COMMITTEE IS IN FAVOR OF NEW HARBOR

Believe Report on Crescent City Improvement Will Be Favorable

FULLER, McCOY SPEAK
Completion of Northern California Port is Urged by Representatives

CRESCENT CITY, Oct. 9.—Assurance of the completion of the Crescent City harbor, to the extent possible by the congressional sub-committee on Pacific coast rivers and harbors, was given Wednesday night at the banquet tendered that body here, and attended by delegations from the Rogue valley as well as from the coast territory. All members of the congressional committee expressed themselves as particularly favorable to the Crescent City harbor project. Chairman Dempsey, of the committee, did not commit himself, but pointed out the manner by which he believed Northern California and Southern Oregon could assure the success of the project, showing his interest in it.

The matter of the harbor work is not entirely in the hands of the sub-committee at this time as the report is still before the board of engineers of the war department. The findings of this board are practically known to be favorable and all data in support of the project has been in their hands. Such additional data as Chairman Dempsey has suggested is being given them. The attitude of the board and of the committee is regarded as such that work is now practically assured.

In the congressional party were Chairman F. Wallace Dempsey, of New York; John Mc-Duffie, of Alabama; Newton L. Strong, of Pennsylvania; and Walter F. Liederger, of Los Angeles, Cal. In addition to the committee members, Clarence F. Lee, of Santa Rosa and Albert E. Carter, of Oakland, members of congress from California, were present. Joseph H. McGann, who has been clerk of the rivers and harbors committee for 23 years and is thoroughly familiar with the problem, was also there. No executive session was held with the committee as expected, but all the arguments in favor of the project were placed before them at this occasion, to the best advantage possible under the conditions.

Representatives of the Northern California and Southern Oregon territory were first heard. C. E. Gates, of Medford, Secretary J. H. Fuller, of the Ashland chamber, J. W. McCoy, president of the Oregon Bankers association, of Ashland, Ed W. Miller, of Grants Pass, H. R. Salmagren and Judge John Childs, of Crescent City, were among the speakers for the project.

Stolen Car is Reported Here by California Man

A Chevrolet touring car, owned by B. F. McGee, who resides just over the California line, was reported stolen last night to the local police. The car was standing on the streets, and when McGee returned from the show the machine was gone.

The police have notified officers in cities throughout Oregon and California to be on the lookout for the machine. However, Chief of Police McNabb expressed the opinion that the machine was stolen by some young boys, who wanted it for a joy ride, and that it would be found close to the city, where it was deserted. Acting upon this belief, the local police are searching on the outskirts of the city for the stolen car.

ALLEN CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF IRRIGATIONISTS

Grants Pass Man Wins on Opposition Ticket. Big Fight Won

GRANTS PASS, Oct. 9.—The fight on the floor of the Oregon Irrigation Congress, expected with the presentation of a new constitution for adoption, became extremely bitter at times Wednesday afternoon, ending with amendments to the proposed constitution ad with the defeat of James Kyle, of Stanfield, for the presidency of the organization. Opposition, developing from various irrigation districts, resulted in the election of Willford Allen, manager of the Grants Pass Irrigation District, as president, and W. L. Powers, of O. A. C., as secretary. Hood River was selected as the meeting place for 1926.

The first pitched argument came with the report of the credentials committee. It was proposed to limit the voting to the organization and individuals who had paid $5 or more for membership. This would have excluded from voting powers in the organization, those holding dollar memberships throughout the state, the greater part of these members being those most vitally interested in irrigation, the farmers. The report was only accepted when it was changed to accept the vote of these members.

When the vote was taken for president, Allen received 157 and Kyle 153. Hood River was the unanimous choice for a meeting place.

WIDOW CLAIMS AIRSHIP TRIP POLITICAL MOVE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(U. P.)—Commander Zachary Lansdowne, commander of the ill-fated dirigible Shenandoah, protested "as vigorously as any naval officer can without insubordination" against the order of his superior officers in sending his airship westward into the Ohio storm region which wrecked and killed fourteen of his crew. His widow told the naval board of inquiry here today.

Dressed in mourning, Mrs. Margaret Ross Lansdowne reiterated her charges that the Shenandoah's trip was inspired by "purely political motives," and said that her statements had been sustained by the record of the inquiry thus far.

