DETRICK QUILTS AS MEMBER OF CITY COUNCIL

Will Take up Position as Storekeeper at City Warehouse

REPAIR BIDS ARE LET

Bids Received on C Street Work From Easterling And Michael and Parks

After serving as a member of the city council for slightly more than a year, Councilman R. E. Detrick, last night submitted his resignation as a member of that body. He explained as his reason the fact that he was taking up the position as storekeeper at the city warehouse, and that he cannot legally hold two city positions at the same time.

Detrick's resignation was accepted by the council, and his application for the position as storekeeper, after being passed upon favorably by the heads of the water, light and street departments was accepted by the council.

Detrick became a member of the city council last year, following the death of Mayor Lookins. C. H. Pierce, at that time chairman of the council succeeded to the position of mayor, and he appointed Detrick to complete his term.

Last November, Detrick was elected to the office for the full term.

Although regretting the loss of Detrick's services on the council, his fellow members expressed themselves as well pleased that he had accepted the position as storekeeper.

Michael and Parks of Medford, a cement contracting firm, were awarded the contract for putting in curbs and gutters on C street, between Pioneer and Second streets. Their bid of $4 cents per lineal foot was the lowest bid received.

Ollie Easterling submitted a bid of $1.65 per cubic yard, delivered, for crushed rock, which will be used in macadamizing the two blocks on C street which are to be completed this fall.

For a time it was believed that the entire street could be completed, but with the early rains of this year, it was decided to complete but two blocks.

Svenning and Gear, local painting contractors, were awarded the work of refinishing and decorating the interior of the Recorder's office. This work has also been pending for several weeks.

The meeting last night was short, being called by Mayor Johnson expressly for the purpose of opening the bids on the several propositions, and for the receiving of the resignation of Councilman Detrick.

Men May Eat in S. P. Diners Minus Coats

TUSCON, Ariz., Oct. 22.—(U. P.)—Eating in Southern Pacific diners without a coat is permissible, according to ruling by officials of the railroad. Decision was rendered following complaint of Neely A. Pennington, local traveler, that a steward refused service to him on a Southern Pacific diner because he was not wearing a coat. Pennington in his complaint pointed out that he was wearing a clean shirt, one that only recently cost him $4.38. The steward referred to was "new to the lines and unacquainted with the road's rules," it was explained in a letter to the Arizona corporation commission.

INDIAN CASE IS STILL UP IN FEDERAL COURT

Klamath Herald Case is Also Started. Will Be Hot Row

The jury in federal court in the trial of Wilbur Eggman, Klamath Indian rancher charged with assault, in which Monroe Faithful, a fellow tribesman, sustained a wound in the heart, and lived to testify about it, began deliberating yesterday morning and late yesterday afternoon was still out.

The case attracted wide attention among the Indian residents of the reservations, who are said to be divided into two factions over the case. The case is the outgrowth of a fight the two men had over cattle, on the Eggman ranch.

The civil suit of E. J. Murray, publisher of the Evening Herald of Klamath Falls, against former Klamath county officials, alleging assault and conspiracy to prosecute, was begun yesterday morning, and the jury in the case completed. Murray asks damages of approximately $50,000.

The suit grew out of a newspaper controversy, and next to the courthouse squabble, was the hottest row in the history of Klamath county. One of the phases of the suit, is the alleged seizure of the newspaper plant.

Society Editor Congratulated

From many sources this morning came remarks of pleasure at one feature in yesterday's issue of The Daily Tidings, which was as gratifying to the paper's management as it proved to the paper's readers.

This feature was the Monday installment of "Society Notes" by Mrs. Grace Andrews, which occupied approximately six columns of reading matter on pages 2 and 3 of yesterday's issue and gave a comprehensive, as well as intensely interesting, report of the various social activities during the last few days in Ashland and the surrounding communities.

The Tidings feels fortunate in persuading Mrs. Andrews to resume her editing of "Society Notes," which will appear twice each week in The Tidings, in the Monday and Thursday issues. Mrs. Andrews has the happy faculty of writing human interest into her society reports and, because of her wide acquaintance and connection with the social, club and fraternal activities of Ashland, is able to give a more complete report on such activities than probably any other person in the city.

