AN IMPRACTICABLE "INDEPENDENCE": The American people—practical in their politics as they nearly always have been—have never been amiable toward a purely nomination system for appointive officers.

There have been a few exceptions to this rule, and as a usual thing, difficulty and lack of efficiency have been the result of these exceptions.

As a system, it is a failure. For it does not fit into the American political habit. We Americans believe thoroughly in political responsibility.

Whether President Coolidge is right, or wrong, in his confidence in President Palmer of the emergency fleet corporation, matters little.

MUSSOLINI AS POO BAH

In he operetta "The Mikado," the Poo Bah was the man who for his country suffered the extreme humiliation of having to perform all the offices that were thrust upon him.

Premier Mussolini, who has made himself dictator of Italy, who makes parliaments as he pleases through his own election laws, suffers much the same sort of humiliation.

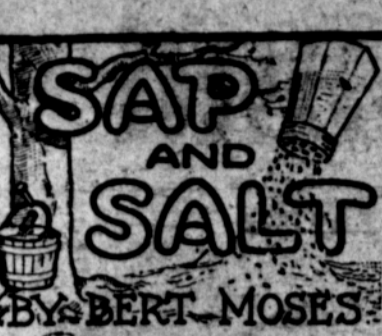

As he was already prime minister, minister of foreign affairs, minister of marine, minister of war and minister of aviation, it was not difficult for him to elect himself to another office by a vote of the cabinet.

Both the war department, which is alleged to be "persecuting" Colonel Mitchell, and Congressman Reid of Illinois, who is supposed to be defending him, did the one thing that no one should do to Mitchell, yesterday.

Each tried to shut him up. The war department refused to permit Mitchell to go to Baltimore to make a public address.

While Congressman Reid, who is an attorney, advised Mitchell not to testify before the President's investigating commission, Mitchell wanted to talk, but was prevented by Reid.

Whatever reconstruction value he will have to the American air forces, has followed his talking. The Government should let him talk. And his attorney should let him talk.

Great Mothers of the World

MRS. JOHN ALLEN Adopted Mother of Edgar Allen Poe

MRS. CLEMM, His Real Mother

By MARY GREER CONKLIN Like Abraham Lincoln and Mr.

Calvin Coolidge, our greatest American poet was blessed with two noble mothers, his foster mother, Mrs. Allen, and his devoted mother-in-law, Mrs. Clemm.

The first he admired and loved; the second he so adored that he wrote of her:

"Dearer than the mother that I know by that infamy with which my wife was dearer to my soul than its soul-life."

On the death of his own mother, the beautiful actress, Elizabeth Arnold Poe, Mr. John Allen of Richmond, his godfather, became also the adopted father of the two-year old boy.

Mr. Allen was proud of his precocious god-son and was glad to afford him all the education procurable; but of parental love, of that deep sympathy for which the poor orphan yearned, he seems to have been utterly devoid.

His foster mother, however, better understood him; and her death, when he was twenty, was the first great sorrow of his life.

His foster parents gave him a thorough education, five years of schooling in England and one year at the University of Virginia.

Mr. Allen had hopes of his foster son in literature; he had read with proper pride, "The MS Found in a Bottle," with which his namesake had won a hundred dollar prize and had astonished the reading public of Baltimore, this being the first public recognition of Edgar Allen Poe's narrative skill.

Albeit his remarkable production from this time on were accepted and steadily published, he was seldom paid for them.

Until his death, Mr. Allen continued to send remittances sufficient for his protegee's needs; but on the elderly man's second marriage his wife's young son was willed his large property, leaving Poe a struggling author without patrimony.

During these tragic years Mrs. Clemm, the mother of his invalid child-wife, Virginia Clemm, was a real and loving mother to Edgar Allen Poe.

She is described as a tall, dignified woman, a capable home-maker with a warm heart and deep understanding of her son-in-law's genius and handicap.

She kept her humble home neat and clean in spite of continual struggles to make ends meet.

