STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER
 By CHARLES P. STEWART
 NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Washington is America's only city of importance where fortune telling, in its various forms, goes on regularly, professionally, openly and uninterfered with by the law.

Since secrecy is unnecessary and publicity pays, in the realm of the occult as in most other fields, the fortune tellers advertise in the newspapers or otherwise.

Consequently, it's possible here, which it isn't where they must operate under cover, to form some idea as to their number.

Exact figures, to be sure, are unavailable. Suffice it to say, however, that the community is surprisingly large, and seemingly prosperous.

Of all the capital's seers and soothsayers, Mme. Marcia probably is the best known, by virtue of the fact that she had ready access to the White House during part of the two administrations, as practitioner of astrology, extraordinary to the then "first ladies in the land."

In late middle life, Mme. Marcia runs strongly to embonpoint. Of book learning, except such as relates to astrology, she has very little and regrets it.

"Oh, if I only had an education!" she remarked, during a talk I had with her one day.

Mme. Marcia practiced mediumship in her youth and admits that she found the spirits extremely unreliable. "But the stars," she says, "can't lie."

I think she believes in her hokus pokus herself.

The question arises, "To what extent do spiritual, astrological and other occult suggestions influence governmental policies and decisions, executive, legislative and judicial?"

Not much, I imagine. Mme. Marcia, it's true, speaks of numerous governmental higher-ups among her clients, but she's vague as to names, and I surmise that, in this respect, she exaggerates a bit. Prof. Marcus La Marr, "Washington's famous medium," agrees with me.

"I sincerely wish," he told me, "that I could honestly assure you we run the whole government, but the idea's ridiculous. Your typical politician is the last man I'd pick as susceptible to any influence but his own best interests. Spirits? Pooh! To influence a politician you need something a lot more concrete—something he can see and feel will do him some good, like a bunch of votes."

BIG FAIR IN MEXICO HAS WIDE EXHIBITS

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 17—(AP)—The board of directors of the International Fair to be held here during next month expect a total of one hundred thousand visitors, twenty thousand of whom it is indicated will come from without the Republic, mostly from the United States.

Excursions are being organized in Germany and Spain, composed largely of industrialists who wish to look over Mexico as a field for expanding business.

Los Angeles and San Francisco business and commercial houses have taken approximately one seventh of the space provided in the Alameda for exhibitions, and New Orleans firms are expected to take a large space inasmuch as the permanent exposition in New Orleans is cooperating with the Fair authorities.

Locally the prominent business men of the foreign colonies are arranging for displays of their lines including articles manufactured in Mexico and abroad.

All the larger towns in Texas and other border states have replied to the invitations sent out by the board of directors and most of them will have representation at the Fair. El Paso is arranging for full exhibitions of all products now furnished by this city to Mexico.

SOUTH AMERICA PLANNING BIG SPEEDWAYS

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 17—(AP)—South America is preparing to take a prominent place in the world of automobile racing.

Two first class speedways are to be built, where the leading drivers of the world will be invited to compete for prizes rivaling those given at Indianapolis, Los Angeles and Milan.

One of these tracks will be in Buenos Aires, while the other will be Sao Paulo, Brazil. Concessions have already been arranged and plans drawn. The track in Buenos Aires is due to be completed by December, while it is hoped that the track in Sao Paulo will also be ready before the end of this year.

As it is summer in South America when it is winter in Europe and North America it is felt that international races can be organized in which the foremost drivers of the world can take part, without interfering with their participation in the various classics.

The Buenos Aires track is to be constructed in the suburb of San Martin at a cost of about half a million pesos. The track will be 3,300 meters around, something over two miles, and will be 18 meters wide on the straight-aways with an added three meters on the curves.

WEATHER MAY BE RECORDED IN GREENLAND

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 17—(AP)—Plans looking toward the establishment of a Danish-American meteorological station in the heart of Greenland are being made here today by Professor William Hobbs of Michigan University.

"Meteorological observations made during the last 150 years indicate that the storms which sweep Northern and Eastern Europe," said Professor Hobbs, "have their origin in the icy wastes of Greenland. The establishment of a meteorological station in Greenland's interior at a height of 3,000 feet would, I allow, enable observers to notify Europe with absolute certainty of the approach of storms.

"I am here laying the groundwork for an expedition we will make next year under the leadership of the Danish explorer Laugs Koch into the heart of Greenland for the purpose of making experimental observations. If these experiments prove my theory correct we will make a drive for funds to establish a permanent station there manned by Americans and Danes."
