OUR MERCIFUL FATHER: I will arise and go to my father and say, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight: I am no more worthy to be called thy son.

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank thee that thou art true to thy Covenant Promise to receive the contrite sinner who pleads the merits of the Redeemer.

PAPERS AND READERS

The leading American editor comments on "the remarkable progress that has been made in the ethical standards of the press," not by any spasmodic effort at reform but by steady development over the last couple of decades.

He is doubtless right. Maybe that is why we hear less criticism of the press today than was customary not long ago. Fewer people roast the newspapers in public addresses or private conversation, or write in to the editors telling how bad their papers are.

Perhaps the people have improved, too. It hardly seems likely that newspaper standards would have arisen much unless readers' standards had risen likewise. Press and public naturally travel along together.

The editor quoted remarks that "no government, or profession is, in the long run, going to be much ahead of the ethical standards of the public it serves."

Nevertheless the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette rises unblushingly to declare - as most editors privately believe - that "on the whole the press today is as good if not better than its readers."

THE MOVIE MECQA

Hollywood, Calif., is grappling again with its major problem, which is not vice, as some outsiders fancy, but an over-supply of film talent. Or perhaps "talent" is the wrong word. Call it film material.

Most of it is material for mobs and nothing more. It plays the mob regularly in real life, as in art. The film producers are able, on an average, to use about 4,000 "extras." There are 40,000 would-be actors there, disillusioned about stardom and eager to take anything that turns up in the way of film work.

The Motion Picture Producers' Association is doing what it can to help matters. It is going to open a free employment bureau to connect available actors with jobs, and will try to steer into other lines of work those not fitted for the movies.

That, however, is mere palliation. The real remedy lies back home in a thousand American communities, where movie-mad persons, men, women, boys and girls, and even children, succumb to the lure of the screen and set out for Hollywood as California's original pioneers set out for the gold fields.

It must be awkward using fresh eggs for currency, as they're doing in Armenia. No way of telling whether they're legal tender without breaking them, and then they're not money any more.

Nothing slow about Italy. Having settled her debt and paid $5,000,000 on it, she promptly borrows $100,000,000 more in this country.

From the looks of it, anyone might suppose it was Col. Mitchell court-martialing the army.

You'd think ancient man was a mineral, the way archeological miners go around digging for him.

Friday, December 4 - Fraternal Brotherhood, Social evening.

Friday, December 4 - Special meeting Rebekahs. Officers, visit of Miss Myrtle James. Members asked to be present.

Musical Program at Civic Club - It is with considerable pleasure that the Civic Club announces its program for Tuesday afternoon.

In accordance with the plan for the club year, different clubs have consented to provide programs at intervals during the year.

Tuesday's program will be presented by the Ashland Music Study Club, in a group of numbers that will challenge the interest and attention of guests privileged to be present.

A resume of the year's work as planned for the Music Study Club will be given by its president, Mrs. John H. Fuller.

Something of Fritz Kreisler, his work and life is the subject of a talk by Mrs. Alleen Willits, Mrs. B. O. Smith, soprano, will appear in solo, "A Song of Thanksgiving," by Frances Allitt.

A piano solo, "Valse Caprice" by Rubenstein will be played by Miss Berna Haight and a violin solo is to be given by Mrs. W. K. Bolger who is a recent acquisition to musical circles in Ashland. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Alice Willits.

"African Music" is the theme of an address to be given by Mrs. Claire Beebe.

The business session precedes the presentation of the program and a social hour, with its cozy cup of tea and friendly chat will follow the entertainment.

The members of the Music Study Club are guests of the afternoon and the Civic Club members may invite guests to enjoy with them, the splendid program.

Thanksgiving Dinner - Mr. and Mrs. George Blaumenhauer of Pioneer Avenue, entertained at a most bountiful Thanksgiving dinner. A delicious turkey, with all the good things that go with it was served at one-thirty o'clock.

Those who enjoyed, with Mr. and Mrs. Blaumenhauer and their daughter, Clara, this delightful dinner were: Mrs. Sarah Moser, Mrs. Holman, James Barrett, Robert Wagner, the Misses Ruth Osburn and Georgie O'Leary.

Official Visit at Rebekahs Lodge - The official visit of Miss Myrtle James will take place December 4, for which time a special meeting of the Rebekahs is called. It had been hoped that Miss James' visit might have been planned for the stated session of the lodge but that could not be arranged.

