

FRANCE GETS SECOND PLACE IN NET WORLD

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Jan. 7. — (U. P.)—Advancement of France to the position of the second ranking tennis nation was the bright feature of the 1925 season. The continued domination of the United States in individual play and team competition was not a feature because it has become a custom.

The United States again won the challenge round for the Davis Cup against spirited competition from the two young French stars, Rene Lacoste and Jean Borotra, and the Americans probably will continue to win as long as Bill Tilden and Bill Johnston are on their game and willing to play.

The French team got into the challenge round by defeating the strong Australian team, for several years the second ranking Davis Cup team. The Australians were so disappointed that they announced they might not be back for several years. They were also peeved because the tennis association would not accept an invitation to send a team of American players to Australia.

Big Bill Tilden lived up to his reputation as the world's greatest player by winning the national championship again. The tournament could have been recognized as being for the world's championship as practically every ranking player in the world was entered.

The tennis association, however, had consistently refused to consider any tournament as being for the world's championship, but Tilden is universally accepted as the world's champion.

In the men's class, the comeback of Billy Johnston, the popular little Californian, was one of the most pleasing features of the year.

Johnston had a bad season in 1924. He lost his place as a single player on the Davis Cup team to young Vinnie Richards and his friends grieved to think that he was through.

The little Californian set out early in the season with the announced purpose of getting his place back on the Davis Cup team and he did. He said he considered the honor of a place on the defending team as being greater than a national championship.

He played himself out in the cup matches and was not in condition for the week of hard tennis in the nationals, but, at that, he played some of the greatest tennis of his career during the tournament and it was only the wizard tennis of Tilden that beat him.

Likes No. 13

Herman Boozman, captain-elect of the 1926 University of Arkansas eleven, is not superstitious of the number "13." Fact is, he calls it his lucky number, for he's played football all his school life and has never been forced out of the game through injuries. He's going to cling to it throughout his varsity career, too, he says. Boozman's a junior, did the unique in grid circles last fall by playing every line position from center to end, and is president of his class.

Preparing for the future when Tilden and Johnston will have to be replaced, the tennis association sent John Hennessy and Ray Casey, two youngsters, to the British championships at Wimbledon, and they made a very good showing.

The French influence at Wimbledon was pronounced as the two finalists again were the French youngsters, Lacoste and Borotra, and Lacoste displayed his teammate as the champion.

Borotra, one of the few ranking tennis stars, who seems to be forced to hard work outside the court, was not in the best form as he had had very little time to train or practice. He dashed over to this country during the winter and won the indoor championship and several times during the Wimbledon tournament he had to make a trip by air to Paris.

In the women's class, the big surprise of the season came when Helen Wills, the national champion, was defeated in an early tournament by Elizabeth Ryan, the former California girl who returned to this country after having spent ten years in England.

The match was played on a court so sloppy that Miss Ryan took off her shoes and the young American champion couldn't handle the soft, cork strokes of her opponent.

Miss Wills swept through the national championship in im-

This is "HUNCH"
—one of the most famous characters in advertising history. Recognized all over the world as the Prince Albert man. You can find his prototype in any town. He's up on politics, baseball and horses, and has the real low-down on pipe tobacco. Name's "HUNCH."

Play this hunch and you can't lose

GET out that little old jimmy-pipe. Fill the bowl to the brim with Prince Albert and light up! Will you like it? Man, man! Does a kid like ice cream? Can a bullfrog dive? You bet you will like it, like you never liked anything before.

Because, what a man's smoke-appetite hankers for, Prince Albert's got nothing else except! — Yes, sir, you can bet your life on that. You'll fire-up right after breakfast and stay with it till the little blue stars wig-wag "Good night."

Neves was a pipe tobacco like good old P. A. Cool and sweet and soothing, the smoke zooms up the stem, bowling over pet peeves and filling your system with a new kind of joy. And how kind it is to your tongue and throat. That's because the Prince Albert process cuts out bite and parch ab-so-lute-ly!

So, slip into top-speed and head for the nearest store where they hand out jimmy-pipe joy in tidy red tins. If you haven't got a jimmy-pipe, get one now. Then borrow a match and you're all set for a smoke experience!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, round and half-round tin holders, and round crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.