After the death of his beloved Virginia, the poet became engaged to a wealthy widow, Mrs. Sarah Shelton, the Miss Royson of his university days.

He was on his way to New York to bring Mrs. Clemm to Richmond to attend the wedding and share the joys of a settled home at last when he was found unconscious and never recovered.

Many unwarranted tales are told of the great poet's dissipation; but the "Memor" by J. H. Ingram, preface to the early Donahue, Henneberry Company edition of his poems, utterly disproves these unjust accusations and shows him to have been a cruelly libeled man.

The love of these two tender women, foster mother and mother-in-law of Edgar Allen Poe was instrumental in introducing to the world some of the most extraordinary verse and prose ever produced in the English language.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Day Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Day entertained Saturday at a one o'clock dinner, with Mr. P. G. McWilliams, Mrs. J. E. Peck and small son, Jimmie as guests.

Dinner At Church: There was a large attendance at the dinner Wednesday evening at the Christian church, which was served in the recently finished dining room.

There was an excellent program, music and interesting talks making pleasing numbers. The new annex, giving added room, is a source of great convenience and comfort to the membership.

Marriage Announcement: An announcement of more than ordinary interest to a large circle of friends in Ashland is that, in which Mrs. Elmer Ellsworth Bagley announces the marriage of her daughter, Doris Bagley to Dr. Albert Edward Mackey of Portland, on Monday, October the fifth at St. Luke's church, San Francisco.

A host of friends offer congratulations and good wishes to Dr. and Mrs. Mackey, who will live in Portland, where Mrs. Bagley has spent the past few years.

The bride was an Ashland girl, attending high school here, receiving her advanced work at Mills college. Unusually gifted in music, Miss Bagley gave unstintingly of that gift, singing for years in the Presbyterian choir, and at social functions.

A popular member of the younger crowd, no gathering was complete without her and she was herself a most charming hostess.

Mrs. Mackey has visited in Ashland a number of times within recent years. She is a niece of Mrs. C. W. Winary. The happy recipients of a surprise planned by their neighbors of the 400 block on North Main, Tuesday evening, October the sixth. This most enjoyable affair was by a way of a farewell for the Beyer family before their exit for their new home on Alameda street.

The evening was one long to be remembered by inveterate host and hostess, and friends and neighbors. Delicious refreshments were served at its close.

Those who gathered at the Beyer home on this occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. Milton, Mr. and Mrs. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Farborough, Mr. and Mrs. Finnegan, Mr. and Mrs. Hersey, the Madams, C. B. Pratt, Morgan, L. E. Cedar, Tillman, H. J. Van Pelt, Mallon, M. J. G. H. Day and Barton.

Social Affairs To Commence: The Ladies of the Macabee expect to entertain the membership and friends, the twenty-first of October with a dancing party at the I. O. O. F. Hall.

The Fraternal Brotherhood has its meeting the 15th of October, with the attendant social hour at which the members trip the light fantastic toe to most excellent music.

Surprise For Mrs. Humphrey: Fifteen members of the Good Cheer Class of the Presbyterian Sunday school surprised the oldest one of its members, Thursday afternoon. It had been arranged for Mrs. Humphrey, the guest of honor to spend the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Josephine Foley.

After her arrival, the group of friends came, bringing with them dainty packages, congratulatory cards and beautiful flowers, commemorative of her sixty first milestone.

The surprise was complete and a very happy one for the complimented guest, who said she had lived in Oakland fifty years and never had anything like this happen before.

Another replied, "that is that fifty years she has not celebrated a sixty first birthday." The afternoon passed most happily for all, with tea and little cakes as the pleasant ending of the birthday celebration of one of the most regular members of the class.

Luncheon For Daughters Of The Nile: Saturday at 12:30 p. m., the Daughters of the Nile were entertained at luncheon at the new Lithia Springs hotel. There were representatives of the organization in attendance from Grants Pass, Medford and Ashland.

