Here's Chance to Win $5000

Step this way all you wrestling wizards! That is, if you're interested in winning $5000 smackero. For money belongs to you—providing you can throw Mr. Joe Malowicz, mighty matman of Utica, N. Y. Malowicz has this man posted with prominent Boston promoters. It has been posted for several months, and though the big Polo has taken on some tough grapplers of late, he still has the $5000. There are no strings to Malowicz's offer, either. He bars no one, not even the stellar Stecher or the lion-like Lewis. Malowicz is the exponent of the terrible reverse flying mare, a hold developed as a break and counter for the headlock. It consists of allowing an opponent to secure a headlock. Malowicz then grasping the rival about the waist, hoisting him over backward to the mat.

Marathon King

R. J. Newman, of Dallas claims the championship in two marathon events—dancing and automobile driving. Recently he drove continuously, chained to a car, for 128 hours and 18 minutes. He also fitted around a ballroom floor for 217 hours and 50 minutes. In March he's going to drive across the continent.

Interment will be in the Mountain View cemetery. Mrs. George Hoak and Mrs. Goldie Gates of Klamath Falls, nieces of Mr. Butcher, are in Ashland to attend the funeral.

That "pay-day smile" when you smoke P. A.

WHEN a fellow's happy as a spring robin, he's just got to show it. Face lighted up like a sample house. Look at those jimmy-pipers all around you. You can't tell whether they've just got a raise, or whether they've been mentioned in a rich uncle's will.

No other tobacco is like Prince Albert. Cool and sweet and fragrant. Not a nip or a scorch in a barrel of it. The Prince Albert process cuts out bite and parch, and develops a tobacco flavor that has solace and satisfaction written all over it.

But here's the secret: They've discovered Prince Albert! Just you tuck a neat wad of P. A. into the muzzle of that little old jimmy-pipe and make fire with a match. Man, alive. Here's tobacco as IS tobacco. Mellow. Mild. A win in every draw.

Quality tobacco and no mistake. You'll say so the instant P. A.'s wonderful smoke percolates into your system. Get together now—you and your jimmy-pipe and Prince Albert. Step around the corner and tell the man you want a tidy red tin of P. A. Then you're set for real smoke-sport.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin tins, and pound crystal-glass tins, with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

WHOLE FAMILY OF 8 LIVING IN ONE FORD

By JULIAN SNYDER (United Press Staff Correspondent)

CLEARWATER, Fla., Jan. 28.—(U.P.)—A flivver is the family bedroom for Mr. and Mrs. William Courtney and their six children, ranging in age from nine years to nine months.

The Courtney's, typical of the some 10,000 so-called tin-can tourists in Florida, are "camping out" near here, and their automobile is their home.

Courtney is an itinerate salesman for a mail order clothing company. He sleeps on a cot beside his flivver "bed-room." In the rear seat of the car, Mrs. Courtney, with most of their "brood," makes her "nest." Marian, nine, the oldest child, has a "bedroom" of her own in the front seat.

Meals are cooked over a camp fire and during the day when Courtney is away taking orders or doing other odd jobs, the children, Katherine, Louise Rachel, Robert, William, Jr., and Marian play in the big pasture where the camp is located. Rent for the camp site costs Courtney $1 a week; wood is free and there are no winter clothes to buy for the children. When it rains, well, like all campers, they expect a wetting occasionally.

The Courtneys lived in New Jersey. Business was fair, but the urge to come to Florida was great. Ten dollars was all the family treasury contained but there was the flivver and so the family started out.

When the modest store of funds ran low during the journey, the family stopped at a convenient tourist camp while Courtney took orders for his company or did odd jobs to provide food and gasoline. Thus in short stages, the trip was negotiated.

Arriving here, the Courtneys selected a camping site and went into "winter quarters."

It is estimated that there are thousands of families in Florida today that have migrated under much the same circumstances. Tourist camps dot the state. They are located near every town in Florida.

Sometimes the tourists are provided with tents. Thus little tourist cities spring up. Of course, there are no "city" laws and custom alone rules the communities.

Many, like the Courtney's sleep in the automobiles which are parked in a circle reminiscent of the days of '49 when the covered wagons carried the pioneers into the west.

BELLVIEW CLUB WILL GIVE CHICKEN DINNER

In yesterday's issue of The Tidings, it was erroneously stated that a chicken dinner would be served by the members of the Upper Valley Community club, at the Ashland Ladies Civic Club house this evening. The dinner will be served tomorrow evening in the clubhouse.

Following the dinner, which will be served from 6 to 8 p. m., a jitzney dance will be held, continuing until twelve.

The dinner and dance are to be given in an effort to increase the building fund of the club.

BUENOS AIRES SWEATS IN SUMMER HEAT WAVE

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 28.—(U.P.)—Summer has settled down in earnest to the business of making things hot for Buenos Aires.

A damp clinging heat descended upon the city, filled the streets, and even threatened to penetrate into the deepest corners of the "Corvesarias," where a parched and sweltering citizenry sought solace in foaming steins.

Thanks to the kindly nature, and plenty of beer, Buenos Aires will survive the present heat. The humidity is usually broken after three or four days by violent thunder storms, and the beer never runs out.
