Portland Girl

Would Join Navy

PORTLAND, Ore., March 3—(U.P.)—"Miss, the navy needs sailors but cannot place sailor-ettes at present, although we all have hopes that some day it may enlist members of the fairer sex."

This was the reply over the telephone by Lieutenant Commander P. W. Northcroft, in charge of the local recruiting station, in answering questions of a girl who wanted to enlist.

"Then how in the world will I get to China?" the disappointed miss wanted to know.

"Shall I try the Marine Corps?"

"After admitting 17 years of age, refusing to tell why she wanted to go to China, and promising she would try the marines, the girl hung up with the parting shot:

"Well, it's funny the navy needed yeomanettes during the war and doesn't want 'em now."

Court Game Lures Stars

Dazy Vance, premier hurler of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Bernie Neis, former teammate, but now with the Boston Braves, are here pictured ready for the opening whistle in a basketball game at Clearwater, Fla. Both have been playing on a professional court team in the south. They think it a great conditioner for baseball work.

At Last

"Spider" Mordock is a Los Angeles daredevil, who does little things like hopping from moving trains to autos or airplanes. He never got hurt, and he wears a black cat and a figure "13" on his sweater. But he got it at last. He went to visit a sick friend, slipped on the hospital steps and broke his ankle.
