of college democracy, and be a general spirit gatherer.

ENTIRE NATION MAY HEAR

It has been announced that the inaugural ceremonies, March 4, when President Coolidge begins his second term of office, will be broadcasted by a string of stations scattered across the continent, so that every nook and corner of the United States will be in tune with Washington, D. C.

Forty stations will be linked together by telephone wires, breaking all previous records for interconnection between broadcasters.

When President Harding was inaugurated in the spring of 1921, the public address system was employed, enabling the crowd of 125,000 which filled the plaza and overflowed into the park to hear his voice.

Think of the wonderful advancement during the short period of four years! President Coolidge's voice will be carried to a national audience of some 25,000,000!

THE BUSINESS OF COMPETITION

Forty-two states now have workmen's compensation laws. In twenty-six of these, the insurance is carried solely by private companies. In nine, the state has set up a competitive fund. In seven, private companies are not allowed to operate because the state government takes over practically all of the business.

Records show that an average of the total business handled by states is only 14.69 per cent, while the private companies do 85.31 per cent of the business. In New York, with a total in premiums written by both state and private companies amounting to about $39,000,000, the private companies handle 92.2 per cent of the business.

State funds are seldom known to pay taxes. This is in contrast to the huge sums paid in state and federal taxes by private companies. Private companies employ staffs of experts to handle their business. These men are often chosen because of their efficiency and not because of their political connections. On the other hand, where the state is in business, appointments are often made through political influence, rather than because of ability.

It is interesting to note, or question, as it may be, under which system the public may secure the most for its money.

THE FIRE HAZARD

Billions of dollars are lost each year through carelessness. No little part of this is lost through fires; in fact, one of the largest parts. The Tidings thoroughly realizes its seriousness.

Many bad fires are caused through defective chimneys and flues. Here are several reasons for this:

- 1. Use of terra cotta sewer-pipe or other unprotected tile or hollow blocks as a chimney.
2. Construction of chimney with bricks laid on edge instead of flat.
3. Chimney walls built with bricks flatwise or only one brick thick, and flues unlined.
4. Supporting chimney on the timber construction of a building or upon brackets; or insufficient masonry foundation, when the chimney rests on the ground.
5. Two or more connections to the same flue.
6. Building woodwork into the wall of a chimney, or placing it in contact with, or even in close proximity to, its exterior.

7. Smoke-pipes arranged to enter a chimney in vertical line.

8. Carelessness in sealing the connection between smoke-pipe and chimney, and failure to anchor the pipe to the chimney.

9. Carelessness in not renewing a rusted smoke-pipe and also in allowing combustible material too near the pipe.

10. Carelessness in not keeping the chimney clean and joints in brickwork properly pointed.

If people could realize the loss in life and money that is caused annually through this menace, and they must realize it, more care would be taken. Last year over $535,372.782 was lost, and each year the sum has been increasing.

THE MODERN SATURDAY NIGHT

What people do on Saturday night is a means by which their character and traditions may be judged, according to a Dayton, Ohio, newspaper. It is true that the times are changing, and that with them Saturday night customs are changing also. It continues:

"Every Saturday night in a very true sense offers a time for a checking-up process in the lives of individuals or collectively of families. There was a time in the history of this people when a solemn hush came over the family as the twilight hours fell upon the city and countryside. Shoes were blackened, cooking was finished, the family altar was set up, and whole families waited in a true religious manner for the dawn of the Sabbath day. But Time is a relentless sort of machine. It crushes ambitions, annihilates traditions, destroys our fondest dreams. Today much of the solemnity which in former days was a part of Saturday nights has disappeared, and one and all, old and young, give themselves over to thoughts of relaxation from the strenuous work of the preceding week and succumb from worry. In a sense it would be a magnificent thing if we here in America could get back to some of the old-fashioned ideas which we have held relative to Saturday nights. If we could sum up, for example, our week's accomplishments and plan for the coming days we could go forward to new and greater tasks, we should gain new inspirations for service to ourselves and to others. This may sound idealistic, but it is the sort of idealism that we need more and more as we progress."

The view taken by this Dayton writer is a righteous one. It is true also that the spirit of idealism of which he speaks is coming to play less and less a prominent part in the civilized world today.

Order Garden Seeds Direct From Gill Bros. Seed Co. Pedigree, acclimation, hardness, truthness to name! These qualities will insure you a greater garden. "Seeds which are grown in the Northwest," says Prof. A. G. B. Bouquet, department vegetable gardening, O. A. C., "are usually more vigorous and better acclimated for growing crops of vegetables than those purchased elsewhere." Gill Bros. Northwest-grown seeds are famed far and wide for their superior qualities. Market gardeners everywhere are using them in preference to any other kind. Over 500 market gardeners in the Northwest are now customers, and the list is steadily growing. Thousands of home gardeners also are so thoroughly satisfied that they order year after year. One trial of seed usually creates a permanent customer. Gill Bros. were market gardeners themselves twenty years ago. Their farm, six miles east of Portland, won a reputation for highest quality vegetables. They developed special strains, and in 1910 decided to grow acclimated seed, not only for their own use but for sale. Thus was born their seed business which today is growing by leaps and bounds. If you have never tried these seeds, order the special collection listed below. You will be well repaid in fine vegetables for yourself and your family. Dahlias and Gladioli bulbs are also Specialties. Send $1.00 for Special 1925 Northwest Collection. Regular value $1.35.
