JOHN E. RAKER'S WIDOW MAY SUCCEED HIM TO HOUSE SEAT

YREKA, Jan. 30.—With the death of Congressman John E. Raker, aged 63, representative for Siskiyou in congress, at Washington, D. C., January 22, after a long illness, a figure unique in California politics passed and the question of who will be his successor will start the political pot boiling in northern California even earlier in the season than was expected.

Congressman Raker was a judge in Modoc county when he was elected to congress and he took office March 4, 1911, which he held continuously until his death. While his constituency was overwhelming Republican political faith, he was always returned to Washington by comfortable majorities, generally with the endorsement of both Republican and Democratic parties back of him.

When Congressman Raker came to Yreka last June and, after dining with leading business and professional men of Yreka, gave the principal address at the graduation exercises at the Yreka High School. It was one of his last public appearances. Shortly after he returned to his home in Alturas, he was stricken, but, in spite of his physical handicap, he returned to his work at Washington, D. C., where he underwent an operation last fall from which he never rallied. Two weeks ago, Speaker Nicholas Longworth went

Flip of Coin Decides Suicide Route

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 30.—Leslie W. Nilsson, 27, engineer, first class, attached to the destroyer Moody, committed suicide in a hotel room here yesterday by drinking poison. A note which he left to his mother, Mrs. E. L. Nilsson, #232 Pacific street, Omaha, Nebraska, indicated that despondency prompted the act.

Another note which he left showed that he tossed a coin to determine the method of suicide with heads for hanging himself and tails for poison. The flipped coin laid on the note tails up.

ASHLAND TOPS FIVE MERRILL IN FAST GAME

Handicapped by an unfamiliar floor, one altogether too small for their style of play, and tired after a terrific game played Thursday night here against the Eugene high five, the Ashland high hoopers last night failed to equal the score made here against the Merrill fours, when they tangled last night with the Klamath county boys on their home court. The score was 40-6, with Ashland on the long end.

Coach Hughes used every man he took on the trip, in an effort to conserve his charges' strength before their tussle with the Klamath high five, to be played in Klamath Falls this evening.

Although the Merrill outfit showed good team play, their big weakness was their inability to hit the basket. Time after time they would battle under the

80,275 Persons Entered Crater Park Last Year

A total of 80,275 people is a conservative estimate Crater National forest officers make on the number of visitors who were in or passed through the forest during 1925, about the same as the year before.

Only 18,125 of this number stayed in the forest, the remaining 62,150 being transients passing through. Union Creek led the national forest resorts with 6,435 campers for the year. Rocky Point, Klamath county, was second with 4,600 and the Lake of the woods next with 2,645. Diamond Lake of course, was highest in the number of campers with 20,000, but is in the Umpqua National forest.

MANY ATTEND DINNER GIVEN HERE BY CLUB

Bellview Organization Nets $150 From Dinner

About 200 persons took advantage of the splendid chicken dinner and dance, given last night by the Bellview community club, for the benefit of the building fund of the club. Almost $150 was realized for the fund by the evening's entertainment.

The chicken dinner was served from 6 to 8 p. m., and was followed immediately after by dancing, which continued until midnight.

Many Ashland firms contributed to assist in swelling the fund. H. G. Enders of the Enders' Wholesale Grocery, contributed the coffee while the Crown Flour company furnished the flour. Other supplies were contributed by the people of the Bellview district. The Civic Club donated the use of their club house.

Fifty dollars was contributed to the building fund by the First National Bank.

It was announced this morning that almost $400 had been raised through the series of entertainments which have been given by the club during the past three months.

It has been decided to postpone the building operations until this fall, when the men of the Bellview district, who will contribute the labor, will not be as busy as they are at present.

The next entertainment to be given will be an old fashioned dance, to be given in the Armory on February 19.

TELLS OF MAN DESERTED AS DEATH COMES

Outlines "What is Not Kiwanis Ideal" at Meet Yesterday

Deserted by his former associates, with only a few hours to live, after five weeks of confinement in a hospital tent where no human being had visited with a word of cheer, and with the coroner already notified, the coffin ready for delivery and the grave already dug, this is the picture that Pat Patience, representative of the Western Auto Supply company who was the main speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon yesterday at noon, outlined as what was not real 100 per cent Americanism.

