GREATEST IN THE KINGDOM:—Whoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven. Matthew 18:4.

PRAYER:—May the Holy Spirit give to us a vision of God in His holiness, and then as little children will come to Thee.

Mr. C. A. Malone,
Commander, American Legion,
Ashland, Ore.,
Friend Clyde:

Your term as commander of Ashland Post No. 14, American Legion has about expired, and I wish to take this time to congratulate you upon the splendid manner in which you have peppered up the post activities during your term as head of the organization. Ashland Post No. 14 has accomplished a lot of things since you went in as commandant, and now I believe is in better shape than ever to carry on.

You had the boys enthused throughout the entire year, and they "shook a little lead out" and got down to work. Once they became interested in the work, your big job was over, for they had plenty of pep from then on.

Jack Enders will make a splendid commander during the coming year. He has the power of getting fellows to work together, has plenty of pep and is exceptionally well liked by all the members of the post.

When the boys get out this year to raise their quota of $800 to the Legion endowment fund, they are going to be in better shape than ever to put it over, for they'll all be working together. And the people of the city, feeling the advantage of the Legion more than ever will be in a better mood to contribute.

I know you will work just as hard out of office as you did while you were commander, and I know all the new officers will find you ever ready to assist, Clyde.

With congratulations for your splendid efforts, and wishing Jack a lot of success as commander, I am,
Sincerely yours,
Auntie Ashland.

AH—Ashland Folks,
Ashland, Ore.,
Dear Folks

Today, the Red Cross Seal, Christmas seal sale, was started in Ashland, and according to the reports of those in charge of the drive, has met with splendid success. I am sure we all wish it every bit of success possible, for it is one of the most worthy causes I know of.

The money received from the sale of the seals goes toward the treatment of tubercular patients, and toward prevention of tuberculosis. In addition to the philanthropic thoughts we may have in purchasing these seals, there is also a selfish thought connected with it. For, when the money is spent in curing tuberculars, and in preventing tuberculosis, it is aiding us. For every patient cured, and every means taken to prevent the spread of tuberculosis, we are one step farther from the clutches of that dread disease.

Those in charge of the sale declare the mail sale will be started Monday. When you receive the envelope filled with seals, just write out a check and send it in by return mail.

You may save a life!

Yours truly,
Auntie Ashland.

Mr. Prince Callison,
Medford High Football Coach,
Dear Prink:

You certainly have a sweet football team this season, Prink, and although you took us to a trimming twice, we are proud that it was such a fine team that licked us. You have your team going at top speed right now, and it is going to take a real bunch of football players to stop them.

When you tangle with Salem a week from today, Ashland is going to be with you. Now, it's Southern Oregon against the Willamette Valley, and although we may be friendly enemies during the regular season, now that we have taken our spankings, we are pulling for you to trounce any invaders.

We are all provincials, and whenever Southern Oregon is battling an outsider we are always for the Southern Oregon team.

We will all be there Saturday, and you will get just as much support from Ashland fans as you will from your home town rooters.

Sincerely yours,
Auntie Ashland.

Popularity draws bigger gate receipts than Fame.

For those who travel in high all the time life is a short journey.

Laziness in a man seems to have no effect in keeping down the size of his family.

When you already have a good job, it is amazing how many other jobs are offered you.

No man really begins to grow until he realizes his deficiencies and starts in eliminating them.

Has Heck says: "One word goes into a woman's ear is multiplied by two when it comes out of her mouth."

Some towns have all the luck. In Detroit a man got mad at his motorcycle and tore it up.

Sometimes it takes blind faith to lead you through the dark places.

Even if you did start life as a baby, you should outgrow it.

Make the worst of things and that's what you'll have when you finish.

The only thing valuable about time is the way you use it.

The optimist enjoys the holiday; the pessimist thinks about tomorrow when he will have hash.

Great Mothers of the World

MARY SCRIMSHER
Mother of William F. Rogers,
Comedian, Humorist and Author.

By MARY GREER CONKLIN
Mary Scrimsher was more than cheerful, more than optimistic, she was joyous. Her wit and repartee were the respite of the pioneers of early Indiana Territory days when, as the bride of Clement Vanu Rogers, a Captain in the First Mounted Cherokee Volunteers, she followed her husband after the Civil War to his isolated home on the west bank of the Verdigris River in what is now the State of Oklahoma. To the modern woman the life of this pioneer mother would seem unendurable. For a period of eight months after leaving Fort Gibson, Mary Scrimsher did not see a woman other than the one she took with her to assist in her household.

This gentle and light-hearted mother was too busy and too happy with her children to complain. Though she passed away when William was ten years old the memory of the mother from whom he got his wit and quiet philosophy of life and who has remained his guiding star. His eldest sister became his closest mother, and to her the young William transferred the respect and affection of a son. His love for her increased with the years. He was once invited to address a body of clergymen in New York — presumably in his popular and inimitable vein, but his wit was dead in the emotion which engulfed him on receiving a telegram announcing his sister-mother's serious illness. When he was able to recover himself and state his dilemma, the meeting voted a touching resolution of sympathy for the sincere and gifted "snow-bird" humorist — comedian whose political sagacity is supreme and whose satire is as keen as Lord Byron's, without the Byronic sting.

OUT OUR WAY By Williams

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON — Why shouldn't an internal revenue bureau auditor conceive the idea of a $5,500,000 Woodrow Wilson Memorial University? Why, having thought of it, shouldn't he go to work to raise the money and found the university? There doesn't seem to be any reason why not, except that raising $5,500,000 is rather a large order for a not particularly prominent and only moderately paid government employee.

Yet the fact that such an individual—R. Moulton Pettey—is said to have been the original promoter and certainly is now the president of the Woodrow Wilson Memorial Association, appears to be the only basis for a lot of none too friendly publicity the organization is receiving on the eve of its proposed countrywide drive for funds to endow an institution of learning near the capital in the war president's honor.

Nobody says a word, out and out against Pettey. All they do say is that he's just a special auditor for the internal revenue bureau—and here he is trying to raise $5,500,000. Having said that, they appear to think they've made out a strong case. But have they? Ask Pettey if the story is true, and his answer is, "Certainly. What of it? Does a man have to be a notability to entitle him to work for a Woodrow Wilson memorial?" Laugh that off.

Pettey isn't widely known and doesn't profess to be, but some of his association's executive committee members are. They include Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, Major General Hines, Mayor Walker of New York, 16 governors and half as many senators. The drive starts December 7. I can't see anything the matter with the enterprise unless somebody has something better to urge against it than that R. Moulton Pettey is a treasury department auditor.