Mrs. Andrews will be glad to receive committee reports, accounts of social, fraternal and club meetings and any other items which are of interest to women.

WASH. YOUTHS ARE HELD BY LOCAL POLICE

Declare Grays Harbor Boys in Possession of Stolen Car

Lester Cole, 16, of Grays Harbor, Wash., and Glenn Bryson, 13, of Hoquiam, Wash., were arrested last night by Acting Chief of Police Ingling, and are being held in the city jail here for investigation.

The two youths were picked up upon the complaint of a man claimed to have ridden with them from Roseburg yesterday afternoon. The man, who left immediately after he made the complaint, declared that the boys had picked him up on the highway and brought him to Ashland. He stated that they drove so recklessly that he was forced to take the wheel in order to prevent their wrecking the car.

The boys, however, declare the man picked them up, and that they did not know the car was stolen.

According to the story told City Judge Frost last night, the boys left home Saturday morning. They declared they obtained a ride from Grays Harbor to Portland the first day, and from Portland to Roseburg the second day. Yesterday, they said, their older companion picked them up and brought them to Ashland.

The car is being held here, and the local police have wired the Hoquiam police asking for an investigation.

New Says State Should Back Up Commercial Flying

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(U. P.)—The government should abandon its "stand still" attitude toward aviation, and inquire into the commercial future of aeronautics, Postmaster General New told the President's board of air inquiry today in his second appearance before it.

He today reiterated his belief that the government should encourage commercial aviation by establishing a system of airways, equipped with lighted landing fields for night flying.

Thus needed stimulus would be given commercial fields and the airplane manufacturing industry, he said, by setting up and continuing the national program for the promotion of aeronautics.

RAY KREMER HURLS GREAT BASEBALL AND PIRATES WIN SIXTH GAME OF SERIES 3-2

Lanky Right Hander, Formerly With Oakland, California Team, Wins Pitching Duel With Senator Hurlers. After Wobbly Start, Pirate Heaver is Invincible. Goose Goslin Gets Third Homer of Series in First Inning With Bases Empty. Final Game of Year Scheduled For Pittsburg Tomorrow.

FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURG, Oct. 13.—(U. P.)—Ray Kremer, tall, lantern jawed right hander, bought from the Oakland Pacific Coast league last year by the Pirates, entered the baseball hall of fame here today, when he stopped the Washington Senators in their attempt to win their fourth game of the world series, and clinch their grasp upon the blue ribbon classic. The Pirates won by a score of 3-2.

After a wobbly start, in which two runs were scored off his delivery during the first two innings, Kremer settled down, and from that time on, was never in any serious danger. The lanky right hander used a sweeping curve ball, mixing it with a nice change of pace and a hopping fast one which had the Senators bewildered. Goose Goslin, husky Senator outfielder went into a tie with Joe Harris when he banged out another home run, his third of the series. He also added to his world series home run record, when he banged out his sixth circuit swat. Last season he bagged three homers.

In the opening canto, Goslin put his team in the lead, when, after Rice and Stan Harris had gone out, he banged a liner into the left field stands. The crowd went frantic over his blow.

Again in the second inning, Washington scored one. Bluege singled, and went to second on a sacrifice. He score when Peck doubled into deep center.

From the second inning on, Kremer was very stingy with his blows, allowing but three, no two of which came in the same inning. In the eighth and ninth the Senators threatened, getting men as far as third, but their team mates were unable to bring them on the rest of the way.

Alex Ferguson, who won the third game of the series for Washington, was taken from the box in the seventh, and Ballou finished. Ferguson was wild, and the Pirates took advantage of his wildness in their scoring.

Stan Harris, Senator manager benched himself in the eighth in favor of a pinch hitter.

The seventh and final game of the series will be played in Pittsburg tomorrow. It is felt that Manager Harris will use Walter Johnson, veteran hurler, who has already won two games for his club, while Aldridge or Yde will be the selection for the Pirates, Manager McKechnie signified today, after the game.