Attention of all Rebekahs is called to this meeting and it is hoped every member will be present.

The Convocation is to be held at Gold Hill, December 1, and the degree staff, whose work received such high commendation at the Klamath Falls meeting is to put on the work at Gold Hill. Mrs. Norma Reeder is captain of the degree staff, and much credit is due her for her untiring efforts in perfecting the team in its work.

After the mid-day feast

After the mid-day feast, the whole party visited the old home place in Centennial Valley, three miles from Grants Pass. Here changes were found, but many of the old landmarks, affording happy reminiscent hours for the visitors, remained.

Upon their return the hosts had another feast ready and to it, guests brought appetites sharpened by the drive in the beautiful twilight.

Of the four sisters, Mrs. H. S. Morrison was the eldest who with Mr. Morrison and daughter Myrtle were present from Klamath Falls as were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Butler and three children, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Grizzle and daughters Fay, Thelma and Mattie, also of Klamath Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Sillas B. Grizzle and four children, lately come from Idaho to Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Pollock of Grants Pass, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Wheeler of Ashland and the hostess, Mrs. Fry of Grants Pass made up a family party of brothers, sisters, children and grandchildren, whose cup of happiness was full to overflowing this Thanksgiving day.

The whole party remained with Mrs. Fry until the next day. The evening was a festival of song, instrumental music, games, gayety and reminiscent visit long to be remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Homes Entertain - A group of friends were guests at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Homes, Tuesday evening at a pre-Thanksgiving dinner with the royal bird the piece de resistance, graced by plum pudding and all the delicacies that belong to the Thanksgiving feast.

The table glowed in the soft light of yellow candles and clever manipulation had turned pumpkins, Cinderella-wise into Entertainments - Mrs. Merritt was hostess Thanksgiving, with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mow, Miss Albertine and Mrs. McCall as guests. The occasion was a very happy one in the pleasant visit of old friends.

Marriage - Announcement is made of the marriage of Mrs. Dora Hubbard of Ashland and Mr. H. W. Clark of Medford, November 21, 1925, at the Christian Church Parsonage, the Rev. D. J. Howe, officiating minister.

The wedding was a very quiet affair, with no one present except Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jennings, friends from Medford.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark will reside in Ashland, on Granite street, for the present.

Mrs. Clark is very well known in Ashland, having lived here many years. For a number of years she was the efficient manager of the telephone exchange, later bookkeeper at the Iron Works.

Mr. Clark operated the independent Truck Line between Ashland and Medford and is also well known both here and in Medford.

To the happy couple are extended the good wishes of a host of friends for a long, happy and prosperous life.

Thanksgiving Reunion - A reunion that brought together brothers and sisters who had not met in family visit in over twenty years was held in Grants Pass, Thanksgiving day, when two brothers and four sisters and their families to the number of twenty four gathered at the home of Mrs. J. D. Fry as a Thanksgiving house party.

Some came from Klamath Falls, others from the Willamette valley but recently from Idaho, and the M. L. Wheeler family from Ashland where those from Klamath Falls (fourteen in number) spent Wednesday night, going on to Grants Pass in the morning.

When all were gathered, the Thanksgiving feast was spread. Three immense turkeys, flanked by all the delicacies of the season under which the tables groaned, helped to provide the good cheer. Rooms and tables were beautifully decorated for the occasion and guests did full justice to the wonderful dinner served.

Golden bowls filled with yellow and honey blossoms

Golden bowls filled with yellow and honey blossoms. Guests lingered late, loath to leave the cheery gleam of the wide fire place with easy chairs drawn in friendly circle about its opulent hearth.

Another happy occasion for Mr. and Mrs. Homes was the family Thanksgiving with all the festal cheer that belongs. At this, just the members of the immediate family were present to share the Thanksgiving repeat.

Delphinia Chapter Meets - Mrs. J. H. Fuller and Mrs. J. H. McGee were hostesses at the Chapter meeting of the Delphinia Society, Tuesday, November 24, at the Civic Club house.

The opening hour was given over to a number of five-minute addresses. In this symposium, Mrs. H. G. McCarthy had for her theme "Ancient Memphis"; Mrs. G. A. Ericson, "Heliopolis"; Mrs. E. H. Crow, "Abdos"; Mrs. O. A. Paulsen, "Taxis."
