HANGING OF NEGRO DRAWS BIG CROWD

Harry Butler Pays Death Penalty For Attacking Young Girl

GEORGETOWN, Del., March 1.—(U.P.)—Harry Butler, negro, convicted on February 3 of a criminal attack on Elmer Stegmetz, 12-year-old white girl of Bridgeville, was hanged in the yard of the jail here.

The hanging attracted a huge crowd, many of whom had been in a throng which threatened violence to the prisoner at his trial in the Georgetown courtroom on February 3. At that time troops were called out and tear gas bombs were used to drive the mob back.

Surprise on Lawrence Leedom—A surprise that was a surprise was very cleverly planned Saturday night when a group of young Leedom's friends arranged to surprise him after the game, the occasion being his birthday.

Accordingly all repaired to the home of Mrs. Emma Oeder on Granite street with the exception of the victim of the surprise and a friend who timed their coming, after the others were there.

Upon their arrival, the house was all dark and it seemed as if every one was lost in slumber. When they finally aroused the household and were

Lewis had given him a forged check and this charge appears against him on the jail record.

Bounty Examined—During the course of the man's confinement he was taken before the county court and examined for his sanity by Drs. G. S. Newson and H. D. L. Stewart, but they found no evidence of insanity, and the county court remanded him to the custody of the sheriff.

Someone believed that he had been bound over to the grand jury on the check charge for a pencilled entry to this effect appears opposite his name on the jail register. The grand jury has met twice, but Lewis was forgotten, apparently.

The complaint sets forth that Booth was responsible for having filed the complaint before Kendall. District Attorney Elliott is named for having asked for the warrant and failing to bring the action to trial. Kendall is cited for having failed to hold the hearing. Sheriff Hawkins is held liable for having held Lewis unlawfully without a commitment.

DEAD AREAS SHIFTED BY STATION CHANGES

CHICAGO, March 1.—(U.P.)—Fading and weakened radio signals are not altogether the result of atmospheric conditions, according to Revere O. Strook, chief engineer of a radio station here.

Strook said that both of these conditions can be attributed largely to the broadcasting station itself. This conclusion, Strook said, was reached after he had gathered 11,038 reports from persons all over the country.

"By correlating the changes we made in the transmitter design with the reception reports," Strook said, "we found that we could shift 'dead areas' by changing the circuit constants in the transmitter. We also found that atmospheric conditions had only a minor effect on the 'fading' of our signals. We found we could change this situation also by making changes in the transmitter."

Remember how they used to hitch Old Dobbin to a windlass and drive him 'round and 'round—lifting hay and doing heavy chores?

Even then, you couldn't hire Dobbin for less than $2.50 a day—say 25 cents an hour.

Yet an hour's work for an electric motor using one horsepower of electricity usually costs only 7 or 8 cents.

Most household appliances use tiny motors of only 1/10 or 1/8 of a horsepower. You can run them ten hours for seven or eight cents.

And they are faster than Old Dobbin ever dreamed of being, when he was a colt.