After luncheon, the business session was held in Masonic Hall. At this session, plans were formulated for the Fall Ceremonial which occur soon.

During the fair this organization sponsored a benefit dance for the ladies patrol at the pavilion on the fair grounds, at which all Masonic bodies were Card Club Meets: The Elk Ladies Card Club met Thursday afternoon at last week in their pleasant club room. This was the initial meeting of the season and proved a very enjoyable affair.

Lovely prizes were given as prizes. The fortunate ones receiving them were: Mrs. Frank Dean, for high score in bridge, and Mrs. William Ross, in five hundred; Mrs. Hugh Ollivett, and Mrs. G. H. Hedberg were hostesses for this meeting.

Mrs. B. F. Storm is president of the club and Mrs. Costello, vice president. An election of officers will occur at the next meeting which is the fourth Tuesday of the month.

Girls Club Entertained: The Girls Sewing club was entertained very delightfully Saturday evening at the home of Miss Eva Foley, on B Street. Games were planned in entertainment, and luncheon was served by the hostess at the close of the happy evening.

This club is one of which Ashland is especially proud, since it carried off first, second and third prizes at the county fair and one of its number, a first at the state fair. Two members of the club were high scoring girls in the state.

Those who enjoyed the evening with the hostess were: the Misses Mary Galey, Marie Davies, Adena Joy, Letha Mikes, Lorraine Sparr, Madeline Stavans, Edith Brookmiller, Helen Chaney, Emily Taylor, Miss Dorothy Stevens and Miss Ellen Galey assisted Miss Foley in serving.

Luncheon In Grants Pass: Mrs. Gordon MacCracken and Miss Elizabeth Palmer attended a luncheon at Grants Pass last Saturday at the opening of the Grants Pass Women's club. The function was held at the Presbyterian Community House, which has been built recently.

Mrs. MacCracken, who is president of the Civic Improvement club of Ashland, told, by her official capacity, of the work of this club planned for the coming year and of the very successful Flower Show held during that week.

and as which the board had had full charge and Mrs. Albert's statement. It was especially successful socially and financially, since over $100 was cleared to augment the fund required.

There was a large attendance at the Tuesday, October sixth meeting of Alpha Chapter No. 1, O. E. S. Initiation of candidates was a feature of the evening. Refreshments were served later in the evening, with Mrs. Guss Turner as chairman of the committee. She was assisted by Mrs. and Mrs. C. H. Vangel and Mrs. Shepherd. A musical service was held beginning with Past Grand Master Mrs. Bern B. Schulke, who held the office in 1916.

Tuesday next, October 13, Alpha Club will meet at Masonic Hall, with Mrs. Frank Jordan and Mrs. August Schermer as hostesses.

On Wednesday evening following, Alpha Chapter No. 1, O. E. S. officers and members will go to Medford to put on the initiatory work for Kames Chapter of that city.

The week after, Oct. 20th, the Past Masters and Past Wives will be guests of honor at an elaborate function for which arrangements are now being made.

Entertainment Planned: The Woodman and Royal Neighbors are planning for a delightful meeting to be held the 23rd of October, with entertainment planned and refreshments served. The Royal Neighbors met the first and third Monday evenings of the month.

The Fraternal Brotherhood, the first and third Fridays of each month, the Rebekahs, the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. The social feature is a part of the majority of these meetings.

Church Organization Meets: The "Who Do" class of the Methodist Sunday school will hold its next meeting at the home of Mrs. S. B. McNair, Friday afternoon, October the 16th. This will probably be a social meeting, unless the material for the Bible study arrives, in which case the regular study will be begun.

Ladies Aid Meeting: The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church held its regular meeting in the Junior room of the church, with an excellent attendance. Quitting was the order of the afternoon.

Lecture Given: A splendid illustrated lecture was given lately under the auspices of the Junior C. E. of the Presbyterian church. The subject was "Uncle Sam's Family"; pictures from the Home Mission Field. Many enjoyed the beautiful pictures and the talk about them.