Mrs. Lansdowne said she was testifying to refute statements credited to Secretary of the Navy Willbur, after the disaster, to the effect that Commander Lansdowne did not protest against making the trip.

50 MEMBERS OBTAINED FOR MOTOR BODY

Kiwanis Club Leading in Contest With Lithians

PLANNING NEW STUNTS

Lithians Have Plan for Obtaining Many New Members For Association

Fifty members have already been obtained for the Oregon State Motor association here through the efforts of the Lithians and the Kiwanis club during the past three or four days, and indications are that the mark of 150 members, which has been set, will easily be obtained.

However, the Kiwanis members are leading the Lithians by a good margin, and the members of the Kiwanis committee conducting the contest between the two clubs declare they will remain in the lead until the 150 members have been obtained. However, the Lithians have other ideas on the subject, and have forcibly declared themselves as ready to step out and show up the Kiwanians.

At noon today, at the Kiwanis club luncheon, lists of names were distributed among the members, and each member was asked to interview the people on his list. By following this plan the Kiwanians are certain they will be the winners when the contest closes.

"We are meeting with even better success than we anticipated," declared B. C. McHenry, field secretary of the Oregon State Motor association this morning. "In fact, I believe we will come nearer the 200 mark than 150 by the time we are through. Many motorists already have voluntarily joined the organization, realizing the benefits they will receive from being a member," he went on.

The Lithians are planning a special stunt which they believe will gather in a lot of new members for them, and bring them up to an even basis with the Kiwanis club before the middle of next week.

Those who have already joined the organization are: V. V. Mills, Louis Dodge, H. G. Enders, W. M. Dodge, Dr. W. E. Eser, A. L. Lamb, J. C. Kaegi, D. A. Applegate, G. H. Yeo, I. L. Barnhouse, Thomas H. Simpson, G. W. Gregg, J. R. Robertson, E. P. Spencer, Harry Tomlinson, P. R. Hardy, A. M. Beaver, Ernest Williams, S. H. Short, Charles B. Bryant, J. Larkin Gragg, E. R. Campbell, J. W. Beck, H. H. Elhart, A. C. Ninninger, O. R. Kluth, H. C. Gale, O. T. Bergner, O. F. Carson, J. H. Mayer, A. E. Jordan, O. M. Franklin, F. F. Whitte, C. S. Richardson, W. W. Hevener, R. W. Price, William M. Briggs, H. B. Hurst, Jack Milton, James W. Bowers, Wirt M. Wright, Samuel B. McNair, D. R. Allard, D. H. Jackson, T. D. Pryor, N. G. Bates, E. O. Gillings, Charles Deverson, E. M. Berg, H. L. Claycomb, Claycomb Motor Co.

WINE FOR SEATES

Kiki Cuyler, Pirate outfielder, who yesterday crashed one of Coveleskie's spit balls into the left field bleachers for a home run, scoring Moore ahead of him and putting his team into the lead, 3-1. Although the Senators scored one in the ninth, they failed to catch the Pirates and Cuyler's blow was the hit which won for the Pirates.

Little Japanese Couple Stage Real American Elopment

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—(U. P.)—Sumi Nakagawa, was Japanese. She also was 16 years of age, with the same sort of ideas about "flying her own life" as her white sisters of the same age.

Sumi eloped with K. Kamada, 20, who had the same kind of ideas as his white brothers of the same age, he had come to man's estate.

But they were caught, and Sumi was returned to the disciplining hands of her parents, while Kamada went to jail.

It was the first Japanese elopement on record in the local Nippon colony.

O.A.C., GONZAGA SCHEDULED TO MEET TODAY

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 9.—Gonzaga University's veteran team, playing the shifty Notre Dame style of football, will meet the Oregon Aggies this afternoon in the first big game of the season.

The Aggies play but two important games on the home field—this game with Gonzaga, and the game with University of Montana on October 31, Homecoming.

The dope, what there is of it, is about even. Gonzaga has beaten Cheney Normal and Mount St. Charles by large scores. The Aggies trounced Willamette University 51 to 9. Those victories were expected, however, and merely indicate by the fact that neither big team was scored upon and in turn scored about 50 points relative strength potentially the same.

So far as is known Gonzaga has not suffered any from injuries. The Aggies have several men that will probably play today, but they have had to stay out of practice sessions this week. The greatest loss is big Jim Dixon, far left tackle, whose injured leg is in a plaster cast to stay until the Stanford game, October 14.

