Greetings to You for Christmas and the New Year
From Pastor and Congregation of The First Baptist Church of Ashland

YOURS AND HIS AND OURS
Myron S. Woodworth

Yours in the fellowship great and eternal;
Yours in the name of Jesus, our Lord;
Yours in the hope supreme and supernal;
Yours in the sacred bond of the Word.

Ours to walk humbly and softly before Him;
Ours to give glorious praise to His name;
Ours to be worshipful, ever adore Him;
Ours to forever His love to proclaim.

His was the Cross and the Garden's deep sorrow;
His was the gloom of the Tomb on the morrow;
His to come forth to tell the sweet story;
His be the Kingdom, the Power and the Glory!

A program of pleasing numbers has been arranged. Refreshments will be served and a happy time is anticipated.

Mrs. H. K. Tomlinson, Mrs. D. Peruzzi and Mrs. P. K. Hammond are in charge of plans for the afternoon.

The membership is urged to plan to be present at this time to enjoy what will be one of the very successful affairs of the season.

Christmas Party—

A group of teachers, to the number of nineteen, enjoyed a very delightful Christmas gathering at the home of Mrs. Guy Good Monday evening. This is the annual Christmas party of Junior High teachers and a number of special teachers.

Mrs. Guy Good was hostess on this occasion at the bountiful dinner which was the prelude in an evening of enjoyment, dinner, visit and a radio concert, with the exchange of gifts filled the time to overflowing.

For the gifts names had been drawn, and a limit placed as to purchase price, and lovely indeed were the gifts, the limitation as to expenditure not having had any effect on the attractiveness of the remembrances.

The invited guests were the Misses Ila Myra, Mildred, Million, Kennedy, Johnson, Alice Robertson, Clara Anderson, Nora Ward, Ethel Reid, Mell Carter, Edna Goheen, Gladys Morton, Alleen Shepherd, Crain, Florence Hurd, Beryl Jarmon, Mrs. Lizzie Merritt, Mrs. Bertha Denton, Mrs. C. E. Howell and Mrs. Guy Good.

Christmas Party for "Who Doo"

The annual Christmas party of the "Who Doo," a class of the Methodist Sunday school, with their invited guests, the husbands, occurred Friday evening, the eighteenth of December.

After the guests assembled, and greetings were exchanged.

THERE IS NO END TO THE JOY AND HAPPINESS WE WISH EVERYBODY THIS CHRISTMAS SEASON.

the entertainment feature was introduced. Games, many and varied, occupied the attention of all for a time and were most enjoyable.

Santa now made his appearance, took his station by the tree and distributed the gifts with which it was laden. These gifts were also a source of merriment, each one present receiving a gift especially appropriate to the age or dignity of the one to whom presented.

A happy feature of the evening was the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Rinabarger, who had just returned from their wedding trip of a beautiful basket of golden chrysanthemums, the blue of the basket making an appropriate setting

May our good wishes happiness bring,

For Christmas is here,
And your cares to the winds may you fling!

The Christmas Photograph Rush

We dearly love to advertise
And try to "put the people wise"
To all that's daily taking place
At Darling's Studio—they "set the pace"

But we've been buried to the eyes
With photographs of every size,
Of every sort and style of face,
That Heaven gave the human race,
(And some that came from where
They wear asbestos hairpins in their hair)

For now a blond and blue-eyed lass
Is posed before the glass,
While Grandmamma, sedate and prim,
With brown-eyed Mary tall and slim,
Await their turn to "have a look"
And sit to have "their picture took."

A laughing baby, fair and plump,
Keeps everybody on the jump
Until at last by happy chance
We dodge the sisters and the aunts

And see a smile too sweet to last
And catch the sunshine tight and fast,
A country boy; a social star;
A leading member of the bar;
A blacksmith from the shops, you know;

A ballet dancer from the show—
"Doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief,
Rich man, poor man, beggar man,
thief"

In quick succession come and go,
Like "movie" actors in a show,
Until our nerves are smashed to slush,
All on account of the Christmas Rush.

And this sign't half, what you folks see,

We sit up nights till half past three,
Develop and wash (retouch and spot,
Print and mount, and the Devil knows what—
We mix new baths and dump the old,
And try to forget our feet are cold,
Try to remember the films we've sold,

Try to forget the fibs we've told,
Try to forget were getting old,
But of all the "gets" this gets us worst—
They all want THEIR picture FIRST!

Well we got to bed when the rooster crows
And jump and scoot when the whistle blows,
We grab our breakfast on the run,
We eat our batter cakes half done,
We don't get lunch till after one,
And then but little, and maybe none,

And smile, all the while like we thought it was fun,
We don't get time to shave or wash
Nor hardly to change our socks,
by Gosh;
But here's the FUN: We get 'em DONE!

Every bea-u-ti-ful, bloomin' one,
We got our money, and bought some meat,
And now we're too blamed tired to eat,
If we had any brains they're done to mush,
All on account of the Christmas Rush.

However we are still able to wish you a Merry Christmas.

"Merry Christmas!"

The greeting of world kinship, the message of the fellowship of man! Christmas! Its benevolent spirit of peace and good-will, of cheer and happiness that finds its greatest joy in service to others—what a benediction it breathes on this old world of ours!

So rich in memories, so all-inclusive in its wish, truly no other greeting could so eloquently bring you a message with real heart interest than these two words—"Merry Christmas!"

A month ago we protested that we were Thankful;

Today we are merry and say so;

Next week we will be hopeful of happiness as we draw the bolts on 1926 and look ahead.

The very spirit of Christmas makes this all possible for every day;

Gratitude for yesterday,

Joy for today

Assurance for tomorrow.

And may it all be yours.

Sincerely
