STUDY OF CANCER GERMS MADE BY USING RED DYE

By LUDWIG POPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, March 17—(U.P.)—General interest has been aroused by Dr. Joseph Schumacher's recent announcement of his discovery of the cancer virus of Berlin. This interest, however, is tempered by considerable scepticism in medical circles. Some prominent specialists even refuse point-blank to lend credence to Dr. Schumacher's claims. Dr. Schumacher himself, interviewed by the United Press, explained that his discoveries can be traced to recent experiments on the destruction of germs by ferments produced within the human body. Contrary to the British scientists, who recently claimed to have ascertained the existence of the cancer virus among germs so minute as to slip between two rays of daylight and therefore invisible to the ordinary microscope, Dr. Schumacher conceived the idea of searching among bacilli which are larger but invisible on account of their chemical inability to absorb coloring matter.

After applying unsuccessfully all the usual dyeing methods, Dr. Schumacher says that he discovered a process, by which he was able to dye the suspected parasites a beautiful red, whereas the surrounding tissues appeared deep blue. "In this way," he said, "I obtained a clear picture and was able to ascertain that the germs were of different sizes and were formed like the letter S with knobs on both ends. They were covered with a membrane and must be classified among the vegetable parasites; their size was rather large, so that they could be discerned under slight enlargement. Now Dr. Schumacher claimed to have found these germs in immense numbers in all the cancerous growths he investigated. He described them as accumulating in heaps, especially at the edges of the growths, between the cancerous and the healthy tissues. This, of course, led Schumacher to the conclusion that he had found the long-sought cancer germ, and he built his theory on the most efficient treatment upon these facts.

Dr. Schumacher also favors the theory that to contract cancer, a human being must possess a predisposition for it, which, in his opinion, consists in the insufficient functioning of the lymphatic organs. He contends that the treatment should therefore principally be applied to these lymphatic organs, causing them to produce more ferments, without, however, neglecting the surgical method. In Schumacher's opinion, this could be best effected by a suitable liquid-albumin therapy; the malarial treatment should also be tested, and he thinks that good results might possibly be obtained by the application of chemotherapy.

USE SULPHUR TO HEAL YOUR SKIN
Broken Out Skin and Itching Eczema Helped Over Night
For unsightly skin eruptions, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from torture or embarrassment, declares a noted skin specialist. Apply a little Mentho-Sulphur and improvement shows next day. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up. Get a small jar of Rowley's Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

EYES THAT SEE NOT

So blind are we, give us to see
Reality of dreams—
The birds a-wing, the smile of spring,
The charm of running streams;
The grass so sweet beneath our feet,
The treasures of the day,
The mists that rest on mountain crest,
The wonders of the blue!

O, miracle, that could dispel
Eclipse of mortal sight
By touch of hand and kind command,
True witness of the light,
Show us how good the field and wood
That quickened vision sees
And, best surprise to opened eyes,
The marvel of the trees!

THIS TRAFFIC COP KNOWS HIS STUFF

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., March 17—(U.P.)—A traffic cop who has a heart has been found.

R. E. Knowles, traffic officer, apprehended J. C. Parker on the highway. He had painted a set of last year's license plates over to look like plates for 1926. Parker was none too good a painter and Knowles discovered the fraud. The patrolman arrested Parker and then found that all he had was a wife, two children, an old car and 80 cents. He didn't have the heart to send him to jail but found him work and agreed to call for him each day, taking him to and from work, until money enough had been saved for new license plates.