McQUIGG IS NEW LEGION COMMANDER

OMAHA, Oct. 9.—(U. P.)—John R. McQuigg, of Cleveland, Ohio, was elected commander of the American Legion at the seventh annual convention here today. He was chosen on the first ballot over Edward E. Spafford, of New York City and Howard P. Savage of Chicago. The vote was: McQuigg 667, Spafford 224, and Savage 57.

Fewer Children Born to College Educated Folks

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 9.—After an exhaustive research, Dr. S. J. Holmes, professor of zoology of the University of California, has announced that fewer children are born to parents of college education than to parents not graduated from an institution of higher learning.

The report of Dr. Holmes on "size of college families" was based on data gathered on more than 42,000 families.

He also found that a college educated wife leads to a smaller family than does a college educated husband; that college men tend to marry high school graduates rather than college graduates; and that the average number of brothers and sisters of the modern college youth is about 50 per cent less than the number possessed by their parents.

POSSIBILITY OF SUNDAY COMING HERE IS GOOD

Local Ministers Confer With Noted Evangelist in Portland

Four members of the Ashland ministerial association, Rev. W. Judson Oldfield, pastor of the Congregational church; Rev. Myron S. Woodworth, pastor of the Baptist church; Rev. V. K. Allison, pastor of the Church of Christ, and Rev. J. C. Mergler, pastor of the Presbyterian church, motored to Portland last Monday, to attend the Billy Sunday evangelistic meetings, and to confer with Dr. Sunday concerning his coming to Ashland some time in the future.

In Portland, they attended the Sunday meetings in the great tabernacle, holding ten or twelve thousand people, hearing Dr. Sunday preach four times. The house was packed at the Wednesday meeting.

"In hearing Dr. Sunday, we are impressed with two things: the tremendous energy and earnestness with which the messages were delivered, and the clear cut call of the messages, urging men to forsake sin and in repentance to turn to Jesus Christ, the Son of God, the only way of Salvation. His unquestioned presentation of the Bible as God's word was striking and convincing," said Rev. Mergler, in speaking of the services.

On Tuesday and Wednesday nights, the ministers had conferences with Dr. and Mrs. Sunday, which they claim were very satisfactory. The possibility of holding a six weeks evangelistic campaign in the Chautauqua building, beginning the latter part of May, running through June and into the first part of July was discussed. A careful review of the probable cost of the campaign was made, and Dr. Sunday estimated that Ashland could easily handle it. He claimed that cities in the East, half the size of Ashland, had encountered no difficulty in meeting a budget twice as large as the budget would be here.

"The fact that we have the Chautauqua building for use would cut our expense budget in half," said Rev. Woodworth. Should Dr. Sunday come to Ashland, the party accompanying him would obtain about half as many persons as work with him in the larger cities.

"We believe that when Dr. Sunday makes his final decision, Ashland will have a place in his schedule for the year, and that Ashland and Southern Oregon will have the opportunity to be helped by the greatest gospel preacher of our generation," said Rev. Allison.

ASHLAND TEAM MEETS FALLS 11 TOMORROW

Local Outfit Tangles With Pelicans in Opening Tussle

Ashland High's grid warriors will break into action in their first big game of the year tomorrow afternoon, when they tangle with the Klamath Falls high eleven on the Pelican's home lot.

For the first time in years, the Klamath Falls school has a team capable of giving the remainder of the Southern Oregon high school teams a tough battle. They have already broken even on games with Rogue River Valley teams, winning from Grants Pass, 7-0, and dropping a 21-0 verdict to the Medford high outfit last Saturday.

Hughes has not been able to get a definite line-up on his men, simply for the reason that he has been unable to obtain practice camps. The Jacksonville high eleven furnished some stiff competition Wednesday afternoon, and at times held the local outfit even. However, once in a while, the Ashland backs would show a flash which gives promise of future power, while the line played a nice game throughout the struggle.

Although Medford won from Klamath Falls by three touchdowns, Hughes will be satisfied if his boys win by one touchdown. He has no idea of running up a score such as Medford's, since he is building up a team from green material.

