A. A. Madden and Mrs. Daugherty's young son, Raymond, present at the ceremony.

The bride was most becomingly gowned in a soft tone of silk crepe. After congratulations, the wedding party returned to the home of Mrs. Madden, where she was hostess at a delightful wedding dinner, served at six o'clock, with the wedding cake a special feature of the repast.

Mr. and Mrs. Rinabarger left for Portland on the evening train for a fortnight's honeymoon. They will be at home to their friends after December twenty first, at their home on Pine street for the winter.

Mrs. Rinabarger has a large circle of friends in Ashland who extend sincere good wishes for her happiness. She is active in church and lodge circles giving strings of time and effort in many activities, and her friends are glad that the home will be in Ashland.

He is a member of a number of fraternal orders and is active in their behalf. Banquet of Guild.

Another of the pleasant social affairs of Westminster Guild occurred Monday night when the quarterly banquet was served to the membership in the social rooms of the Presbyterian church.

The covered dish supper included every thing that goes to make a veritable feast and over his guests lingered, enjoying the friendly visit and delightful repast.

There was no set program, and the evening closed with a community sing, which all enjoyed. At this meeting the mite bags were brought in, netting a goodly sum.

Announcement was also made of Sunday's meeting (December 13). This is held in the Janitor Room at 6:30 p. m., and all members are urged to be present.

A splendid program has been prepared. Miss Beryl Jarman will lead the devotionals and Miss Eva Foley will review the fifth chapter of "Looking Ahead with Latin America." A paper on an interesting topic will be given by Mrs. George Brookmiller.

It should have been mentioned in connection with the banquet, beside the money contributed, there were twenty five aprons brought in, to be sent in the Christmas box to one of the schools in which the Guild is interested.

Tuesday night's meeting of the Rebekahs was one of unusual interest, with a large attendance of lodge members.

Many visitors from Klamath Falls and Medford attended, there being thirty five from Klamath Falls and seventeen from Medford present. Klamath Falls degree staff put on the work, in an especially finished manner.

Ashland Rebekahs served a delightful dinner to the visitors at seven o'clock, which all enjoyed immensely.

After dinner came the regular meeting with the splendid degree work from the Klamath Falls visitors. A social hour followed, which was spent in really getting acquainted.

A pleasant finale was the serving of light refreshments, which brought to a close one of the very enjoyable meetings of the year.

Some of the visitors returned home that same night, others remained over with friends.
