It Doesn't Make Any Difference What You Do
There's always some way of getting hurt while you're doing it.

When you are walking, the automobiles are stalking you. When motoring, trains, trolleys and other autos are hot on your trail.

Even home is not safe—more causes on accident policies arise around the home than in any other place.

No use worrying about it; worrying won't prevent accidents. Just take out a Travelers Accident Policy, so that if you should get hurt it wouldn't result in financial stringency for your family.

LOVE AND TIME
We shall not grow too old for love.
We who have felt his fire,
By all the stars which burn above,
His flame shall not expire;
We shall not grow too old for love,
By earth below, by stars above.

The dreams of youth may fade and die;
Our sweetest fancies fast depart;
The dove of hope take wing and fly,
Yet still within the ravished heart.

His spell shall live with power to move;
We shall not grow too old for love.

To gold will come the rust of greed,
To fame the withered laurel wreath;
The tear may fall, the breast may bleed;
The eyes grow slowly vague with death;

All these bright Eros shall but prove,
We cannot grow too old for love.

We shall not know the weight of time;
We'll give him but our sorrid dust;
On earth, in heaven, what'er the clime;
The spirit loyal to its trust.

Through all eternity shall rove,
Forever young, because we love,
GUY FITCH PHILIPS.
