

NO ESCORT LEAGUE NOW BEING FORMED

San Francisco, Cal., March 28—(U.P.)—A "no escort league" that's what these individualistic co-eds want.

On the rolls beneath the names of Carrie Chapman Catt and Emmeline Pankhurst will be inscribed the names of Geraldine Casad, Katherine Wilson, Elizabeth Wright and Helen Phillips.

They are University of California students, who have solved the "man problem" by declaring independence to it. They are leaders of the Gamma Epsilon Pi and Phi Chi Theta societies, whose membership embraces some of the university's most prominent and popular co-eds.

Rebellious at the very idea of sitting around waiting for patronizing men to invite them to dances and parties, they have inaugurated a "no escort league." The girls have taken solemn pledges that they will attend college functions unescorted by any masculine guidance.

After the female minds of the campus have been educated to the idea so that it will be more or less generally accepted as a matter of course, these original thinkers will make the revolutionary proposal that the ladies alone do the bidding, "inviting" such men as they please to escort them.

That is—they will if their first declaration of independence "takes."

Soldier Goes To Sleep Frequently

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 30—(U.P.)—With a passport slumberland, a soldier poet is dreaming his way about San Francisco Bay cities.

He is Sergeant Edward R. Kahler, of Palo Alto Base Hospital. Policemen found him asleep three times in one day in San Francisco, and almost arrested him for intoxication, but they released him when given his "passport."

The paper is a letter explaining that Kahler is a sufferer from encephalitis lethargica, or sleeping sickness, and falls into slumber at inopportune moments. The sergeant picked a lobby in a building at Third and Market streets, the Civic Center, and a boat in Stowe Lake for naps.

He claimed to be a poet as well as champion sleeper.

AMERICAN GYPSIES WILL ELECT KING

By POSTER BAYON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

DETROIT, Mich.—(U.P.)—In accordance with their own quaint customs, Gypsy delegates from all over the United States are scheduled to meet in national convention here May 1 to elect a new "king" of Romany Land.

For the venerable King Steve John, who had guided wisely the destinies of a "nation" for nearly a quarter of a century, passed to his reward on February 26, following a stroke of apoplexy at the "palace" here. Since then, though his estimated 50,000 subjects have been in official mourning, an empty "throne" has beckoned candidates from other cities and from Detroit, and a mythical "crown" has hung unclaimed on the bars of the "palace" wall.

The exact method of choosing a successor to the late King John is an undisclosed Romany secret. Election by ballot, it is understood, is not the way to

Democrats Claim Credit For Taxes

WASHINGTON, March 30—(U.P.)—Credit for tax reductions amounting to $88,000,000 more than approved by Secretary Mellon, was claimed by Democrats in Congress through the national party committee man, Clegg Shaver, in a statement today.

Tillamook county will do important construction work on south side of Washburn Mountain, Roosevelt Highway.

John himself was said to have been a seventh son of a seventh son.

But it so happens that Steve Miller, husband of one of the late king's daughters, also aspires to the throne, and reports from other cities, reaching here since King John died, indicate there will be many other aspirants.

The building, 24 1/2 feet wide, was destroyed by the explosion of the dynamite. It was located on the corner of 10th and Washington streets, Detroit. The structure is a single frame house of two rooms, almost wholly devoid of interior furnishings.

Although King John left an estate estimated at more than $100,000, he maintained his home at 10th and Washington streets, Detroit.
