Parent-Teacher Notes

The High School Circle will meet Monday at the Library. Several new members will be present whose interest we appreciate very much. Plans were made for a food sale to be held this month to help raise money to finish our payments on the blankets which were purchased in the fall. Mrs. Coombe, Mrs. Detrick and Mrs. Brommer were appointed on the committee to have charge of the sale.

Education in the past few years has made the discovery of the child. Emphasis is slowly shifting from the method and the tool to the unfolding possibilities of human minds, human bodies and human emotions. To follow wisely in the trend of this new discovery has called for great understanding on the part of the teachers.

We see, also, besides this change of vision, the horizons of primary and secondary education steadily expanding, so that the whole gamut of interests of the child is gradually being included in the school activities, and no part of the child's life is left untouched by the school's broadening program. His physical habits, his personality, his amusements, his social contacts, his vacation activities, all of these the broader gauged education is steadily taking account of and linking up with his scholastic achievements. Schools begin to reckon upon the life of the child as a whole and to meet it at every vital point.

In a successful school in Ohio, there has been worked out a course of general science with the aim of acquainting the students with life processes and giving an understanding of the fundamental reasons for health and habits as a preparation for life and parenthood. The course is considered such an inseparable part of the school that it begins in the kindergarten and continues through the primary classes and is the foundation for the more extended courses in the freshman and sophomore high school years.

Nothing more vividly emphasizes the newer note in education than the effort to sift and sort children according to their mental stature and aptitudes, to seek out causes back of inattention and failure, to detect behavior quirks and trace them back to their mental and emotional as well as physical causes. It is a part of that saner tendency to see the child as a whole and to educate him as such.

These vegetables are peas, beans, cabbage, turnips, kale and cauliflower. Perhaps the best form in which to supply the sulfur to these vegetables is either as superphosphate or gypsum. For these vegetables I would use one-half sulphate of ammonia and one-half superphosphate or land plaster. These materials should not be mixed but should be applied separately.

"Of course we have found superphosphate, land plaster and sulfur highly beneficial to alfalfa, clover and vetch in the Ashland district."

SISKIYOU ARE IN FINE SHAPE SAY VISITORS

One of the party vouched for the fact that the pussy willows were not in bloom in the valley and probably would not be for many weeks. This was the first victory for those who were advocating that it was not necessarily dangerous to make an automobile trip over the Siskiyou, for "if pussy willows are blooming, surely the weather could not have been very severe."

The sun was shining brightly and the members of the party soon took off their overcoats, a compliment to the sprink-like weather which prevailed along the highway yesterday afternoon.

From 1:30 to 2:30 P. M., as the party made its way toward the top, 24 automobiles passed, either coming down or going up. This was considered a splendid average for this season of the year—and none of them were using chains on their tires.

It was only a short distance from the top before a real, sizable patch of snow along the highway was seen. At this spot there had been a thin coating of ice or snow on the road, but the state highway crew had sprinkled the road with sand or crushed gravel with the result that it was not dangerous, except to the foolish, speeding driver, who would undoubtedly encounter many places in the valley where the danger would be as apt to throw him into the ditch. The turn in the highway just north of Jackson Hot Springs was voted to be more dangerous by the members of the party than any spot on the Siskiyou highway was yesterday.

After basking in the spring-like weather at the summit, which is more than 4200 feet altitude and, commenting on the soft, rich texture of the dirt in the garden at the summit which had just been plowed, the party returned to Siskiyou station, where a check of the weather was made.

U. S. Ragland, who is the official weather observer at Siskiyou station stated they had not been bothered by the fog at all. A few times the fog had drifted over the mountains from California, but it had always remained high in the air, he stated. At this point they had had only 3 inches of snow, whereas he said the average at this period is four or five feet, and never, since 1916, had the precipitation been so little as it has so far this winter.

Recently tourists coming to Ashland had been told before their arrival here that the Siskiyou highway was very dangerous, which reports local people estimate do not want to mislead people into believing the Siskiyou highway is not sometimes coated at places with snow and ice, but these places are usually safeguarded by the highway crew. It is thought that with due caution a driver can at any period make the Siskiyou summit drive without any real danger. Certainly, the party yesterday did not encounter any indications that the highway had been treacherous and covered with ice at any period this winter.

Mrs. Alice Turner, Mrs. F. H. Walker and Mrs. Wm. Stennett each gave interesting readings, which were enjoyed very much and which received hearty applause.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in conversation with fancy work engaging skilled fingers.

The regular business meeting of the Corps will occur on Saturday, January 18. These meetings are held the first and third Saturdays in each month, with the social meetings, the second and fourth Mondays.

At each meeting hostesses are appointed who provide program and entertainment, and assistant hostesses who plan the refreshments.

The hostesses for this pleasant affair were: Mrs. Opal Philpott, Mrs. Alma Stennett, Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Julia Colon. The assistant hostesses, were Mrs. Alice Turner, Mrs. Trask, Mrs. White, Mrs. Josephine Wallace, Mrs. F. H. Walker, Mrs. Wolcott, Mrs. Wilkins, Mrs. Weren and Mrs. Stanton.

The luncheon was served at pretty tables and was a pleasant close for the happy afternoon.

W. C. T. U. Institute January 16—

The Jackson County W. C. T. U. Institute will hold its sessions in Medford at the Presbyterian church. There are all day and evenings.

The program presents a fine array of talent and those attending will be well repaid for time and effort spent.

Mrs. L. Hannon, state organizer of the W. C. T. U. will speak, as will Mrs. Unruh, financial secretary for the W. C. T. U. Farm Home at Corvallis. The Rev. Mr. Temple of the M. E. Church, Medford, Superintendent G. A. Ericson, Ashland, Superintendent E. H. Hedrick, Medford, appear on the program during the day, and Judge Evans of Portland will give the address evening meetings.

It is hoped that every member, and all interested will take advantage of this opportunity to hear this splendid program. Saturday.

Ashland Study Club Meets—
The Ashland Study Club met at the home of Mrs. Gordon MacCracken with the majority of the members present. The roll call response was "Recent Educational Developments in the South."

The half hour topic was presented by Mrs. Louis Dodge who discussed the present immigration laws. Mrs. Fred Engle reviewed Selma Lagerlof's latest book, which proved of especial interest.

Mrs. C. E. Pell will be hostess at next Monday's meeting.

Mrs. J. M. Wagner and Mrs. J. W. McCoy will have places on the program.

GET UP AND GET BUSY
IT'S WASHDAY

IF HUBBY HAD TO DO THE WASHING—THE CHANCES
are that if hubby was invited to do the family washing or to stick around while it was being done he would say, "Let George do it." Our advice is to let one of our electric washing machines take the soil out of the garments and the toll out of your wife's life. Let us demonstrate their worthiness and guaranteedness.