THIRD SERIES GAME POSTPONED BECAUSE OF HEAVY RAINFALL

Griffith Field Sea of Mud at Noon, and Umpires Decide to Postpone Third Game. More Than Half of Runs so Far in Series Have Been Homers. Pirates Have 3 Circuit Blows.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(U. P.)—The skies opened here early this morning, and for five hours, the rain poured down in torrents, causing the postponement of the third game of the 1925 blue ribbon classic of baseball, and leaving the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Washington Senators locked in a tie with one game apiece to their credit.

It was believed for a time that if the rain cleared off before noon, it would be possible to stage the game, but at twelve o'clock the umpires viewed the sea of mud which had once been the baseball diamond at Griffith Field, and decided that even should the rain cease and the sun shine, the field would not be dry enough by two o'clock to start the game. It was then decided to call the game off.

It is felt that the postponement will be a boon to the Senators, with their veteran pitching staff needing all the rest it can get. Several of the baseball experts assembled here believe that Manager Bucky Harris of the Senators will send the veteran Walter Johnson to the mound tomorrow, in the hopes that his ace will again stop the Pirates as he did in the first game, and once more put the worlds champions in the lead in the series.

In the opening game Wednesday, "Old Barney" pitched a masterful game, and, although he is a veteran of 30 seasons, and needs plenty of rest between games, he declares he is feeling fit, and will be ready tomorrow if he is called upon.

A marked feature of the series so far is he large number of home runs which have been hit. Five of the nine runs scored have been circuit swats, while a home run is responsible for another run.

Joe Harris, husky Senator outfielder started the fireworks in the opening game, when he smashed one of Meadow's curves for a circuit swat in the second inning. Pie Traynor, Pirate third baseman evened the count for his team, when he punched out a four ply blow in the seventh inning of the same game.

Joe Judge again put the Senators in the lead in home runs when, in the second inning of yesterday's game, he batted a fast one into the stands. Glenn Wright again evened the count when he punched one out for a home run. Then Kiki Cuyler, sensational young Pirate outfielder, to all intents and purposes broke up the game when he smacked one of Coveleskie's spit balls for the circuit, scoring Eddie Moore ahead of him. Thus, the Senators are leading in home runs, 3-2.

Another peculiar feature of the series is that these home runs have been the only extra base hits made during the first two games.

The Pirates, as yet, have failed to break into the error column, while the Senators have four errors against them, three by Peckinpaugh, usually reliable shortstop. Muddy Ruel was responsible for the fourth miscue, when he allowed one of Coveleskie's spitters to get away from him yesterday.

If Harris does not start Johnson tomorrow, it is believed he will have Ruether in there against the Pirates, while it is believed either Kremer or Yde will bear the brunt of the burden for the Pirates, with Kremer favored to start.

CRATER PARK PAVING WORK IS CALLED OFF

Rain and Snow Causes Postponement of Work Within Park

All the work of hard surfacing the twenty miles of road inside Crater National Park came to an abrupt end for the year last Tuesday, because of a heavy storm then on with about three inches of snow on the ground, and indications that it would develop into one of the heaviest snows of the year. However, the snow turned into rain.

The contractors in charge of the work recognized the fact that they could no longer hold their men at work at the park, as there had been several storms recently and each time the men had become more disgruntled. Therefore the men were dismissed and the various camps struck and equipment stored until the resuming of work as early as possible next spring.

The major portion of the paving is yet to be done, as since the work was begun last summer various unexpected delays were encountered, and it was found difficult at times to get enough employes to make much progress.

The work already completed before closing down Tuesday, included a mile and one half section into the park from the Medford entrance, which had always been the worst piece of road in the park.

Frank E. Seaman, the resident government engineer in charge of overseeing the paving work, and his crew of men also ceased to function when the work was stopped and came down to Medford. Mr. Seaman says the contractors hope to be able to resume the work next May, probably from the Klamath entrance, if weather conditions then permit.

Anyhow, the paving work in the park will be on a large part of next summer, but will progress much faster because of the preliminary work done in the past several months and the fact that suitable labor is expected to be plentiful.

Fire Prevention is Topic at Kiwanis Meeting

Fire prevention was the topic at the meeting of the Ashland Kiwanis club, at their weekly luncheon today at the Little Springs hotel. Fire Chief Clifton Baughman was the main speaker, speaking on local fire prevention problems, while Homer Billings spoke on national fire waste, and V. V. Mills on fire as it affects human life.

Baughman spoke of the various steps taken toward preventing fires in Ashland, and told how the public could aid in keeping down the fire loss. He also made recommendation for improving the fire department.