Patience found these conditions when he visited the dying man and, even though the man's former associates would not come forward at the "end of the man's game of life," he personally saw that the unfortunate "fanned out man" was saved from a burial in the Potter's field.

This illustration was used to show what Kiwanism should not be. His subject was "Playing the Game or the Value of Friendship," and he said that the same of life would not bring the maximum enjoyment until it entailed a sacrifice, such as the time and effort he made in bringing a little cheer to the dying man, as illustrated above.

He said that Kiwanians, whose main principle is "We Build," should build encouragement, hope and character into the game of life. That everybody should always be ready with a smile, a word of cheer, a handshake that showed by the grip that it was "hitched to the heart."

Comparing life with the game of baseball, he said there were men in every town who had been "benched," had lost out, and that to these mates a word of encouragement should be extended.

Carl Loveland, who has been visiting in Seattle, but who is here for a few days, added greater cheer to the meeting by leading in the club songs and also with two solos, with William Briggs at the piano.

State Superintendent Churchill, who was introduced by J. H. Fuller as a "guest for the last time," said he was looking forward to living in Ashland. He announced that the normal would open June 21, with a new faculty, new equipment and new buildings. A splendid course of studies, which will be in variance with the courses in most normal schools in that they will be not only for the purpose of training teachers, but will be cultural as well, has been prepared, he stated.

FIVE FREED IN RUSH AS GUARD HELD IN CELL

Desperate Prisoners Flee Roseburg Jail When Keeper is Attacked

STEAL AN AUTOMOBILE

Sick Man Asks for Heat; Coal Passed in; Jailer Locked Up as They Flee

ROSEBURG, Ore., Jan. 30.—(U. P.)—Five desperate prisoners are at liberty today, having broken from the Douglas county jail early this morning after locking the jailer in a cell.

The fugitives are believed to be armed. They are George Holtsclaw, an alleged moonshiner; George Sacks, Frank Moore and William Schaffer, alleged robbers, and Charles Shulke, who is being held for the federal government.

During the night one of the 17 prisoners in the county jail became ill and other prisoners asked for coal with which to heat water for the sick man. As the guard opened the cell door and set a bucket of coal inside, he was seized, disarmed and crammed into a cell which was then locked.

Other prisoners found the keys which the fugitives dropped outside and later released the guard. Some of the prisoners are believed to have escaped in an automobile, which was stolen and later abandoned near Myrtle Creek, south of here.

FACULTY IS CHOSEN

Outstanding Teachers on Faculty of Southern Oregon Normal

Summer school sessions at the new Southern Oregon Normal school here will be started on June 21, and will continue for 12 weeks, according to J. A. Churchill, president of the school, who is here today.

A full faculty, of perhaps 22 members, will be in charge of the summer session. This is the number of faculty members who will have charge of the work during the regular school sessions, he declared. The only difference in the faculty between the regular and summer school sessions will be that during the regular sessions, eight practice teachers will be employed, while during summer school, but four will be used.

Churchill declined to make public the names of his faculty, although he admitted that he had already contracted for several members. "We are working on a small budget, at first, and it will be difficult to secure those who we feel are competent, and it will be some time before we secure a full faculty," Churchill said today.

During the summer school, courses leading to a one year certificate and to a two year, life certificate, will be given, Churchill indicated. In addition, history, science, sociology and mathematics will be taught. The teaching corps will be about double that employed during the summer session last year.

Members of the building committee, of the board of regents will be here today to confer with J. H. Fuller, another member of the committee and Churchill, relative to some minor changes to be made in the building. Discussion of the plans for the grounds will also be held, Churchill declared.

NO SUBSIDY, DRAKE SAYS AIR SERVICE TO GROW FAST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—"An era of air transportation in this country paralleling the growth of the automotive industry and the radio art awaits primarily Federal support in the matter of airway facilities—their administration, and the elimination of needless restrictions," J. Walter Drake, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, stated today in making public the complete final report on civil aviation of the Joint Committee of the Department of Commerce and the American Engineering Council.

Pointing out that the development of rail and highway transport facilities during the past decade has profoundly changed the economic life of all civilized countries, to their distinct advantage, Mr. Drake, who is Chairman of the Committee, declared that the advent of aircraft, one of the outstanding mechanical heritages of the war, introduces a new and significant factor in the commercial and business relations of mankind.
